IN the Easter term of 1877 I lectured on these two books of Beda, which were among the select subjects for the Cambridge theological tripos of 1878.

Having brought together many new illustrations of the author's language and matter, I proposed to Mr Lumby to join me in an edition of the two books, which the syndics of the Pitt Press undertook to publish.

Mr Lumby procured from St Gallen a collation of the letter of Cuthbert (testimonia n 1) and is responsible for the collations of the other mss described in excursus II; also for exc II IV V, the summaries of chapters, headings of pages, contents, onomasticon and indexes, and for not a few of the notes<sup>1</sup>. Our text of Beda reproduces exactly the Moore ms, which has been collated by both of us.

Dr Ebert and his publisher allowed me to translate the notice of Beda given in his admirable history of Christian Roman literature; I am also indebted to Dr Ebert for revising the proof of my translation.

The 'testimonia', which might have been largely increased<sup>1</sup>, may suffice to prove the high esteem in which Beda has been held wherever he has been known. His preface shews that his thirst for original evidence was far more keen than that of many professed critics; chronologers will know how to prize the advance made in their science by him, who introduced into history the one fixed date A D.

The attention of scholars has of late been recalled by Rönsch, Paucker, Schuchardt and others, to the mass of valuable material, lexicographical and other, buried in the early Christian writings. For palaeographical purposes few manuscripts of the classics are to be compared with the earliest biblical and patristic mss, which latter are often nearly or quite contemporary with the authors. The renewed study of history also, to be fruitful, must lead away from arid or florid compendiums to the living sources. The 'monumenta Germaniae' have long been issued to schools in cheap editions, and England has in Beda's history, abbats of Wearmouth and letter to Ecgberct, documents of far greater worth, both as regards form and matter, than the origines of Germany or any other European nation. The fear that boys or girls may 'spoil their Latin style' by reading late Latin seems chimerical. If unclassical forms are pointed out as they occur, the classical forms are imprinted only the deeper in the memory: we do not find that Homer, Pindar, Herodotus, Theocritus, corrupt our Greek prose.

For 'cursory reading' few Latin writers are better adapted than Beda, whose perspicuity stands out in strong relief from the bombast affected by Aldhelm before him, and by most of our chroniclers for centuries after him.

It will be well for England if her church cleaves stedfastly to the rule of 'learning and working' (see pp 226 227) professed and practised by Beda and his worthies, and in these latter days revived among us in the teaching and life of F D Maurice.

The examples given in the glossary are intended to be supplementary to those stored in the lexicons.

We have to thank the authorities of Trinity, Sidney Sussex, Emmanuel and St John's colleges, for the free use of manuscripts.

ACCOUNT OF BEDA

LITERATURE

BY ADOLF EBERT

ALDHELM has been designated, not unjustly, the father of Anglo-latin verse: in fact his whole writings have a touch of poetry, even where their purpose is didactic, and however tasteless his poetic prose-style can become, it at least betrays a lively 5 exercise of fancy. It speaks still more however for Aldhelm's poetic nature, that notwithstanding his great interest in, and comprehension of, the ancient laws of metre, he composed also in popular rhythmical forms in Latin, as well as in his Anglo-Saxon mother-tongue. A very different impression is made by 10 the literary character of a younger and far more famous contemporary BEDA. Though he also wrote verses, it is in the field of prose alone that he has left his mark in literary history, for he was plainly a man naturally of prosaic understanding,

15 The complete works of Venerable Bede collated with the manuscripts and various printed editions, accompanied by a new english translation of the historical works and a life of the author.
20 By J A Giles, London 1843. 12 vols. Vener Bedae opera historica, ad fid codd mss recens Jos Stevenson.

London 1841. 2 vols (Engl Hist Soc). Gehle disputatio historico-theologica de Bedae Vener vita et scriptis. Leiden 1838 (dissert). Thomas Wright biographia britannica litteraria 1 263—88. Schoell's article Beda in Herzog's Real-Encyclopädie der protest Theologie.

but withal of rare scientific capacity, so that the middle ages with one accord named him among the most esteemed teachers in the first rank.

Beda, already in the ninth century usually honoured with the surname Venerabilis, was born AD 672 in the territory of the 5 abbey of Wearmouth founded two years later by Benedict Biscop. Already in his seventh year he was entrusted by his relations—being probably an orphan—to the tuition of this learned abbat, and later to that of Ceolfrid, a friend whom Benedict had made abbat in a monastery founded by him in the 10 neighbourhood, at Jarrow, which was, so to speak, a mere offshoot of the Wearmouth foundation, so that the two societies sometimes obeyed the rule of one and the same abbat. In this community Beda spent his whole life, the genuine retirement of a scholar, dividing all the time, not engrossed by religious 15 duties, between learning and teaching. Other monks also, beside the two abbats, gave him lessons, as he himself incidentally informs us. No doubt as a consequence of his parts and energy, he was ordained deacon as early as his nineteenth year, six years before the canonical age; in his thirtieth year he was 20 admitted to priest's orders, and now too first began the work of authorship, for which he found copious materials in the monastic library, collected by the two abbats, especially in their journeys to Rome (see further details below pp 7, 8). In order to study in company with a friend Beda may also now and then 25 have left his cloister, as e g he travelled to York for this purpose to Egbert, afterwards archbishop. He died AD 735; there is still extant the report of his last hours by one of his pupils; even on his death-bed he was busy with literary work, e g with a translation of St John's gospel into Anglo-Saxon. He was 30 buried in the monastery of Jarrow, to which therefore he must more specially have belonged.

Beda was a very prolific author, as is sufficiently proved by that long list of his writings, which (as if in imitation of Gregory of Tours) he appended in his 59th year to his church history. 35

<sup>35</sup> In the same place he gives us a scanty notice of his own life.

Most of these writings and the most important are still preserved to us. The great majority are, it is true, of a purely theological nature, mostly expositions of the bible, both of the old and new testament, and these concern us here the less, as 5 they seem also to be the least original of all. Beda's rank in literary history is due much more to his historical works. Amongst these however, not only in bulk, but also in point of execution, the first place is due to his HISTORIA ECCLESIASTICA GENTIS ANGLORVM, which, as the ripest fruit of his pen, was 10 only completed in the last years of his life, as indeed several of his other writings are used in it. This work is divided into five books. The first 22 chapters of the first book form only an introduction, wherein after a short description of Britain and its ancient inhabitants we have the history of the country reaching 15 from Julius Caesar (with particular reference to its earlier conversion to Christianity, on the basis of Orosius whom Beda often follows word for word, and especially of Gildas, whose history here supplies the clue throughout) to the introduction of Christianity among the Angles by Gregory's missionaries. Only from 20 this point (c 23) begins the work proper and independent research of Beda. The church history of the Angles is then carried down in this book to the death of Gregory the great A D 604. The second book begins with a long obituary of this pope so important for England's church, and ends with the 25 death of Edwin king of Northumberland A D 633. The third book reaches to 665, when Wighart went to Rome to be consecrated abp of Canterbury; but as he dies in Rome, Theodore, the monk of Tarsus, is consecrated by the pope in his room. Here begins the fourth book, extending to the death of 30 Cuthbert (687), the famous saint already twice celebrated by <sup>5</sup> Thus the long commentary 'in principium genesis' is according to Beda's own preface merely extracted from the writings of his predecessors; so also the 'in evang Marci IV libri'. In most of his commentaries allegorical interpretation prevails. Nor are his homilies, so far as they remain to us, anyways important.

<sup>18</sup> See the detailed statement of the sources for this introduction in Schoell de eccles Britonum historiae fontibus p 20—8 [Berl 1851].

Beda himself. The last book (to the year 731) concludes with a survey of the several sees and of the general state of Britain in that year, when profound peace led many nobles to exchange arms for cloister life.

We see that the distribution of the subject into books is 5 made with all deliberation, being determined by events of the utmost importance partly in themselves, partly at least for the author : thus Gregory's death forms indisputably the close of a period, as a new beginning opens with Theodore's mission, that epoch in the Christian civilisation of England. Accordingly the 10 fourth book, introduced by this mission, is with the fifth of greater interest than the rest for the general history of culture and, at least indirectly, for that of literature also. The earlier books tell mainly of the propagation and settlement of the catholic church in the Anglo-Saxon kingdoms, its disputes with 15 the church of the Scots and endeavours for reconciliation, while the most important political events, which must affect more or less the church's position, are considered only in the second place. In the last two books on the other hand we find here and there valuable notices respecting the diffusion of literary 20 training by Theodore and Hadrian and their pupils, the art of church music introduced from Rome by the pope's arch-chanter (IV 18, V 20), the studies of the Angles in Rome itself (V 19), the circulation and collection of books in England (V 15 and 20), writers of the rank of Caedmon (IV 24) and Aldhelm (V 18), the 25 first missions to Germany undertaken by the Angles (V 9). Here, it is true, especially in the fourth book, much more room is engrossed by biographies of saints, bishops, abbats and abbesses, which with their miraculous stories for the most part only prove that England also was possessed by the superstition 30 and ecstasy of the age; they however not only serve in this respect to complete the picture of life and manners, but also throw light on many peculiar features of the education and character of the Angles. In particular we may here single out, as interesting for the national literatures of the middle ages, two 35 visions, the one (V 12) of a pious Northumbrian, who after death sees under the guidance of a form of light, evidently an angel, first purgatory—where however cold is paired with heat—next hell, a pit shooting forth incessantly fireballs, wherein, as they rise and fall, the souls of the evil flash as numberless sparks; then a fragrant, flowery meadow, wherein walk crowds of men arrayed 5 in white; it is the abode of good souls, who arrive at heaven itself only at the last day, not being perfect enough to enter it at once; of this heaven the visionary sees only a beaming light from afar and hears the sweet song of its inmate spirits. Restored to life the Northumbrian entered a monastery, where 10 he confided this vision to one of his brethren. In c 13 another vision is related of a soldier, a favorite of the king, who deferred penance; accordingly there appeared by his sick-bed first two angels with a little book containing the record of his few good deeds, and presently a whole army of fiends with a colossal 15 folio, filled with the long register of his misdeeds.

That Beda's work rather resembles a chronicle than a philosophical history, is what we are prepared to expect. Like that of Gregory of Tours, it is a collection of separate stories (including also the most important documents) arranged generally in 20 chronological order (and that too, which is worthy of notice, reckoned by the years after the incarnation). The lack of political and even ecclesiastical unity in the empire of the Angles makes this method the more excusable. Yet Beda possessed many of the qualifications for a historian, and was fully alive to 25 the duties of his calling. He amassed materials with great pains, gives the most important records word for word, and names his authorities and sources either generally or in particular; generally, in the preface addressed to king Ceolwulf of

35 <sup>7</sup> These views respecting the intermediate abode of souls and purgatory are also of theological interest; with regard to the latter the angel gives the following explanation: est locus, in quo examinandae et castigandae sunt animae eorum, qui differentes confiteri et emendare scelera, quae fecerunt, in ipso tamen mortis articulo ad paenitentiam confugiunt, et sic de corpore exeunt; qui tamen, quia confessionem et paenitentiam uel in morte habuerunt, omnes in die iudicii ad regnum caelorum perueniunt.

Northumberland, in order, as he says, to leave the reader no ground for doubt. The most eminent clergy of the several provinces aided his undertaking; one brought him also from Rome transcripts of bulls from the papal archives. Everywhere we discern the pursuit of truth and that faithful reproduction 5 of tradition, which, as he himself says in his preface, is 'the true law of history'. Moreover Beda appears throughout this work as a master of the learning of his times, with whose comprehensive knowledge probably no man then living could vie; he can discover and appreciate what is really important, though 10 no less a dupe to the current faith in miracles than the far more ignorant and unenlightened historian of the Franks. If in his opinion also (as the preface tells us) the worth of history is principally moral, as it incites us to imitate good and avoid evil, yet in the narrative itself the moral tendency is less obtrusive than 15 in Gregory of Tours. It bears throughout the stamp of a rare fairness and objectivity, which is maintained even in ecclesiastical matters, as in relation to the Scots. Herewith accords the calm, even tone of the relation, which in its diction, clear, natural and yet for the age so pure, affords the surest evidence 20 of mental discipline won by the study of the ancients and of the chief fathers of the church.

A supplement to the great historical work—important especially for the history of civilisation and often exceedingly attractive—is Beda's little book, founded partly on a sermon 25

<sup>22</sup> It may be added that in many

mss and edd of the historian a very short 'epitome' is appended, recapitulating the chief dates in chronological order; whether composed by Beda himself, we cannot determine. 30

<sup>25</sup> By a monk of his cloister; it may be seen in Stevenson II 318—334. On such uitaes generally see above pp 429—431 [where 35 the biographical works of Jerome, Rufinus, Sulpicius Seuerus, Ennodius, Hilary, Eugippius, are mentioned, and two classes dis-

These are the abbats of his own fraternity, some of them his tutors and 5 teachers. The most interesting life is Benedict's, which also fills the largest part of the book. Benedict, originally called Biscop, an Angle of noble descent, 'minister' of king Oswy, when about twenty-five years of age devoted himself to the religious life, becoming a monk in Lerinum; he then by the pope's 10 command attended abp Theodore from Rome to England and afterwards founded the two monasteries on the Wear and Tyne. His unwearied activity—he travels to Rome alone five times and brings from Gaul even the masons for churchbuilding—is truly admirable. Benedict's services to culture in England are 15 very great; he it was who made Beda's works even possible. For he brought, as we here learn, from each of his pilgrimages to Rome not only great store of books, but also (which was a motive of such journeys) pictures to adorn the monastic churches. At one time the pictures were intended for St Peter's 20 Wearmouth, at another for St Paul's Jarrow and for the monastery there. In this case, as Beda says, regard was had chiefly to the concordia of the O and N T. But Benedict also brought costly silk robes 'of incomparable work', which he exchanged for land with the king and his counsellors. For the church 25 windows he imported glaziers from Gaul, Britain having till then been destitute of artists in this trade. He also brought to England the papal arch-chanter, who became in the first instance the teacher of his monastery, in particular of our Beda; but from all English convents monks resorted to him to learn singing. Thus Benedict promoted England's civilisation in the most various directions, and Ceolfrid emulated his example. The picture of these admirable men appears in their scholar's beautiful tract the more serene, as no sort of miracle is recorded of them.

Another supplement to Beda's church history, to which, as of much earlier date, he also alludes in the course of it, is the book DE VITA ET MIRACVLIS S CVTHBERTI EPISCOPI LINDIS- 10
FARNENSIS. This prose work, undertaken at the request of a successor of Cuthbert's, Eadfrid, and of the monks of Lindisfarne, adopts here and there the language of an earlier work of Beda's, a poem DE MIRACVLIS S CVTHBERTI. It is not however a mere version of this latter, but an independent work, 15 as appears even from the preface. Beda, as he there assures us, had taken all pains to report the truth, having first communicated his manuscript to some monks long intimate with Cuthbert, and then submitted a copy revised in accordance with their judgement to the criticism of a meeting of elders and 20 teachers of Lindisfarne monastery, who however found nothing further to alter. The difference between the subject-matter of the prose life and the poem is correctly indicated by their titles: in the latter only the miracles are recorded, while the former embraces in addition the remainder of the saint's life. Beda 25 had indeed promised such a supplement in the preface to his poem. As regards the subject-matter therefore, it will suffice here to notice the prose work, the poem, as regards its form, being reserved for later consideration. The main source however, from which Beda drew his materials, is still extant, a life 30 of the saint by a monk of Lindisfarne.

Still Beda's VITA CVTHBERTI, in spite of all well-meant precautions in the interest of historic truth and in spite of the citation of eyewitnesses, is distinguished from his VITA ABBATVM, as a historical romance from history. The romantic 35

clement lies in the miracles, which play here, as in the poem, a principal part. Not only are the most natural things wrested into miracles, but all the saint's trances, who like St Martin believed that he was often visited by angels and devils, pass 5 current as simple truth; to say nothing of his sympathetic cures. On the other hand however the book is not wholly devoid of real historical facts, which give it greater worth. Thus we read (c 9 sqq) how Cuthbert as provost of Melrose at the time of the plague withstood the general relapse into heathen
 10 superstition by journeying alone for months through the country preaching, or how, when transferred to Lindisfarne, he introduced a stricter rule into this monastery afterwards so famous, or lastly how as a hermit in the rocky islet Farne he led a solitary Robinson-Crusoe kind of life (here depicted in all detail), 15 to be summoned from thence to the most momentous political deliberations (c 24), or to the bishop's throne (A D 685), which however he filled only two years, then to return to his hermitage.

As Beda grounds this prose life of a saint on a poem of his own, so too, probably at an earlier date, he wrote on the basis
 20 of Paulinus' natalicia a shorter prose life of St Felix, because, as he says in the preface, the hexameters of Paulinus were more accessible to 'metrical' than to plain readers. For the benefit of these latter, the great majority, he had executed the work on the model of the prose metaphrast of Prudentius' hymn on Cassianus.

25 One other historical work, and that of great importance for literary history, was composed by Beda. This work, whose influence in the middle ages was still more extensive than that of his church history, belongs to a region of strictly

6 Cuthbert, just like Martin in 30 his old age, loved to descant on the miracles wrought by him; often too he covertly hinted more than he exprest (see c 7).

19 It stands higher in the catalogue of his works.

20 Esp c IV, v, VI. See above 291—4. [On each anniversary of his patron saint's death, (his dies natalis, birthday into eternity) Paulinus wrote a panegyric on him. Thirteen of these poems are extant entire, beside a fragment of a fourteenth.]

24 To whom Beda here alludes, must remain uncertain; but it is noticeable that the literary fashion, so usual in the later middle age, of resolving into prose the versified lives of saints, seems already to have come into vogue.

scientific studies, in which Beda's learning appears for that time truly marvellous. I mean his chronicle of the world, composed 725—6 by way of appendix to his great chronological work DE TEMPORVM RATIONE, and as an integral part of it. The latter was preceded by a much smaller book 5 DE TEMPORIBVS, containing as it were only the outlines of the complete work, and written as early as 703 (c 14). Here too we find an outline of the chronicle, embracing not only fewer dates, but also far fewer facts and those only in the curt style of inscriptions. To give a conception of the propor- 10 tionate bulk of the two works, and also of the two universal chronicles appended to them, I may remark, that in Giles' edition the chronological section of the book 'de temporibus' occupies 9, its chronicle  $6\frac{1}{2}$  pages, as against 129 and 61 pages respectively of the 'de temporum ratione'. 15

The greater chronological work is accordingly only an expansion of the smaller, though with the intercalation of some entirely new paragraphs. As Beda says in the preface, he undertook it by desire of his 'brethren', for whom the treatment of the subject in the book 'de temporibus' was far too 20 brief. More precisely to indicate the contents of this work, which Ideler terms a complete guide to the calculation of times and festivals:—we find here discussed the mode of reckoning on the fingers, the divisions of time, weights, the day, the night, the week—including the so-called great week, the week of 25 ages c 10—the months—where beside the Roman, those also of the Hebrews, Egyptians, Greeks and Angles are considered, the last from patriotism—, the signs of the month (constellations), the moon's orbit (c 17) and its importance for the calendar, to which are added many explanations about the moon and also about its relation to the tides (c 29), again the equinoxes and solstices, the unequal lengths of the days, the seasons of the year, natural years, the intercalary day, the nineteen-years' cycle and its division, the reckoning after Christ's birth (c 47), indictions, epacts, the cycle of the moon, the determination of Easter; all which matters are taught at once with great theoretical thoroughness, and with all regard to the practical application of these instructions. Beda also, as he says c 65, appended to the work a table for Easter from AD 532, 'when Dionysius began the first cycle', to AD 1063.

After the completion of this theoretical part follows in c 66 CHRONICON SIVE DE SEX HVIUS SAECVLI AETATIBVS. As the very title indicates, Beda has divided his chronicle according to the ages of the world, following indeed Isidore's example—from whom he has also borrowed some passages word for word—but principally keeping in view Augustine himself, the proper author, as we have seen, of that division; the justification for which accordingly Beda in his introduction takes, even verbatim, from the ciuitas dei. Hence as compared with Isidore, if we neglect borrowed details, Beda appears altogether original. Much rather is Augustine his guide, Eusebius-Jerome his principal source, both of whom also he often cites. Following Augustine's authority Beda reckons the years of the world according to the Hebrew original of the O T, not according to the LXX, as Isidore. Not seldom too Beda gives much more than the latter, even entire sections: thus in the beginning of the fifth age the series of Nebuchadnezzar's successors and that of the Persian kings from Cyrus to Darius, whereas Isidore only begins with Darius; so too for the Roman emperors, whose regnal years he gives as well as the years of the world, Beda is much more complete than his predecessor. Britain, as is only fair, is especially noticed, and particularly in the last decads; thus we find here also mention of Theodore's mission and of the pilgrimages of the Angles to Rome. Subjoined to this chronicle in the 5 treatise 'de temporum ratione' are four more chapters, where the author briefly discusses the 'remainder of the sixth age of the world', the times of the Lord's advent and of Antichrist, the last doomsday, the seventh and eighth ages. In particular he here (c 67) controverts the opinion, that the various reckon- 10 ings of the years of the world—according to the Hebrew original or the LXX—could in any way affect the determination of the last day, which as a divine secret eluded all calculation. The assertion, that after the lapse of 6000 years this temporal scene is at an end, because the millenniums of the world's duration 15 correspond to the six days of creation, is erroneous; the days of creation refer rather to the ages of the world, which by no means comprise each 1000 years precisely, some being longer, some shorter. The two surest tokens however of the approaching judgement are the conversion of the Jews and the 20 reign of Antichrist (c 69). The seventh age of the world is that of the eternal sabbath, the eighth that of the blessed resurrection. The ages of the world correspond likewise to Christ's passion week, and are mystically signified thereby.

With Beda's chronological studies is connected a tract, 25 which also became of importance for the middle ages: his

<sup>19</sup> The occasion of this discussion is evidently this. After the publication of the sketch 'de temporibus' (where, in the abbreviated chronicle, the same reckoning of the years appears without any vindication) the most extravagant heresies were laid at Beda's door, against which he defends 30 himself in a special treatise, still extant, 'ad Plegwinum'. There too he censures the bad habit, then in vogue, of professing to compute the year of doom. How often was he 35 asked even by peasants, how many years of the last millennium had still to run!

MARTYROLOGIVM, DE NATALICIIS SANCTORVM DIEBVS, as Wattenbach says, 'the ground work of all later revisions' itself however naturally founded on earlier, especially Roman, martyrologies. In this calendar of martyrs, in which however
 5 even Beda could not yet fill every day, the tortures are related at great length for a calendar, and we have often real cause for amazement, how so learned, and indeed enlightened, a man as Beda, not merely credulously accepted the most absurd and loathsome exaggerations, but has also repeated them with a 10 certain relish; read e.g. the sufferings of St Pachomius (14 May). This seems to me noticeable with reference to the arts of design and the later drama of the middle ages.

On these writings, relating to history and historical science, rests Beda's great influence on the literature and culture of the 15 middle ages; these also display in the most brilliant light his genius and learning. These prose writings throw his poems entirely into the background. True, he wrote much in verse; he cites himself, in the catalogue of his works, beside the poem DE MIRACVLIS S CVTHBERTI, also an entire LIBER HYMNORVM
 20 DIVERSO METRO SIVE RHYTHMO and a LIBER EPIGRAMMATVM HEROICO METRO SIVE ELEGIACO, but both are lost, and of the few separate hymns and epigrams ascribed to him, scarcely one or two can claim a slight likelihood of authenticity. We may reasonably infer that the two collections deserved the doom
 25 of oblivion, since not even so famous a name could rescue them. Still in any case literary history must deplore the loss of the hymnbook, if only because according to the title communicated by Beda himself, metrical and rhythmical hymns of one and the same author—which is very remarkable—were united. A hymn

35 <sup>11</sup> That these recitals however are no later accretions but Beda's original, appears from the terms in which he cites the martyrology

of Beda however incorporated in the church history (IV 20) still remains to us; a hymnus uirginitatis, as he terms it, in praise of queen Etheldreda, who became a nun and afterwards abbess; it is in distichs, where we find the trick of epanalepsis, already employed by Sedulius. Beda specially celebrates the miracle, 5 that on the opening of Etheldreda's coffin after 16 years, both the corpse and the clothing were found intact, which passed for a special evidence of sanctity. The verses indeed are without elevation, but also without bombast, in a diction neither mean nor barbarous. Of the hymns in Ambrosian metre 10 ascribed to Beda PRIMO DEVS CAELI GLOBVM seems best entitled to bear his name. Here we find, as regards the subject-matter, a parallel drawn (just as in c 10 and the closing chapters of the de temporum ratione) between the six ages of the world and the days of creation on the one hand, and the passion- 15 week on the other: as regards the form, epanalepsis in the first main division of the poem, where in each pair of four-line strophes a day is paralleled with an age of the world; the first verse of the first strophe being always made the last of the second. The same epanalepsis, which here, when confined to 20 strophes on such subjects, has a certain meaning, is found also with no such significance in a hymn on the holy innocents' day, which, probably on this very account, has been attributed to Beda. The poem on St Cuthbert's miracles we have already considered with regard to the subject-matter; with re- 25 spect to its form, the poetical style, free from bombast, at times even quite elegant, and also the often harmonious hexameter, but also by the title of the 'liber epigrammatum'.

<sup>24</sup> The poems (strangely printed in Giles I 54 sqq under the title 'hymni') 'deratione temporum', 'decele- 30 britate quattuor temporum', 'de uariis computi regulis', are later versifications of portions of Beda's larger chronological work, which it is an absurdity to ascribe to 35 Beda himself. I must revert to them in the sequel of this work.

The theory also both of poetry and of prose gave occupation to Beda's pen : thus he composed a tract on orthography, 5 a book DE SCHEMATIS ET TROPIS SACRAE SCRIPTURAE, in which he defines these rhetorical figures one by one and illustrates them by examples from the bible, which even in respect of such modes of expression surpasses all other books: a tract DE ARTE METRICA (to which the last named is appended). This 10 is far more interesting than the other two; for though in great part a mere extract from earlier metricists, especially Victorinus, it yet furnishes many details important for literary history, partly by the citations from christian writers of latin verse, partly by the conception (which became in some cases authoritative for after times) of individual points, though indeed this 15 was by no means peculiar to Beda personally. In regard to the conception it is specially to be remarked, that Beda, as already hinted, considers the iambic dimeter of the Ambrosian hymns as a tetrameter and so calls it (c 21), so that he regards 20 the verses of the iambic four-line strophe merely as uersiculi (in him = hemistichs), of which two go to make a uersus. The four-line strophe of the trochaic hymns (derived from the distich of the tetrameter trochaicus) has evidently misled him to this conception.

25 <sup>8</sup> In this view Beda follows Cassiodorus cited above 482 [in his commentary on the psalms, e.g. 3, 23]. It is remarkable that he so entirely identifies the vulgate 30 with the original, as to borrow from it examples even of homoeoteleuton.

<sup>13</sup> See above 116 n. [Beda de arte metrica c 17 cites as example 35 of phalaecian metre the first 15 verses from the canticum of the 'exodus' ascribed to Iuvenius (spicileg solesm I 187) without naming him as author, though elsewhere 40 in his citations he does name his authorities, eg Iuvenius himself c 3 in a citation from the 'hist euangelica'. The verses of the canticum however are simply introduced by the words 'huius (metri) exemplum', which may warrant the inference, that even Beda in his day did not know the author. For the rest the quotation offers some noticeable readings.]

One other scientific tract, the DE NATVRA RERVVM, a brief cosmography grounded on the works of the ancients, was probably published by Beda at the same time with the 'de temporibus,' to which it comes nearest in subject-matter also. Other scientific treatises occurred in the LIBER EPISTVLARVM 5 AD DIVERSOS; of the five letters specified in the list of his works two bear the titles DE RATIONE BISSEXTI and DE AEQVINOCTIO; of these only the latter is extant: a third is the DE SEX AETATIBVS SAECVLI addressed to Plegwinus (above 12 n 3). Lastly we still possess, not to speak of dedications, two letters of Beda's, 10 one a short acknowledgement of help received from Albinus in the composition of the church history, the other a long treatise sent to his friend and pupil Ecgbert, after his consecration as abp of York. This letter, written not long before Beda's death, is very remarkable; containing not only, 15 which is its immediate purpose, excellent counsels respecting the duties of the episcopate, but also illustrating the moral and ecclesiastical state of England at the time, in such a way as to discover many new details, especially as regards the monasteries. 20

distinctos. The 'concatenatio' (enjambement) was here forbidden: to understand the passage we must bear in mind, that Beda calls long lines uersus, short lines uersiculi, so that in the measure of these hymns—which indeed he calls not dimeter iambicus, but metrum iambicum tetrametrum—he comprises under one uersus two 'verses'.] Cf 594 n 3 [According to the view and terminology of the Anglo-Saxon metricians, as Beda, the uersiculi of a uersus always rime, as in Aldhelm's poem and the poems found with it in the ms the several pairs of rimes form a line.]

prouincias gens Nordanhymbrorum antiquitus diuisa erat, suscepit filius Aedilfridi qui de illa prouincia generis et regni originem duxerat, nomine Eanfrid. siquidem tempore toto quo regnauit Aeduini, filii praefati regis Aedilfridi, 10 qui ante illum regnauerat, cum magna nobilium iuuentute apud Scottos siue Pictos exulabant ibique ad doctrinam Scottorum cathecizati et baptismatis sunt gratia recreati.
qui ut mortuo rege inimico patriam sunt redire permissi, accepit primus eorum, quem diximus, Eanfrid regnum Ber-15 niciorum. qui uterque rex ut terreni regni infulas sortitus est, sacramenta regni caelestis quibus initiatus erat anathematizando prodidit ac se priscis idolatriae sordibus polluendum perdendumque restituit.

Nec mora, utrumque rex Brettonum Ceadualla impia 20 manu sed iusta ultione peremit. et primo quidem proxima aestate Osricum, dum se in oppido municipio temerarie obsedisset, erumpens subito cum suis omnibus inparatum cum toto exercitu deleuit. dein cum anno integro prouincias Nordanhymbrorum non ut rex uictor possideret sed quasi tyrannus saeuens disperderet ac tragica caede dilaceraret, tandem Eanfridum inconsulte ad se cum xii lectis militibus postulandae pacis gratia uenientem simili sorte damnauit. infaustus ille annus et omnibus bonis exosus usque hodie permanet, tam propter apostasiam regum Anglorum qua se fidei sacramentis exuerant, quam propter uesanam Brettonici regis tyrrannidem. unde cunctis placuit regum tempora computantibus, ut ablata de medio regum perfidorum memoria idem annus sequentis regis, id est Osualdi uiri deo dilecti, regno adsignaretur: quo post occisionem fratris Eanfridi superueniente cum paruo exercitu sed fide Christi munito, infandus Brettonum dux, cum inmensis illis copiis quibus nihil resistere posse iactabat, interemtus est in loco qui lingua Anglorum Denisesburna, id est Riuus Denisi, uocatur.

OSTENDITVR autem usque hodie et in magna ueneratione habetur locus ille, ubi uenturus ad hanc pugnam Osuald signum sanctae crucis erexit ac flexis genibus dominum deprecatus est, ut in tanta rerum necessitate suis cultoribus caelesti succurreret auxilio. denique fertur quia facta citato opere cruce ac fouea praeparata in qua statui deberet, ipse fide feruens hanc arripuerit ac foueae inposuerit atque utraque manu erectam tenuerit, donec adgesto a militibus puluere terrae figeretur, et hoc facto elata in altum uoce cuncto exercitui proclamauerit: 'flectamus omnes genua et dominum omnipotentem uiuum ac uerum in commune deprecemur ut nos ab hoste superbo ac feroce in miseratione defendat: scit enim ipse quia

10 Vocatur locus ille lingua Anglorum Hefenfelth, quod dici potest Latine caelestis campus, quod certo utique praesagio futurorum antiquitus nomen accepit: significans nimirum quod ibidem caeleste erigendum tropaeum caelestis inchoanda uictoria caelestia usque hodie forent

Nam monachi erant maxime qui ad praedicandum uenerant, monachus ipse episcopus Aedan utpote de insula quae uocatur Hii destinatus, cuius monasterium in cunctis pene septentrionalium Scottorum et omnium Pictorum monasteriis non paruo tempore arcem tenebat regendisque eorum populis praeerat: quae uidelicet insula ad ius quidem Britanniae pertinet, non magno ab ea freto discreta, sed donatione Pictorum qui illas Britanniae plagas incolunt iamdudum monachis Scottorum tradita, eo quod illis praedicantibus fidem Christi perceperint.

insignem, ubi ipse etiam corpore una cum pluribus sanctis requiescit, iam nunc Anglorum gens obtinet. qui locus uulgo uocatur Ad Candidam Casam, eo quod ibi ecclesiam de lapide insolito Brettonibus more fecerit.

5 Venit autem Britanniam Columba regnante Pictis Bridio filio Meilochon rege potentissimo nono anno regni eius gentemque illam uerbo et exemplo ad fidem Christi conuertit, unde et praefatam insulam ab eis in possessionem monasterii faciendi accepit. neque enim magna est sed
10 quasi familiarum quinque iuxta aestimationem Anglorum; quam successores eius usque hodie tenent, ubi et ipse sepultus est cum esset annorum lxxviii post annos circiter xxx et duos ex quo ipse Britanniam praedicaturus adiit. fecerat autem priusquam Britanniam ueniret monasterium
15 nobile in Hibernia, quod a copia roborum Dearmach lingua Scottorum, hoc est campus roborum, cognominatur. ex quo utroque monasterio plurima exinde monasteria per discipulos eius et in Britannia et in Hibernia propagata sunt, in quibus omnibus idem monasterium insulanum 20 in quo ipse requiescit corpore principatum teneret.

Habere autem solet ipsa insula rectorem semper abbatem presbyterum, cuius iuri et omnis prouincia et ipsi etiam episcopi ordine inusitato debeant esse subiecti, iuxta exemplum primi doctoris illius, qui non episcopus sed pres-25 byter extitit et monachus; de cuius uita et uerbis nonnulla a discipulis eius feruntur scripta haberi. uerum qualiscumque fuerit ipse, nos hoc de illo certum tenemus quia reliquit successores magna continentia ac diuino amore regularique institutione insignes; in tempore quidem sum-uantiae decreta porreerat; tantum ea quae in propheticis euangelicis et apostolicis litteris discere poterant pietatis et castitatis opera diligenter obseruantes. permansit autem huiusmodi obseruantia paschalis aput eos tempore non paucō, hoc est usque ad annum dominicae incarnationis 5 dcccxv per annos cl.

At tunc ueniente ad eos reuerentissimo et sanctissimo patre et sacerdote Ecgbercto de natione Anglorum, qui in Hibernia diutius exulauerat pro Christo eratque et doctissimus in scripturis et longae uitae perfectione eximius, correcti sunt per eum et ad uerum canonicumque paschae [diem] translati; quem tamen et antea non semper in luna xiiii cum Iudaeis ut quidam rebantur, sed in die quidem dominica, alia tamen quam decebat ebdomada celebrabant. sciebant enim ut Christiani resurrectionem domini- 15 cam quae prima sabbati facta est prima sabbati semper esse celebrandam; sed ut barbari et rustici, quando eadem prima sabbati, ea quae nunc dominica dies cognominatur, ueniret, minime didicerant. uerum quia gratia caritatis feruere non omiserunt, et huius quoque rei notitiam ad 20 perfectum percipere meruerunt, iuxta promissum apostoli dicentis: 'et si quid aliter sapitis, et hoc quoque uobis deus reuelabit.' de quo plenius in sequentibus suo loco dicendum est.

5] tinentiae clericis exemplum reliquit; cuius doctrinam id maxime commendabat omnibus, quod non aliter quam uiebat cum suis ipse docebat. nil enim huius mundi quaerere nil amare curabat. cuncta quae sibi a regibus uel
5 diuitibus saeculi donabantur mox pauperibus qui occurrerent erogare gaudebat. discurrere per cuncta et urbana et rustica loca non equorum dorso sed pedum incessu uectus, nisi si maior forte necessitas compulisset, solebat; quatinus ubicumque aliquos uel diuites uel pauperes ince-
10 dens aspexisset, confestim ad hos diuertens, uel ad fidei suscipiendae sacramentum si infideles essent inuitaret, uel si fideles, in ipsa eos fide confortaret atque ad elimosynas operumque bonorum executionem et uerbis excitaret et factis.

15 In tantum autem uita illius a nostri temporis segnitia distabat ut omnes qui cum eo incedebant siue adtonsi seu laici meditari deberent, id est aut legendis scripturis aut psalmis discendis operam dare. hoc erat cotidianum opus illius et omnium qui cum eo erant ubicumque locorum
20 deuenissent. et si forte euenisset, quod tamen raro euenit, ut ad regis conuiuium uocaretur, intrabat cum uno clerico aut duobus et, ubi paululum reficiebatur, adcelerauit ocuis ad legendum cum suis siue ad orandum egredi. cuius exemplis informati tempore illo religiosi quique uiri ac
30 potentibus saeculi pecuniam, excepta solum esca si quos hospitio suscepisset, umquam dare solebat, sed ea potius quae sibi a diuitibus donaria pecuniarum largiebantur, uel in usus pauperum ut diximus dispergebat, uel ad redemptionem eorum qui iniuste fuerant uenditi dispensabat. denique multos quos pretio dato redemerat redemptos postmodum suos discipulos fecit atque ad sacerdotalem usque gradum erudiendo atque instituendo prouexit.

Ferunt autem quia, cum de prouincia Scottorum rex 5
 Osuald postulasset antistitem qui sibi suaeque genti uerbum fidei ministraret, missus fuerit primo alius austerioris animi uir qui, cum aliquandiu genti Anglorum praedicans nihil proficeret nec libenter a populo audiretur, redierit patriam atque in conuentu seniorum rettulerit quia nil pro- 10
 desse docendo genti ad quam missus erat potuisset, eo quod essent homines indomabiles et durae ac barbarae mentis. at illi ut perhibent tractatum magnum in concilio quid esset agendum habere coeperunt, desiderantes quidem genti quam petebantur saluti esse, sed de non recepto quem 15 misserant praedicatore dolentes. tum ait Aedan, nam et ipse concilio intererat, ad eum de quo agebatur sacerdotem: ‘uidetur mihi, frater, quia durior iusto indoctis auditoribus fuisti et non eis iuxta apostolicam disciplinam primo lac doctrinae mollioris porrexisti, donec paulatim enutriti 20
 uerbo dei ad capienda perfectiora et ad facienda sublimiora dei praecepta sufficerent.’ quo audito omnium qui considebant ad ipsum ora et oculi conuersi diligenter quid diceret discutiebant, et ipsum esse dignum episcopatu, ipsum ad erudiendos incredulos et indoctos mitti debere 25 discernunt, qui gratia discretionis, quae uirtutum mater est, ante omnia probatur inbutus; sicque illum ordinantes ad praedicandum miserunt. qui ubi tempus accepit, sicut prius moderamine discretionis ita postmodum et ceteris uirtutibus ornatus apparuit.

H VIVS igitur antistitis doctrina rex Osuald cum ea cui praeerat gente Anglorum institutus non solum incognita progenitoribus suis regna caelorum sperare didicit, sed 5 et regna terrarum, plusquam ulli maiorum suorum, ab eodem uno domino qui fecit caelum et terram consecutus
 est. denique omnes nationes et prouincias Britanniae, quae in iiii linguas, id est Brettonum Pictorum Scottorum et Anglorum, diuisa est, in ditione accepit.

10 Quo regni culmine sublimatus, nihilominus quod mirum dictu est pauperibus et peregrinis semper humilis benignus et largus fuit. denique fertur quia tempore quodam, cum die sancto paschae cum praefato episcopo consedisset ad pran-

 15 regalibus epulis refertus et iamiamque essent manus ad

Geuissae uocantur, regnante Cynigilso fidem Christi suscepit, praedicante illis uerbum Birino episcopo qui cum consilio papae Honorii uenerat Britanniam, promittens quidem se illo praesente in intimis ultra Anglorum partibus, quo nullus doctor praecessisset, sanctae fidei semina esse 15 sparsurum. unde et iussu eiusdem pontificis per Asterium Genuensem episcopum in episcopatus consecratus est gradum. sed Britanniam perueniens ac primum Geuissorum gentem ingrediens cum omnes ibidem paganissimos inueniret, utilius esse ratus est ibi potius uerbum praedicare 20 quam ultra progrediens eos quibus praedicare deberet inquirere.

Itaque euangelizante illo in praefata prouincia, cum rex ipse cathecizatus fonte baptismi cum sua gente ablueretur, contigit tunc temporis sanctissimum ac uictoriosissimum 25
regem Nordanhybrorum Osualdum adfuisse eumque de lauacro exeuntem suscepisse ac pulcherrimo prorsus et deo digno consortio, cuius erat filiam accepturus in conjugem, ipsum prius secunda generatione deo dedicatum

sibi accepit in filium. donauerunt autem ambo reges eidem episcopo ciuitatem quae uocatur Dorcic ad faciendum inibi sedem episcopalem, ubi factis dedicatisque ecclesiis multisque ad dominum pio eius labore populis aduocatis migravit 5 ad dominum sepultusque est in eadem ciuitate et post annos multos Haedde episcopatum agente translatus inde in Ventam ciuitatem atque in ecclesia beatorum apostolorum Petri et Pauli positus est.

Defuncto autem et rege successit in regnum filius eius
 10 Coinualch, qui et fidem ac sacramenta regni caelestis suscipere rennuit et non multo post etiam regni terrestris potentiam perdidit. repudiata enim sorore Pendan regis Merciorum quam duxerat, aliam accepit uxorem, ideoque bello petitus ac regno priuatus ab illo secessit ad regem 15 Orientalium Anglorum cui nomen erat Anna; apud quem triennio exulans fidem cognouit ac suscepit ueritatis. nam et ipse apud quem exulabat rex erat uir bonus et bona ac sancta sobole felix, ut in sequentibus docebimus.

Cum uero restitutus esset in regnum Coinualch, uenit
 20 in prouinciam de Hibernia pontifex quidam nomine Agilberctus, natione quidem Gallus sed tunc legendarum gratia scripturarum in Hibernia non paruo tempore demoratus, coniunxitque se regi sponte ministerium praedicandi adsumens. cuius eruditionem atque industriam uidens rex 25 rogauit eum accepta ibi sede episcopali suae genti manere pontificem. qui precibus eius adnuens, multis annis eidem genti sacerdotali iure praefuit. tandem rex qui Saxonum tantum linguam nouerat pertaesus barbarae loquellae subintroduxit in prouinciam alium suae linguae episcopum uocabulo Vini et ipsum in Gallia ordinatum; diuidensque in

tribuit: unde offensus grauiter Agilberctus, quod hoc ipso inconsulto ageret rex, rediit Galliam et accepto episcopatu Parisiacaе ciuitatis ibidem senex ac plenus dierum obiit. non multis autem annis post abscessum eius a Brittaniam transactis pulsus et Vini ab eodem rege de episcopatu; 5 qui secedens ad regem Merciorum uocabulo Vulfheri emit pretio ab eo sedem Lundoniae ciuitatis eiusque episcopus usque ad uitae suae terminum mansit, sicque prouincia Occidentalium Saxonum tempore non paucis absque prae-sule fuit. 10

Quo etiam tempore rex praefatus ipsius gentis grauissimis regni sui damnis saepissime ab hostibus adflictus tandem ad memoriam reduxit, quod eum pridem perfidia regno pulerit, fides agnita Christi in regnum reuocauerit, intellexitque quod etiam tunc destituta pontifice prouincia 15 recte pariter diuino fuerit destituta praesidio. misit ergo legatarios in Galliam ad Agilberctum summissa illum satisfactione deprecans ad episcopatum suae gentis redire. at ille se excusans et uenire non posse contestans quia episcopatu propriae ciuitatis ac parrochiae teneretur adstric- 20 tus, ne tamen obnixè petenti nil ferret auxilii, misit pro se illo presbyterum Leutherium nepotem suum, qui ei si uellet ordinaretur episcopus; dicens quod ipse eum dignum esse episcopatu iudicaret. quo honorifice a populo et a rege suscepto, rogauerunt Theodorum tunc archiepiscopum 25 Doruuernensis ecclesiae ipsum sibi antistitem consecrari; qui consecratus in ipsa ciuitate multis annis episcopatum Geuissorum ex synodica sanctione solus sedulo moderamine gessit.

nasterio casulas infirmarum Christi famularum earumque uel maxime quae uel aetate prouectae uel probitate erant morum insigniores. quarum se omnium precibus humiliter commendans, obitum proxime suum, quem reuelatione didicerat, non celauit esse futurum. quam uidelicet reuelationem huiusmodi esse perhibebat: uidisse se albatorum cateruam hominum idem monasterium intrare, hosque a se interrogatos, quid quaererent aut quid ibi uellent, respondisse quod ob hoc illo fuerint destinati, ut aureum illud nomisma quod eo de Cantia uenerat secum adsumerent. ipsa autem nocte, in cuius ultima parte id est incipiente aurora praesentis mundi tenebras transiens supernam migravit ad lucem, multi de fratribus eiusdem monasterii, qui aliis erant in aedibus, iam manifeste se concentus angelorum psallentium audisse referebant, sed et sonitum quasi plurimae multitudinis monasterium ingredientis; unde mox egressi dignoscere quid esset, uiderunt lucem caelitus emissam fuisse permaximam, quae sanctam illam animam carnis uinculis absolutam ad aeterna patriae caelestis gaudia ducebat. addunt et alia quae ipsa nocte in monasterio eodem diuinitus fuerint ostensa miracula; sed haec nos ad alia tendentes suis narrare permittimus. sepultum est autem corpus uenerabile uirginis et sponsae Christi in ecclesia beati protomartyris Stephani; placuitque post diem tertium ut lapis quo monumentum tegebatur amoueretur et altius ipso in loco reponeretur; quod dum fieret, tantae fragrantia suauitatis ab imis ebulliuit, ut cunctis qui adstantibus fratribus ac sororibus quasi opobalsami cellaria esse uiderentur aperta.

Sed et matertera eius de qua diximus Aedilberg et ipsa deo dilectam perpetuae uirginitatis gloriam in magna corporis continentia conseruauit; quae cuius esset uirtutis, magis post mortem claruit. cum enim esset abbatissa, coepit facere in monasterio suo ecclesiam in honorem omnium apostolorum, in qua suum corpus sepelli cupiebat. sed cum opus idem ad medium ferme esset perductum, illa ne hoc perficeret morte praerepta est et in ipso ecclesiae loco ubi desiderabat condita. post cuius mortem fratribus alia magis curantibus, intermissum est hoc aedificium annis vii. quibus completis statuerunt ob nimietatem laboris huius structuram ecclesiae funditus relinquere, ossa uero abbatissae illo de loco eleuata in aliam ecclesiam quae esset perfecta ac dedicata transferre. et aperientes sepulchrum eius ita intemeratum corpus inuenere ut a corruptione concupiscentiae carnalis erat immune; et ita denuo lotum atque aliis uestibus indutum transtulerunt illud in ecclesiam beati Stephani martyris; cuius uidelicet natalis ibi solet in magna gloria celebrari die nonarum Iuliarum.

REGNAVIT autem Oswald Christianissimus rex Nordanhymbrorum viiii annis, adnumerato etiam illo quem et feralis impietas regis Brettonum et apostasia demens regum Anglorum detestabilem fecerat. siquidem ut supra docuimus unanimo omnium consensu firmatum est ut nomen et memoria apostatarum de catalogo regum Christianorum prorsus aboleri deberet neque aliquis regno eorum annus adnotari. quo completo annorum curriculo occisus est commisso graui proelio ab eadem pagana gente paganoque rege Merciorum a quo et praedecessor eius Aeduini peremptus fuerat, in loco qui lingua Anglorum nuncupatur Maserfelth, anno aetatis suae xxxviii die quinto mensis Augusti.

Cuius quanta uis in deum quae deuotio mentis fuerit, etiam post mortem uirtutum miraculis claruit. namque in loco ubi pro patria dimicans a paganis interfectus est, usque hodie sanitates infirmorum et hominum et pecorum celebrari non desinunt. unde contigit ut puluerem ipsum ubi corpus eius in terram conruit multi auferentes et in aquam mittentes suis per haec infirmis multum commodi adferrent. qui uidelicet mos adeo increbuit, ut paulatim ablata exinde terra fossam ad mensuram staturae uirilī altam reddiderit. nec mirandum in loco mortis illius infirmos sanari, qui semper dum uiueret infirmis et pauperibus consulere elimosynas dare opem ferre non cessabat. et multa quidem in loco illo uel de puluere loci illius facta uirtutum miracula narrantur; sed nos duo tantum quae a maioribus audiuius referre satis duximus.

Non multo post interfectionem eius exacto tempore contigit ut quidam equo sedens iter iuxta locum ageret illum; cuius equus subito lassescere consistere caput in terram declinare spumas ex ore demittere et augescente dolore nimio in terram coepit ruere. desiluit eques et stramine substrato coepit expectare horam qua aut melioratum reciperet iumentum aut relinqueret mortuum. at ipsum diu graui dolore uexatum, cum diuersas in partes se torqueret, repente uolutando deuenit in illud loci ubi rex memorabilis occubuit. nec mora, quiescente dolore cessabat ab insanis membrorum motibus et consueto equorum more quasi post lassitudinem in diuersum latus uicissim sese uoluere, statimque exurgens quasi sanum per omnia, uirecta herbarum auidius carpere coepit.

Quo ille uiso ut uir sagacis ingenii intellexit aliquid mirae sanctitatis huic loco quo equus est curatus inesse; et posito ibi signo non multo post ascendit equum atque

ad hospitium quo proposuerat accessit : quo dum adueniret, inuenit puellam ibi neptem patrisfamilias longo paralysis morbo grauata; et cum familiares domus illius de acerba puellae infirmitate ipso praesente quererentur, coepit dicere
 5 ille de loco ubi caballus suus esset curatus. quid multa? inponentes eam carro duxerunt ad locum ibidemque deposuerunt. at illa posita in loco obdormiuit parumper, et ubi euigilauit sanata se ab illa corporis dissolutione sentiens postulata aqua ipsa lauit faciem crines composuit 10 caput linteo cooperuit et cum his qui se adduxerant sana pedibus incedendo reuersa est.

EODEM tempore uenit alius quidam de natione Bretonum ut ferunt iter faciens iuxta ipsum locum in quo
 15 praefata erat pugna completa, et uidit unius loci spatium cetero campo uiridius ac uenustius; coepitque sagaci animo conicere quod nulla esset alia causa insolitae illo in loco uiriditatis nisi quia ibidem sanctior cetero exercitu uir aliquis fuisset interfectus. tulit itaque de puluere terrae
 20 illius secum inligans in linteo, cogitans quod futurum erat quia ad medellam infirmantium idem puluis proficeret; et pergens itinere suo peruenit ad uicum quendam uespere intrauitque in domum in qua uicani caenantes epulabantur; et susceptus a dominis domus resedit et ipse cum eis ad
 25 conuiuium, adpendens linteolum cum puluere quem adtulerat in una posta parietis. cumque diutius epulis atque ebrietati uacarent accenso grandi igne in medio, contigit uolantibus in altum scintillis culmen domus quod erat uirgis contextum ac foeno tectum subitaneis flammis im-

INTER quae nequaquam silentio praetereundum reor quid uirtutis ac miraculi caelestis fuerit ostensum, cum ossa eius inuenta atque ad ecclesiam in qua nunc seruantur translata sunt. factum est autem hoc per industriam reginae Merciorum Osthrydae, quae erat filia fratris eius, id est Osuiu qui post illum regni apicem tenebat, ut in sequentibus dicemus.

Est monasterium nobile in prouincia Lindissi nomine Beardaneu, quod eadem regina cum uiro suo Aedilredo multum diligebat uenerabatur excolebat, in quo desiderabat honoranda patru sui ossa recondere; cumque uenisset carrum in quo eadem ossa ducebantur incumbente uespera in monasterium praefatum, noluerunt ea qui erant in monasterio libenter excipere; quia etsi sanctum eum nouerant, tamen quia de alia prouincia ortus fuerat et super eos regnum acceperat, ueteranis eum odiis etiam mortuum insequabantur. unde factum est ut ipsa nocte reliquiae adlatae foris permanerent, tentorio tantum maiore supra carrum in quo inerant extenso. sed miraculi caelestis ostensio quam reuerenter eae suscipiendae a cunctis fidelibus essent

patefecit. nam tota ea nocte columna lucis a carro illo ad caelum usque porrecta omnibus pene eiusdem Lindissae prouinciae locis conspicua stabat. unde mane facto fratres monasterii illius, qui pridie abnuerant, diligenter ipsi petere 5 coeperunt ut apud se eadem sanctae ac deo dilectae re-liquiae conderentur. Iota igitur ossa intulerunt in thecam, quam in hoc praeparauerant, atque in ecclesia iuxta honorem congruum posuerunt; et ut regia uiri sancti persona memoriam haberet aeternam, uexillum eius super tumbam auro 10 et purpura compositum adposuerunt ipsamque aquam in qua lauerunt ossa in angulo sacrarii fuderunt. ex quo tempore factum est ut ipsa terra, quae lauacrum uenerabile suscepit, ad abigendos ex obsessis corporibus daemones gratiae salutaris haberet effectum.

15 Denique tempore sequente cum praefata regina in eodem monasterio moraretur, uenit ad salutandam eam abbatissa quaedam uenerabilis quae usque hodie superest uo-cabulo Aedilhild, soror uirorum sanctorum Aediluini et Alduini, quorum prior episcopus in Lindissi prouincia, se-20 cundus erat abbas in monasterio quod uocatur Peartaneu, a quo non longe et illa monasterium habebat. cum ergo ueniens illo loqueretur cum regina atque inter alia sermone de Osualdo exorto diceret quod et ipsa lucem nocte illa supra reliquias eius ad caelum usque altam uidisset, adiecit 25 regina quia de puluere pauimenti in quo aqua lauacri illius effusa est multi iam sanati essent infirmi. at illa petiit sibi portionem pulueris salutiferi dari, et accipiens inligatam panno condidit in capsella et rediit. transacto autem tempore aliquanto cum esset in suo monasterio, uenit illic 30 quidam hospes qui solebat nocturnis saepius horis repente ab inmundo spiritu grauissime uexari; qui cum benigne susceptus post caenam in lecto membra posuisset, subito

a diabolo arreptus clamare dentibus frendere spumare et diuersis motibus coepit membra torquere. cumque a nullo uel teneri uel ligari potuisset, cucurrit minister et pulsans ad ostium nuntiauit abbatissae. at illa aperiens ianuam monasterii exiuit ipsa cum una sanctimonialium feminarum 5 ad locum uirorum, et euocans presbyterum rogauit secum uenire ad patientem. ubi cum uenientes uiderent multos adfuisse qui uexatum tenere et motus eius insanos comprimere conati nequaquam ualebant, dicebat presbyter exorcismos et quaeque poterat pro sedando miseri furore agebat. sed nec ipse quamuis multum laborans proficere 10 aliquid ualebat. cumque nil salutis furenti superesse uideretur, repente uenit in mentem abbatissae puluis ille praefatus statimque iusit ire ministram et capsellam in qua erat adducere. et cum illa adferens quae iussa est intraret 15 atrium domus in cuius interioribus daemoniosus torquebatur, conticuit ille subito et quasi in somnum laxatus deposuit caput, membra in quietem omnia composuit. conticuere omnes intentique ora tenebant, quem res exitum haberet solliciti exspectantes. et post aliquantum horae 20 spatium resedit qui uexabatur et grauiter suspirans ‘modo’ inquit ‘sanum sapio, recepi enim sensum animi mei.’ at illi sedulo sciscitabantur quomodo hoc contigisset. qui ait: ‘mox ut uirgo haec cum capsella quam portabat adpropinquauit atrio domus huius, discessere omnes qui me 25 premebant spiritus maligni et me relicto nusquam comparuerunt.’ tunc dedit ei abbatissa portiunculam de puluere illo, et sic data oratione a presbytero noctem illam quietissimam duxit; neque aliquid ex eo tempore nocturni timoris aut uexationis ab antiquo hoste pertulit. 30

SEQVENTE dehinc tempore fuit in eodem monasterio
puerulus quidam longo febrium incommodo grauiter uexatus. qui cum die quodam sollicitus horam accessionis 5 exspectaret, ingressus ad eum quidam de fratribus 'uis' in-quit, 'mi nate, doceam te quomodo cureris ab huius mo-lestia languoris? surge ingredire ecclesiam et accedens ad sepulchrum Osualdi ibi reside et quietus manens adhaere tumbae. uide ne exeas inde nec de loco mouearis, donec 10 hora recessionis febrium transierit. tunc ipse intrabo et educam te inde.' fecit ut ille suasserat sedentemque ad tumbam sancti infirmitas tangere nequaquam praesumsit;
quin in tantum timens aufugit, ut nec secunda die nec tertia neque umquam exinde eum auderet contingere. quod ita 15 esse gestum qui referebat mihi frater inde adueniens, adiecit quod eo adhuc tempore quo mecum loquebatur superesset in eodem monasterio iam iuuenis ille in quo tunc puero factum erat hoc miraculum sanitatis. nec mirandum preces regis illius iam cum domino regnantis multum ualere apud 20 eum, qui temporalis regni gubernacula tenens magis pro aeterno semper laborare ac deprecari solebat.

Denique ferunt quia a tempore matutinae laudis saepius ad diem usque in orationibus perstiterit atque ob crebrum morem orandi siue gratias agendi domino semper ubicum-25 que sedens supinas super genua sua manus habere solitus
sit. uulgatum est autem et in consuetudinem prouerbii uersum quod etiam inter uerba orationis uitam finierit.
nam cum armis et hostibus circumseptus iamiamque uideret se esse perimendum, orauit pro animabus exercitus sui.

unde dicunt in prouerbio: 'deus miserere animabus, dixit Osuald cadens in terram.'

Ossa igitur illius translata et condita sunt in monasterio quo diximus, porro caput et manus cum brachiis a corpore praecisas iussit rex qui occiderat in stipitibus suspendi. quo post annum ueniens cum exercitu successor regni eius Osuii abstulit ea et caput quidem in cymeterio Lindisfarnensis ecclesiae, in regia uero ciuitate manus cum brachiis condidit. 5

TRANSLATO ergo ad caelestia regna Osualdo suscepit regni terrestri sedem pro eo frater eius Osuiu iuuenis xxx circiter annorum, et per annos xxviii laboriosissime tenuit, inpugnatus uidelicet et ab ea quae fratrem eius occiderat pagana gente Merciorum et a filio quoque suo Alchfrido necnon et a fratrui, id est fratris sui qui ante eum regnauit filio Oidilualdo. 5

Cuius anno secundo, hoc est ab incarnatione dominica anno dclxliiii, reuerentissimus pater Paulinus quondam quidem Eburacensis, sed tunc Hrofensis episcopus ciuitatis, transiuit ad dominum sexto iduum Octobrium die, qui x et viii annos menses duos dies xxi episcopatum tenuit, sepultusque est in secretario beati apostoli Andreae, quod rex Aedilberct a fundamentis in eadem Hrofi ciuitate construxit. in cuius locum Honorius archiepiscopus ordinauit Ithamar oriundum quidem de gente Cantuariorum sed uita et eruditione antecessoribus suis aequandum. 15

Habuit autem Osuiu primis regni sui temporibus consortem regiae dignitatis uocabulo Osuini de stirpe regis Aeduini, hoc est filium Osrici de quo supra rettulimus, uirum eximiae pietatis et religionis, qui prouinciae Derorum septem annis in maxima omnium rerum affluentia et ipse amabilis omnibus praefuit. sed nec cum eo ille qui ceteram Transhumberanae gentis partem ab aquilone, id est Berniciorum prouinciam, regebat habere pacem potuit; quin potius ingrauescentibus causis dissensionum miserrima hunc caede peremit. siquidem congregato contra inuicem exercitu cum uideret se Osuini cum illo qui plures habebat auxiliaarios non posse bello configere, ratus est utilius tunc demissa 30 intentione bellandi seruare se ad tempora meliora. remisit ergo exercitum quem congregauerat ac singulos domum redire praecepit a loco qui uocatur Vilfaraesdun, id est mons Vilfari, et est a uico Cataractone x ferme milibus passuum contra solstitialem occasum secretus, diuertitque ipse cum uno tantum milite sibi fidissimo nomine Tondheri celandus in domum comitis Hunualdi, quem etiam ipsum sibi amicissimum autumabat. sed heu pro dolor! longe aliter erat: nam ab eodem comite proditum eum 10 Osuiu cum praefato ipsius milite per praefectum suum Ediluinum detestanda omnibus morte interfecit. quod factum est die xiii kalendarum Septembrium anno regni eius nono in loco qui dicitur Ingetlingum, ubi postmodum castigandi huius facinoris gratia monasterium constructum est, 15 in quo pro utriusque regis, et occisi uidelicet et eius qui occidere iussit, animae redemptione cotidie domino preces offerri deberent.

Erat autem rex Osuini et aspectu uenustus et statura sublimis et affatu iucundus et moribus ciuilis et manu omnibus, id est nobilibus simul atque ignobilibus, largus, unde 20 contigit ut ob regiam eius et animi et uultus et meritorum dignitatem ab omnibus diligeretur et undique ad eius ministerium de cunctis prope prouinciis uiri etiam nobilissimi concurrerent. cuius inter ceteras uirtutis et modestiae et, 25 ut ita dicam, specialis benedictionis glorias etiam maxima fuisse fertur humilitas, ut uno probare sat erit exemplo.

Donauerat equum optimum antistiti Aidano in quo ille, quamuis ambulare solitus, uel amnium fluentia transire uel si alia quaelibet necessitas insisteret uiam peragraré posset. 30 cui cum paruo interiecto tempore pauper quidam occurreret elimosynam petens, desiliens ille praecepit equum ita ut erat stratus regaliter pauperi dari; erat enim multum misericors et cultor pauperum ac uelut pater miserorum. hoc cum regi esset relatum, dicebat episcopo cum forte ingressuri essent ad prandium: 'quid uoluisti, domine antistes, equum regium quem te conueniebat proprium habere pauperi dare? numquid non habuimus equos uiliores plurimos 5 uel alias species quae ad pauperum dona sufficerent, quamuis illum eis equum non dares quem tibi specialiter possidendum elegi?' cui statim episcopus 'quid loqueris' inquit, 'rex? numquid tibi carior est ille filius equae quam ille filius dei?' quibus dictis intrabant ad prandendum. 10 et episcopus quidem residebat in suo loco: porro rex, uenerat enim de uenatu, coepit consistens ad focum caleferi cum ministris, et repente inter calefaciendum recordans uerbum quod dixerat illi antistes, discinxit se gladio suo et dedit illum ministro, festinusque accedens ante pedes episcopi 15 conruit postulans ut sibi placatus esset, 'quia numquam' inquit 'deinceps aliquid loquar de hoc aut iudicabo quid uel quantum de pecunia nostra filiis dei tribuas'. quod uidens episcopus multum pertimuit ac statim exurgens leuauit eum, promittens se multum illi esse placatum, dum 20 modo ille residens ad epulas tristitiam deponeret. dumque rex iubente ac postulante episcopo laetitiam reciperet, coepit e contra episcopus tristis usque ad lacrimarum profusionem effici. quem dum presbyter suus lingua patria, quam rex et domestici eius non nouerant, quare lacrimare- 25 tur interrogasset, 'scio' inquit 'quia non multo tempore uicturus est rex, nunquam enim ante haec uidi humilem regem. unde animaduerto illum citius ex hac uita rapiendum, non enim digna est haec gens talem habere rectorem.' nec multo post dira antistitis praesagia tristi regis 30 funere de quo supra diximus impleta sunt.

Sed et ipse antistes Aidan non plus quam xii<sup>o</sup> post occisionem regis quem amabat die, id est pridie kalen-

das Septembres de saeculo ablatu perpetua laborum suorum a domino praemia recepit.

 terrestri quidem itinere illo uenire sed nauigio cum uirgine redire disponebat, accessit ad episcopum Aidanum obsecrans eum pro se suisque qui tantum iter erant adgressuri domino 15 supplicare. qui benedicens illos ac domino commendans, neque hoc agentes aliquid proficiebant. cumque uerrentibus

 presbyter reminiscens uerba antistitis, adsumta ampulla

ALIUD eiusdem patris memorabile miraculum ferunt multi qui nosse potuerunt. nam tempore episcopatus eius hostilis Merciorum exercitus Penda duce Nordanhymbrorum regiones impia clade longe lateque deuastans peruenit ad urbem usque regiam, quae ex Bebbae quondam reginae uocabulo cognominatur, eamque quia neque armis neque obsidione capere poterat, flammis absumere conatus est: discissisque uiculis quos in uicinia urbis inuenit aduexit illo plurimam congeriem trabium tignorum parietum uirgeorum et tecti fenei, et his urbem in magna altitudine circumdedit a parte qua terrae est contigua, et dum uentum oportunum cerneret, inlato igne comburere urbem nisus est. quo tempore reuerentissimus antistes Aidan in insula Farne quae duobus ferme milibus passuum ab urbe procul abest morabatur; illo enim saepius secretae orationis et silentii causa secedere consuerat; denique usque hodie locum sedis illius solitariae in eadem insula solent ostendere. qui cum uentis ferentibus globos ignis ac fumum supra muros urbis exaltari conspiceret, fertur eleuatis ad caelum oculis manibusque cum lacrimis dixisse: ‘uide, domine, quanta mala facit Penda.’ quo dicto statim mutati ab urbe uenti in eos qui accenderant flammarum incendia retorserunt, ita ut aliquot laesi omnes territi inpugnare ultra urbem cessarent quam diuinitus iuuari cognouerant.

HVNC cum dies mortis egredi e corpore cogeret, completis annis episcopatus sui xvi, erat in uilla regia non longe ab urbe de qua praefati sumus. in hac enim habens
 5 ecclesiam et cubiculum saepius ibidem diuertere ac manere atque inde ad praedicandum circumquaque exire consueuerat; quod ipsum et in aliis uillis regis facere solebat, utpote nil propriae possessionis excepta ecclesia sua et adiacentibus agellis habens. tetenderunt ergo ei aegrotanti
 10 tentorium ad occidentalem ecclesiae partem ita ut ipsum tentorium parieti haereret ecclesiae. unde factum est ut adclinis destinae, quae extrinsecus ecclesiae pro munimine erat adposita, spiritum uitae exhalaret ultimum. obiit autem septimo decimo episcopatus sui anno pridie kalendarum
 15 Septembrium. cuius corpus mox inde translatum ad insulam Lindisfarnensium atque in cimiterio fratrum sepultum est. at interiecto tempore aliquanto, cum fabricata esset ibi basilica maior atque in honorem beatissimi apostolorum principis dedicata, illo ossa eius translata atque ad dexteram 20 altaris iuxta uenerationem tanto pontifice dignam condita sunt.

Successit uero ei in episcopatum Finan et ipse illo ab Hii Scottorum insula ac monasterio destinatus, ac tempore non pauco in episcopatu permansit. contigit autem post
 25 aliquot annos ut Penda Merciorum rex cum hostili exercitu haec in loca perueniens cum cuncta quae poterat ferro flammae perderet, uicus quoque in quo antistes obiit una cum ecclesia memorata flammis absumeretur. sed mirum in modum sola illa destina cui incumbens obiit ab ignibus

circum cuncta uorantibus absumi non potuit. quo clarescente miraculo mox ibidem ecclesia restaurata et haec eadem destina in munimentum est parietis, ut ante fuerat, forinsecus adposita. rursusque peracto tempore aliquanto euenit per culpam incuriae uicum eundem et ipsam pariter ecclesiam ignibus consumi. sed ne tunc quidem eandem tangere flamma destinam ualebat; et cum magno utique miraculo ipsa eius foramina ingrediens quibus aedificio erat adfixa perederet, ipsam tamen laedere nullatenus sinebatur. unde tertio aedificata ibi ecclesia destinam illam non ut antea deforis in fulcimentum domus adposuerunt, sed intro ipsam ecclesiam in memoriam miraculi posuerunt, ubi intrantes genu flectere ac misericordiae caelesti supplicare deberent. constatque multos ex eo tempore gratiam sanitatis in eodem loco consecutos; quin etiam astulis ex ipsa destina excisis et in aquam missis plures sibi suisque languorum remedia conquisiere.

Scripsi autem haec de persona et operibus uiri praefati, nequaquam in eo laudans uel eligens hoc quod de observatione paschae minus perfecte sapiebat; immo hoc multum detestans, sicut in libro quem de temporibus composui manifestissime probaui; sed quasi uerax historicus simpliciter ea quae de illo siue per illum sunt gesta describens et quae laude sunt digna in eius actibus laudans atque ad utilitatem legentium memoriae commendans; studium uidelicet pacis et caritatis continentiae et humilitatis, animi irae et auaritiae uictorem, superbiae simul et uanae gloriae contemptorem, industriam faciendi simul et docendi mandata caelestia, solertiam lectionis et uigiliarum, auctoritatem sacerdote dignam redarguendi superbos ac potentes, pariter et infirmos consolandi ac pauperes recreandi uel defendendi clementiam. qui, ut breuiter multa comprehendam, quantum ab eis qui illum nouere didicimus, nil ex omnibus, quae in euangelicis uel apostolicis siue propheticis litteris facienda cognouerat, praetermittere sed cuncta pro suis uiribus operibus explere curabat. haec in praefato antistite multum complector et amo, quia nimirum haec deo placuisse non ambigo. quod autem pascha non suo tempore obseruabat uel canonicum eius tempus ignorans uel suae gentis auctoritate ne agnitum sequeretur deuictus, non adprobo nec laudo. in quo tamen hoc adprobo, quia in celebratione sui paschae non aliud corde tenebat uenerabatur et praedicabat, quam quod nos, id est redemptionem generis humani per passionem resurrectionem ascensionem in caelos mediatoris dei et hominum hominis Iesu Christi. unde et hanc non, ut quidam falso opinantur, xiiij<sup>a</sup> luna in qualibet feria cum Iudaeis sed die dominica semper agebat, a luna xiiij<sup>a</sup> usque ad xx<sup>am</sup>; propter fidem uidelicet dominicae resurrectionis quam una sabbati factam, propterque spem nostrae resurrectionis quam eadem una sabbati quae nunc dominica dies dicitur ueraciter futuram cum sancta ecclesia credebat.

HIS temporibus regno Orientalium Anglorum, post Earpualdum Redualdi successorem, Sigberct frater eius praefuit homo bonus ac religiosus; qui dudum in Gallia dum inimicitias Redualdi fugiens exularet lauacrum baptismi percipit et patriam reuersus, ubi regno potitus est, mox ea quae in Galliis bene disposita uidit imitari cupiens instituit scholam in qua pueri litteris erudirentur, iuuante se episcopo Felice quem de Cantia acceperat eisque pedagogos ac magistros iuxta morem Cantuariorum praebente.

Tantumque rex ille caelestis regni amator factus est ut

ad ultimum relictis regni negotiis et cognato suo Ecgrice commendatis, qui et antea partem eiusdem regni tenebat, intraret monasterium quod sibi fecerat atque accepta tonsura pro aeterno magis regno militare curaret. quod dum multo tempore faceret, contigit gentem Merciorum duce rege Penda aduersus Orientales Anglos in bellum procedere qui, dum se inferiores in bello hostibus conspicerent, rogauerunt Sigbertum ad confirmandum militem secum uenire in proelium. illo nolente ac contradicente, inuitum monasterio eruentes duxerunt in certamen, sperantes minus animos militum trepidare, minus praesente duce quondam strenuissimo et eximio posse fugam meditari. sed ipse professionis suae non inmemor, dum optimo esset uallatus exercitu, nonnisi uirgam tantum habere in manu uoluit; occisusque est una cum rege Ecgrice, et cunctus eorum insistentibus paganis caesus siue dispersus exercitus.

Successor autem regni eorum factus est Anna filius Eni de regio genere uir optimus atque optimae genitor sobolis, de quibus in sequentibus suo tempore dicendum est; qui et ipse postea ab eodem pagano Merciorum duce, a quo et praedecessor eius, occisus est.

VERVM dum adhuc Sigbert regni infulas teneret, superuenit de Hibernia uir sanctus nomine Furseus uerbo et actibus clarus sed et egregiis insignis uirtutibus, cupiens pro domino ubicumque sibi oportunitate inueniret peregrinam ducere uitam. qui cum ad prouinciam Orientalium peruenisset Anglorum, susceptus est honorifice a rege praefato, et solitum sibi opus euangelizandi exsequens multos et exemplo uirtutis et incitamento sermonis uel incredulos ad Christum conuertit uel iam credentes amplius in fide atque amore Christi confirmauit.

5 Vbi quadam infirmitate corporis arreptus angelica meruit uisione perfrui, in qua admonitus est coepto uerbi ministerio sedulus insistere uigiliisque consuetis et orationibus indefessus incumbere, eo quod certus sibi exitus sed incerta eiusdem exitus esset hora futura, dicente domino: 'uigilate itaque,
10 quia nescitis diem neque horam.' qua uisione confirmatus curauit locum monasterii, quem a praefato rege Sigbercto acceperat, uelocissime construere ac regularibus instituire disciplinis. erat autem monasterium siluanum et maris uicinitate amoenum, constructum in castro quodam quod
15 lingua Anglorum Cnobheresburg, id est urbs Cnobheri, uocatur, quod deinde rex prouinciæ illius Anna ac nobiles quique augustioribus aedificiis ac donariis adornarunt. erat autem uir iste de nobilissimo genere Scottorum, sed longe animo quam carne nobilior. ab ipso 20 tempore pueritiæ suæ curam non modicam lectionibus sacris simul et monasticis exhibebat disciplinis et, quod maxime sanctos decet, cuncta quæ agenda didicerat sollicitus agere curabat.

Quid multa? procedente tempore et ipse sibi monasterium in quo liberius caelestibus studiis uacaret construxit; ubi correptus infirmitate, sicut libellus de uita eius conscriptus sufficienter edocet, raptus est e corpore et a uespera usque ad galli cantum corpore exutus angelicorum agminum et aspectus intueri et laudes beatas meruit audire.
30 referre autem erat solitus quod aperte eos inter alia resonare audiret: 'ibunt sancti de uirtute in uirtutem.' et iterum: 'uidebitur deus deorum in Sion.' qui reductus in corpore et die tertia rursum eductus uidit non solum maiora beatorum gaudia, sed et maxima malignorum spirituum certamina, qui crebris accusationibus improbi iter illi caeleste intercludere contendebant, nec tamen protegentibus eum angelis quicquam proficiebant. de quibus omnibus si quis 5 plenius scire uult,—id est quanta fraudis sollertia daemones et actus eius et uerba superflua et ipsas etiam cogitationes quasi in libro descriptas replicauerint, quae ab angelis sanctis, quae a uiris iustis sibi inter angelos apparentibus laeta uel tristia cognouerit,—legat ipsum de quo dixi libellum 10 uitae eius, et multum ex illo ut reor profectus spiritualis accipiet.

In quibus tamen unum est quod et nos in hac historia ponere multis commodum duximus. cum ergo in altum esset elatus, iussus est ab angelis qui eum ducebant respi- 15 cere in mundum. at ille oculos in inferiora deflectens uidit quasi uallem tenebrosam subtus se in imo positam. uidit et quattuor ignes in aere non multo ab inuicem spatio distantes. et interrogans angelos qui essent hi ignes audiuit hos esse ignes qui mundum succedentes essent consumturi. unum 20 mendacii, cum hoc quod in baptismo abrenuntiare nos Satanae et omnibus operibus eius promissimus minime implemus: alterum cupiditatis, cum mundi diuitias amori caelestium praeponimus: tertium dissensionis, cum animos proximorum etiam in superuacuis rebus offendere non for- 25 midamus: quartum impietatis, cum infirmiores spoliare et eis fraudem facere pro nihilo dicimus. crescentes uero paulatim ignes usque ad inuicem sese extenderunt atque in immensam adunati sunt flammam. cumque adpropinquas- sent, pertimescens ille dicit angelo: ‘domine, ecce ignis 30 mihi adpropinquat.’ at ille ‘quod non incendisti’ inquit ‘non ardebit in te; nam etsi terribilis iste ac grandis

esse rogos uidetur, tamen iuxta merita operum singulos examinat, quia uniuscuiusque cupiditas in hoc igni ardebit.
 sicut enim quis ardet in corpore per illicitam uoluptatem, ita solutus corpore ardebit per debitam poenam.' tunc uidit 5 unum de tribus angelis qui sibi in tota utraque uisione duc-tores adfuerunt praecedentem ignes flammae diuidere, et duos ab utroque latere circumuolantes ab ignium se periculo defendere. uidit autem et daemones per ignem uolantes incendia bellorum contra iustos struere. sequuntur aduersus ipsum 10 accusationes malignorum defensiones spirituum bonorum, copiosior caelestium agminum uisio, sed et uirorum de sua natione sanctorum, quos olim sacerdotii gradu non ignobili-ter potitos fama iam uulgante compererat; a quibus non pauca quae uel ipsi uel omnibus qui audire uellent multum 15 salubria essent audiuit. qui cum uerba finissent et cum angelicis spiritibus ipsi quoque ad caelos redirent, remanserunt cum beato Furseo tres angeli de quibus diximus, qui eum ad corpus referrent. cumque praefato igni maximo adpropiaerent, diuisit quidem angelus sicut prius ignem flam-20 mae. sed uir dei ubi ad patefactam usque inter flammas ianuam peruenit, arripientes inmundi spiritus unum de eis quos in ignibus torrebant iactauerunt in eum et contingentes humerum maxillamque eius incenderunt, cognouitque homi-nem et, quia uestimentum eius morientis acceperit, ad me-25 moriam reduxit. quem angelus sanctus statim adprehen-dens in ignem reiecit. dicebatque hostis malignus: ' nolite repellere quem ante suscepistis: nam sicut bona eius pecca-toris suscepistis, ita et de poenis eius participes esse debetis.'
 contradicens angelus ' non ' inquit ' propter auaritiam sed 30 propter saluandam eius animam suscepit: ' cessauitque ignis.
 et conuersus ad eum angelus ' quod incendisti ' inquit ' hoc arsit in te. si enim huius uiri in peccatis suis mortui pecuniam non accepisses, nec poena eius in te arderet.' et plura locutus quid erga salutem eorum qui ad mortem poeniterent esset agendum salubri sermone docuit. qui postmodum in corpore restitutus omni uitae suae tempore signum incendii quod in anima pertulit uisibile cunctis in 5 humero maxillaque portauit: mirumque in modum quod anima in occulto passa sit caro palam praemonstrabat.

 curabat autem semper, sicut et antea facere consuerat, omnibus opus uirtutum et exemplis ostendere et praedicare sermonibus. ordinem autem uisionum suarum illis solummodo 10 qui propter desiderium compunctionis interrogabant expo-nere uolebat. superest adhuc frater quidam senior monasterii nostri qui narrare solet dixisse sibi quendam multum ueracem ac religiosum hominem quod ipsum Furseum ui-derit in prouincia Orientalium Anglorum illasque uisiones 15 ex ipsius ore audierit; adiciens quia tempus hiemis fuerit acerrimum et glacie constrictum, cum sedens in tenui ueste uir ita inter dicendum propter magnitudinem memorati timoris uel suauitatis quasi in mediae aetatis caumate sudauerit. 20

Cum ergo, ut ad superiora redeamus, multis annis in Scottia uerbum dei omnibus adnuntians tumultus inruen-tium turbarum non facile ferret, relictis omnibus quae habere uidebatur, ab ipsa quoque insula patria discessit et paucis cum fratribus per Brettones in prouinciam Anglorum 25 deuenit ibique praedicans uerbum, ut diximus, monasterium nobile construxit. quibus rite gestis, cupiens se ab omnibus saeculi huius et ipsius quoque monasterii negotiis alienare reliquit monasterii et animarum curam fratri suo Fullano et presbyteris Gobbano et Dicullo, et ipse ab omnibus mundi 30 rebus liber in anachoretica conuersatione uitam finire dis-

posuit. habuit alterum fratrem uocabulo Vltanum, qui de monasterii probatione diuturna ad heremiticam peruenerat uitam. hunc ergo solus petens annum totum cum eo in continentia et orationibus in cotidianis manuum uixit 5 laboribus.

Dein turbatam incursione gentilium prouinciam uidens et monasteriis quoque periculum imminere praeuidens, dimissis ordinate omnibus nauigauit Galliam, ibique a rege Francorum Hloduio uel patricio Ercunualdo honorifice sus-
10 ceptus monasterium construxit in loco Latineaco nominato, ac non multo post infirmitate correptus diem clausit ultimum. cuius corpus idem Ercunualdus patricius accipiens seruauit in porticu quodam ecclesiae quam in uilla sua, cui nomen est Perrona, faciebat, donec ipsa ecclesia dedicaretur.
15 quod dum post dies xxviii esset factum et corpus ipsum de porticu ablatum prope altare esset recondendum, inuentum est ita inlesum, ac si eadem hora de hac luce fuisset egressus. sed et post annos iiii constructa domuncula cultiore receptui corporis eiusdem ad orientem altaris, adhuc sine
20 macula corruptionis inuentum ibidem digno cum honore translatum est; ubi merita illius multis saepe constat deo operante claruisse uirtutibus. haec de corporis eius incorruptione breuiter attigimus, ut quanta esset uiri sublimitas legentibus notius existeret. quae cuncta in libello eius

HIS temporibus Middilangli, id est Mediterranei Angli, sub principe Peada filio Pendan regis fidem et sacra- menta ueritatis perceperunt. qui cum esset iuuenis optimus ac regis nomine ac persona dignissimus, praelatus est a patre regno gentis illius uenitque ad regem Nordanhymbro- 20 rum Osuiu, postulans filiam eius Alchfledam sibi coniugem dari: neque aliter quod petebat inpetrare potuit, nisi fidem Christi ac baptisma cum gente cui praeerat acciperet. at ille audita praedicatione ueritatis et promissione regni caelestis speque resurrectionis ac futurae immortalitatis, libenter se 25 Christianum fieri uelle confessus est, etiamsi uirginem non acciperet: persuasus maxime ad percipiendam fidem a filio regis Osuiu nomine Alchfrido, qui erat cognatus et amicus

eius, habens sororem ipsius coniugem uocabulo Cyniburgam filiam Pendan regis.

Baptizatus est ergo a Finano episcopo cum omnibus qui secum uenerant comitibus ac militibus eorumque famulis
5 uniuersis in uico regis inlustri qui uocatur Ad Murum. et acceptis iiii presbyteris, qui ad docendam baptizandamque gentem illius et eruditione et uita uidebantur idonei, multo cum gaudio reuersus est. erant autem presbyteri Cedd et Adda et Betti et Diuma, quorum ultimus natione Scottus,
10 ceteri fuere de Anglis. Adda autem erat frater Vttan, presbyteri inlustri et abbatis monasterii quod uocatur Ad Caprae Caput, cuius supra meminimus. uenientes ergo in prouinciam memorati sacerdotes cum principe praedicabant uerbum et libenter auditi sunt, multique cotidie et nobilium 15 et infirmorum abrenuntiata sorde idolatriae fidei sunt fonte abluti.

Nec prohibuit Penda rex quin etiam in sua, hoc est Merciorum, natione uerbum, si qui uellent audire, praedicaretur. quin potius odio habebat et despiciebat eos quos
20 fide Christi inbutos opera fidei non habere deprehendit, dicens contemnendos esse eos et miseros qui deo suo in quem crederent oboedire contemnerent. coepta sunt haec biennio ante mortem Pendan regis. ipso autem occiso cum Osuiu rex Christianus regnum eius acciperet ut in sequen-
25 tibus dicemus, factus est Diuma unus ex praefatis iiii sacerdotibus episcopus Mediterraneorum Anglorum simul et Merciorum, ordinatus a Finano episcopo. paucitas enim sacerdotum cogebat unum antistitem duobus populis praefici. qui cum pauco sub tempore non paucam domino
30 plebem adquisisset, defunctus est apud Mediterraneos Anglos in regione quae uocatur Infepingum. suscepit pro illo episcopatum Ceollach et ipse de natione Scottorum, qui non multo post relicto episcopatu reuersus est ad insulam Hii ubi plurimorum caput et arcem Scotti habuere coenobiorum, succedente illi in episcopatum Trumheri uiro religioso et monachica uita instituto, natione quidem Anglo sed a Scottis ordinato episcopo. quod temporibus Vulfheri 5 regis, de quo in sequentibus dicemus, factum est.

EO tempore etiam Orientales Saxones fidem, quam olim expulso Mellito antistite abiecerant, instantia regis Osuii receperunt. erat enim rex eiusdem gentis Sigberct, 10 qui post Sigberctum cognomento paruum regnauit, amicus eiusdem Osuii regis, qui cum frequenter ad eum in prouinciam Nordanhymbrorum ueniret, solebat eum hortari ad intellegendum deos esse non posse qui hominum manibus facti essent, dei creandi materiam lignum uel lapidem esse 15 non posse, quorum recisurae uel igni absumerentur uel in uasa quaelibet humani usus formarentur uel certe despectui habita foras proicerentur et pedibus conculcata in terram uerterentur. deum potius intellegendum maiestate incomprehensibilem humanis oculis inuisibilem omnipotentem 20 aeternum, qui caelum et terram et humanum genus creasset regeret et iudicaturus esset orbem in aequitate, cuius sedes aeterna non in uili et caduco metallo sed in caelis esset credenda, meritoque intellegendum quia omnes, qui uoluntatem eius a quo creati sunt discerent et facerent, aeterna 25 ab illo praemia essent percepturi. haec et huiusmodi multa cum rex Osuii regi Sigbercto amicali et quasi fraterno consilio saepe inculcaret, tandem iuuante amicorum consensu credidit et facto cum suis consilio cum exortatione fauenti-

bus cunctis et aduentibus fidei baptizatus est cum eis a Finano episcopo in uilla regia cuius supra meminimus, quae cognominatur Ad Murum. est enim iuxta murum, quo olim Romani Britanniam insulam praecinxere, xii milibus 5 passuum a mari orientali secreta.

Igitur rex Sigberct aeterni regni iam ciuis effectus temporalis sui regni sedem petiit, postulans ab Osuiu rege ut aliquos sibi doctores daret, qui gentem suam ad fidem Christi conuerterent ac fonte salutari abluerent. at ille
10 mittens ad prouinciam Mediterraneorum Anglorum clamauit ad se uirum dei Cedd, et dato illi socio altero quodam presbytero misit praedicare uerbum genti Orientalium Saxonum. ubi cum omnia perambulantes multam domino ecclesiam congregassent, contigit tempore quodam eundem Cedd
15 redire domum ac peruenire ad ecclesiam Lindisfaronensem propter conloquium Finani episcopi. qui ubi prosperatum ei opus euangelii comperit, fecit eum episcopum in gentem Orientalium Saxonum uocatis ad se in ministerium ordinationis aliis duobus episcopis. qui accepto gradu episcopatus 20 rediit ad prouinciam et maiore auctoritate coeptum opus explens fecit per loca ecclesias, presbyteros et diaconos ordinauit qui se in uerbo fidei et ministerio baptizandi adiuuarent, maxime in ciuitate quae lingua Saxonum Ythan-
25 caestir appellatur, sed et in illa quae Tilaburg cognominatur; quorum prior locus est in ripa Pentae amnis, secundus in ripa Tamensis. in quibus collecto examine famulorum Christi disciplinam uitae regularis, in quantum rudes adhuc capere poterant, custodire docuit.

Cumque tempore non pauco in praefata prouincia gaudente rege congaudente uniuerso populo uitae caelestis institutio cotidianum sumeret augmentum, contigit ipsum regem instigante omnium bonorum inimico propinquorum

suorum manu interfici. erant autem duo germani fratres qui hoc facinus patrarunt; qui cum interrogarentur quare hoc facerent, nil aliud respondere potuerunt, nisi ob hoc se iratos fuisse et inimicos regi, quod ille nimium suis parcere soleret inimicis et factas ab eis iniurias mox obsecrantibus placida mente demitteret. talis erat culpa regis pro qua occideretur, quod euangelica praecepta deuoto corde seruaret: in qua tamen eius morte innoxia iuxta praedictum uiri dei uera est eius culpa punita. habuerat enim unus ex his qui eum occiderunt comitibus inlicitum coniugium, quod cum episcopus prohibere et corrigere non posset, excommunicauit eum atque omnibus qui se audire uellent praecepit ne domum eius intrarent neque de cibis illius acciperent. contempsit autem rex praeceptum, et rogatus a comite intrauit epulaturus domum eius. qui cum abisset, obuiauit ei antistes, at rex intuens eum mox tremefactus desiluit equo ceciditque ante pedes eius ueniam reatus postulans. nam et episcopus pariter desiluit, sederat enim et ipse in equo. iratus autem tetigit regem iacentem uirga quam tenebat manu et pontificali auctoritate protestatus ‘dico tibi’ inquit ‘quia noluisti te continere a domu perditionis et damnati illius, tu in ipsa domu mori habes.’ sed credendum est quia talis mors uiri religiosi non solum talem culpam diluerit, sed etiam meritum eius auxerit: quia nimirum ob causam pietatis, quia propter obseruantiam mandatorum Christi contigit.

Successit autem Sigbercto in regnum Suidhelm filius Sexbaldi, qui baptizatus est ab ipso Cedde in prouincia Orientalium Anglorum in uico regio qui dicitur Rendlaesham, id est mansio Rendili; suscepitque eum ascendentem de fonte sancto Aediluald rex ipsius gentis Orientalium Anglorum frater Anna regis eorundem.

SOLEBAT autem idem uir domini, cum apud Orientales Saxones episcopatus officio fungeretur, saepius etiam suam, id est Nordanhymbrorum, prouinciam exhortandi gratia reuisere: quem cum Oidiluald filius Osualdi regis, qui in Derorum partibus regnum habebat, uirum sanctum et sapientem probumque moribus uideret, postulauit eum possessionem terrae aliquam a se ad construendum monasterium accipere, in quo ipse rex et frequentius ad deprecandum dominum uerbumque audiendum aduenire et defunctus sepeliri deberet. nam et seipsum fideliter credidit multum iuuari eorum orationibus cotidianis, qui illo in lōco domino seruirent. habuerat autem idem rex secum fratrem germanum eiusdem episcopi uocabulo Caelin uirum aequo deo deuotum, qui ipsi ac familiae ipsius uerbum et sacramenta fidei, erat enim presbyter, ministrare solebat, per cuius notitiam maxime ad diligendum noscendumque episcopum peruenit. fauens ergo uotis regis antistes elegit sibi locum monasterii construendi in montibus arduis ac remotis, in quibus latronum magis latibula ac lustra ferarum quam habitacula fuisse uidebantur hominum: ut iuxta prophetiam Isaiae 'in cubilibus, in quibus prius dracones habitabant, oriretur uiror calami et iunci,' id est fructus bonorum operum ibi nascerentur, ubi prius uel bestiae commorari uel homines bestialiter uiuere consuerant.

Studens autem uir domini acceptum monasterii locum primo precibus ac ieiuniis a pristina flagitiorum sorde purgare et sic in eo monasterii fundamenta iacere, postulauit a rege ut sibi totum xlmae tempus quod instabat faculta-

tem ac licentiam ibidem orationis causa demorandi concederet. quibus diebus cunctis excepta dominica ieiunium ad uesperam usque iuxta morem protelans, ne tunc quidem nisi panis permodicum et unum ouum gallinaceum cum paruo lacte aqua mixto percipiebat. dicebat enim hanc esse consuetudinem eorum a quibus normam disciplinae regularis didicerat, ut accepta nuper loca ad faciendum monasterium uel ecclesiam prius orationibus ac ieiuniis domino consecrent. cumque x dies xlmae restarent, uenit qui clamaret eum ad regem: at ille, ne opus religiosum negotiorum regalium causa intermitteretur, petiit presbyterum suum Cynibillum, qui etiam frater germanus erat ipsius, pia coepta complere. cui cum ille libenter adquiesceret, expleto studio ieiuniorum et orationis fecit ibi monasterium, quod nunc Laestingaeu uocatur, et religiosis moribus iuxta ritus Lindisfarnensium ubi educatus erat instituit.

HIS temporibus rex Osuiu cum acerbas atque intollera- biles pateretur inruptiones saepedicti regis Merciorum qui fratrem eius occiderat, ad ultimum necessitate cogente 20 promisit se ei innumera et maiora quam credi potest ornamenta regia uel donaria in pretium pacis largiturum, dummodo ille domum rediret et prouincias regni eius usque ad internicionem uastare desineret. cumque rex perfidus nullatinus precibus illius assensum praeberet, qui totam 25 eius gentem a paruo usque ad magnum delere atque exterminare decreuerat, respexit ille ad diuinae auxilium pietatis, quo ab impietate barbarica posset eripi: uotoque se obligans ‘si paganus’ inquit ‘nescit accipere nostra donaria, offeramus ei qui nouit domino deo nostro.’ uouit ergo quia,

si uictor existeret, filiam suam domino sacra uirginitate dicandam offerret simul et xii possessiones praediorum ad construenda monasteria donaret: et sic cum paucissimo exercitu se certamini dedit. denique fertur quia tricies maiorem pagani habuerint exercitum; siquidem ipsi xxx 5 legiones ducibus nobilissimis instructas in bello habuere, quibus Osuiu rex cum Alchfrido filio, perparuum ut dixi habens exercitum sed Christo duce confisus, occurrit. nam alius filius eius Ecgfrid eo tempore in prouincia Merciorum apud reginam Cynuisse obses tenebatur; filius autem Osualdi 10 regis Oidiluald, qui eis auxilio esse debuerat, in parte erat aduersariorum eisdemque contra patriam et patrum suum pugnaturis ductor exstiterat, quamuis ipso tempore pugnandi sese pugnae subtraxerat euentumque discriminis tuto in loco exspectabat. inito ergo certamine fugati sunt et 15 caesi pagani, duces regii xxx qui ad auxilium uenerant pene omnes interfecti: in quibus Aedilheri, frater Anna regis Orientalium Anglorum qui post eum regnauit, auctor ipse belli, perditis militibus siue auxiliis interemtus. et quia prope fluuium Vinuaed pugnatum est, qui tunc prae inun- 20 dantia pluuiarum late alueum suum immo omnes ripas suas transierat, contigit ut multo plures aqua fugientes quam bellantes perderet ensis.

Tunc rex Osuiu iuxta quod domino uouerat pro conlata sibi uictoria gratias deo referens, dedit filiam suam Aelffle- 25 dam, quae uixdum unius anni aetatem impleuerat, perpetua ei uirginitate consecrandam: donatis insuper xii possessiunculis terrarum, in quibus ablato studio militiae terrestri, ad exercendam militiam caelestem supplicandumque pro pace gentis eius aeterna deuotioni sedulae monachorum 30 locus facultasque suppeteret. e quibus uidelicet possessiunculis sex in prouincia Derorum sex in Berniciorum dedit;

singulae uero possessiones x erant familiarum, id est simul omnes cxx. intrauit autem praefata regis Osuii filia deo dedicanda monasterium quod nuncupatur Heruteu, id est insula cerui, cui tunc Hild abbatissa praefuit. quae post
 5 biennium comparata possessione x familiarum in loco qui dicitur Streanæshalch, ibi monasterium construxit; in quo memorata regis filia primo discipula uitae regularis deinde etiam magistra extitit, donec completo undelx annorum numero ad complexum et nuptias sponsi caelestis uirgo beata
 10 intraret. in quo monasterio et ipsa et pater eius Osuii et mater eius Aeanfled et pater matris eius Aeduini et multi alii nobiles in ecclesia sancti apostoli Petri sepulti sunt. hoc autem bellum rex Osuii in regione Loidis tertio decimo regni sui anno xuii<sup>a</sup> die kalendarum Decembrium cum mag-
 15 na utriusque populi utilitate confecit. nam et suam gentem ab hostili paganorum depopulatione liberauit, et ipsam gentem Merciorum finitimarumque prouinciarum desecto capite perfido ad fidei Christianae gratiam conuertit.

Primus autem in prouincia Merciorum simul et Lindisfa-20 rorum ac Mediterraneorum Anglorum factus est episcopus Diuma, ut supra diximus, qui apud Mediterraneos Anglos defunctus ac sepultus est, secundus Cellach qui relicto episcopatus officio uiuens ad Scottiam rediit, uterque de genere Scottorum: tertius Trumheri, de natione quidem
 25 Anglorum sed edoctus et ordinatus a Scottis, qui erat abbas in monasterio quod dicitur Ingetlingum. ipse est locus ubi occisus est rex Osuini, ut supra meminimus. nam regina Aeanfled propinqua illius ob castigationem necis eius iniustae postulauit a rege Osuio, ut donaret illi locum
 30 monasterium construendi praefato dei famulo Trumherae, quia propinquus et ipse erat regis occisi: in quo uidelicet monasterio orationes assiduae pro utriusque regis, id est

et occisi et eius qui occidere iussit, salute aeterna fierent. idem autem rex Osuiu tribus annis post occisionem Pendan regis Merciorum genti necnon et ceteris australium prouinciarum populis praefuit: qui etiam gentem Pictorum maxima ex parte regno Anglorum subiecit.

Quo tempore donauit praefato Peada filio regis Pendan, eo quod esset cognatus suus, regnum australe Merciorum, qui sunt ut dicunt familiarum quinque milium, discreti fluuio Treanta ab aquilonalibus Merciiis, quorum terra est familiarum uii milium. sed idem Peada proximo uere <sup>10</sup> multum nefarie peremptus est prodicione, ut dicunt, coniugis suae in ipso tempore festi paschalis. completis autem tribus annis post interfectionem Pendan regis rebellarunt aduersus regem Osuiu duces gentis Merciorum Immin et Eafa et Eadberct, leuato in regem Vulfhære filio eiusdem Pendan <sup>15</sup> adolescente quem occultum seruauerant, et eiectis principibus regis non proprii fines suos fortiter simul et libertatem receperunt: sicque cum suo rege liberi Christo uero regi pro sempiterno in caelis regno seruire gaudebant. praefuit autem rex idem genti Merciorum annis x et uii, habuitque <sup>20</sup> primum episcopum Trumheri de quo supra diximus, secundum Iaruman, tertium Ceaddan, quartum Vynfridum. omnes hi per ordinem sibimet succedentes sub rege Vulfhære gentis Merciorum episcopatu sunt functi.

INTEREA Aidano episcopo de hac uita sublato Finan pro illo gradum episcopatus a Scottis ordinatus ac missus acceperat. qui in insula Lindisfarnensi fecit ecclesiam episcopali sedi congruam, quam tamen more Scottorum non de lapide sed de robore secto totam composuit atque harundine texit, quam tempore sequente reuerentissimus archiepiscopus Theodorus in honore beati apostoli Petri dedicauit. sed et episcopus loci ipsius Eadberct ablata harundine 5 plumbi lamminis eam totam, hoc est et tectum et ipsos quoque parietes eius, cooperire curauit.

His temporibus quaestio facta est frequens et magna de obseruatione paschae, confirmantibus eis qui de Cantia uel de Galliis aduenerant, quod Scotti dominicum paschae
 10 diem contra uniuersalis ecclesiae morem celebrarent. erat in his acerrimus ueri paschae defensor nomine Ronan, natione quidem Scottus sed in Galliae uel Italiae partibus regulam ecclesiasticae ueritatis edoctus. qui cum Finano con-
 15 fligens, multos quidem correxit uel ad solertiores ueritatis inquisitionem accendit, nequaquam tamen Finanum emendare potuit: quin potius, quod esset homo ferocis animi, acerbiorum castigando et apertum ueritatis aduersarium reddidit. obseruabat autem Iacob, diaconus quondam ut supra docuimus uenerabilis archiepiscopi Paulini,
 20 uerum et catholicum pascha cum omnibus quos ad correctiorem uiam erudire poterat. obseruabat et regina Eanfled cum suis iuxta quod in Cantia fieri uiderat, habens secum de Cantia presbyterum catholicae obseruationis nomine Romanum. unde nonnumquam contigisse fertur illis tempori-
 25 bus, ut bis in anno uno pascha celebraretur, et cum rex pascha dominicum solutis ieiuniis faceret, tum regina cum suis persistens adhuc in ieiunio diem palmarum celebraret. haec autem dissonantia paschalis obseruantiae uiuente Aidano patienter ab omnibus tolerabatur, qui patenter intel-30 lexerant quia, etsi pascha contra morem eorum qui ipsum miserant facere non potuit, opera tamen fidei pietatis et dilectionis iuxta morem omnibus sanctis consuetum dili-

genter exsequi curauit. unde ab omnibus, etiam his qui de pascha aliter sentiebant, merito diligebatur, nec solum a mediocribus uerum ab ipsis quoque episcopis, Honorio Cantuariorum et Felice Orientalium Anglorum, uenerationi habitus est.

Defuncto autem Finano qui post illum fuit, cum Colmanus in episcopatum succederet et ipse missus a Scottia, grauior de obseruatione paschae necnon et de aliis ecclesiasticae uitae disciplinis controuersia nata est. unde mouit haec quaestio sensus et corda multorum, timentium ne forte accepto 10 Christianitatis uocabulo in uacuum current aut cucurrissent. peruenit et ad ipsas principum aures, Osuii uidelicet regis et filii eius Alchfridi. qui nimirum Osuii a Scottis edoctus ac baptizatus, illorum etiam lingua optime inbutus, nil melius quam quod illi docuissent autumabat; porro 15 Alchfrid magistrum habens eruditionis Christianae Vilfridum uirum doctissimum (nam et Romam prius propter doctrinam ecclesiasticam adierat et apud Dalfinum archiepiscopum Galliarum Lugduni multum temporis egerat, a quo etiam tonsurae ecclesiasticae coronam susceperat), huius doctri- 20 nam omnibus Scottorum traditionibus iure praefendam sciebat: unde ei etiam donauerat monasterium xl familiarum in loco qui dicitur Inhrypum. quem uidelicet locum paulo ante eis qui Scottos sequebantur in possessionem monasterii dederat, sed quia illi postmodum data sibi op- 25 tione magis loco cedere quam suam mutare consuetudinem uolebant, dedit eum illi qui dignam loco et doctrinam haberet et uitam. uenerat eo tempore Agilberctus Occidentalium Saxonum episcopus, cuius supra meminimus, amicus Alchfridi regis et Vilfridi abbatis, ad prouinciam 30 Nordanhymbrorum et apud eos aliquandiu demorabatur; qui etiam Vilfridum rogatu Alchfridi in praefato suo monasterio presbyterum fecit. habebat autem secum ipse presbyterum nomine Agathonem. mota ergo ibi quaestione de pascha uel tonsura uel aliis rebus ecclesiasticis, dispositum est ut in monasterio quod dicitur Strenæshalc, quod interpretatur sinus Fari, cui tunc Hild abbatissa deo deuota femina praefuit, synodus fieri et haec quaestio terminari deberet. ueneruntque illo reges ambo, pater scilicet et filius; episcopi, Colman cum clericis suis de Scottia, Agilberctus cum Agathone et Vilfrido presbyteris. Iacobus et Romanus in horum parte erant: Hild abbatissa cum suis in parte Scottorum, in qua erat etiam uenerabilis episcopus Cedd iamdudum ordinatus a Scottis ut supra docuimus, qui et interpretis in eo concilio uigilantissimus utriusque partis extitit.

15 Primusque rex Osuiu praemissa praefatione, quod oportet eos qui uni deo seruirent unam uiuendi regulam tenere nec discrepare in celebratione sacramentorum caelestium qui unum omnes in caelis regnum expectarent, inquirendum potius quae esset uerior traditio et hanc ab omnibus com-
 20 muniter esse sequendam, iussit primo dicere episcopum suum Colmanum, qui esset ritus et unde originem ducens ille quem ipse sequeretur. tum Colmanus 'pascha' inquit 'quod agere soleo a maioribus meis accepi qui me huc episcopum miserunt, quod omnes patres nostri uiri deo
 25 dilecti eodem modo celebrasse noscuntur. quod ne cui contemnendum et reprobandum esse uideatur, ipsum est quod beatus euangelista Iohannes discipulus specialiter domino dilectus cum omnibus quibus praecerat ecclesiis celebrasse legitur.' quo haec et his similia dicente, iussit
 30 rex et Agilberctum proferre in medium morem suae observationis unde initium haberet uel qua hunc auctoritate sequeretur. respondit Agilberctus: 'loquatur, obsecro, uice

mea discipulus meus Vilfrid presbyter, quia unum ambo sapimus cum ceteris qui hic adsident ecclesiasticae tradi-tionis cultoribus; et ille melius ac manifestius ipsa lingua Anglorum, quam ego per interpretem, potest explanare quae sentimus.' tunc Vilfrid, iubente rege ut diceret, ita exorsus 5 est: 'pascha quod facimus' inquit 'uidimus Romae, ubi beati apostoli Petrus et Paulus uixere docuere passi sunt et sepulti, ab omnibus celebrari: hoc in Italia, hoc in Gallia, quas discendi uel orandi studio pertransiuimus, ab omnibus agi conspeximus: hoc Africam Asiam Aegyptum Graeciam 10 et omnem orbem, quacumque Christi ecclesia diffusa est, per diuersas nationes et linguas uno ac non diuerso temporis ordine gerere comperimus praeter hos tantum et obstina-tionis eorum complices, Pictos dico et Brettones, cum quibus de duabus ultimis oceani insulis, et his non totis, 15 contra totum orbem stulto labore pugnant.' cui haec dicenti respondit Colmanus: 'mirum quare stultum appellare uelitis laborem nostrum, in quo tanti apostoli, qui super pectus domini recumbere dignus fuit, exempla sectamur;
 cum ipsum sapientissime uixisse omnis mundus nouerit.' 20
 at Vilfridus 'absit' inquit 'ut Iohannem stultitiae reprehendamus, cum scita legis Mosaicae iuxta litteram seruaret, iudaizante adhuc in multis ecclesia nec subito ualentibus apostolis omnem legis obseruantiam quae a deo instituta est abdicare, quomodo simulacra, quae a daemonibus in- 25 uenta sunt, repudiare omnes qui ad fidem ueniunt necesse est: uidelicet ne scandalum facerent eis qui inter gentes erant Iudaeis. hinc est enim quod Paulus Timotheum circumcidit, quod hostias in templo immolauit, quod cum Aquila et Priscilla caput Chorinti totondit, ad nihil uidelicet 30 utile, nisi ad scandalum uitandum Iudaeorum: hinc quod eidem Paulo Iacobus ait: "uides, frater, quot milia sunt in Iudaeis qui crediderunt? et omnes hi aemulatores sunt legis." nec tamen hodie clarescente per mundum euangelio necesse est, immo nec licitum, fidelibus uel circumcidi uel hostias deo uictimarum offerre carnalium. itaque Iohannes

 5 secundum legis consuetudinem xiiii<sup>a</sup> die mensis primi ad uesperam incipiebat celebrationem festi paschalis, nil curans utrum haec sabbato an alia qualibet feria proueniret. at uero Petrus cum Romae praedicaret, memor quia dominus
 10 prima sabbati resurrexit a mortuis ac mundo spem resurrectionis contulit, ita pascha faciendum intellexit, ut secundum consuetudinem ac praecepta legis xiiii<sup>am</sup> lunam primi mensis, aequae sicut Iohannes, orientem ad uesperam semper
 15 exspectaret, et hac exorta, si dominica dies quae tunc prima sabbati uocabatur erat mane uentura, in ipsa uespera pascha dominicum celebrare incipiebat, quomodo et nos hodie
 30 ceptum est: in quam obseruantiam imitandam omnes beati Iohannis successores in Asia post obitum eius et omnis per orbem ecclesia conuersa est. et hoc esse uerum pascha, hoc solum fidelibus celebrandum, Niceno concilio non statutum nouiter sed confirmatum est, ut ecclesiastica docet historia. unde constat uos, Colmane, neque Iohannis ut autumatis exempla sectari neque Petri cuius traditioni sci-

entes contradicitis, neque legi neque euangelio in obseruatione uestri paschae congruere. Iohannes enim ad legis Mosaicae decreta tempus paschale custodiens nil de prima sabbati curabat; quod uos non facitis, qui non nisi prima sabbati pascha celebratis. Petrus a xu<sup>a</sup> luna usque ad 5 xxi<sup>am</sup> diem paschae dominicum celebrabat; quod uos non facitis, qui a xiiii<sup>a</sup> usque ad xx<sup>am</sup> lunam diem dominicum paschae obseruatis: ita ut xiii<sup>a</sup> luna ad uesperam saepius pascha incipiatis, cuius neque lex ullam fecit mentionem neque auctor ac dator euangelii dominus in ea sed in 10 xiiii<sup>a</sup> uel uetus pascha manducauit ad uesperam uel noui testamenti sacramenta in commemorationem suae passionis ecclesiae celebranda tradidit. item lunam xxi<sup>am</sup> quam lex maxime celebrandam commendauit, a celebratione uestri paschae funditus eliminatis: sicque, ut dixi, in celebratione 15 summae festiuitatis neque Iohanni neque Petro neque legi neque euangelio concordatis.'

At Vilfridus 'constat' inquit 'Anatolium uirum sanctissimum doctissimum ac laude esse dignissimum; sed quid 30 uobis cum illo, cum nec eius decreta seruetis? ille enim in pascha suo regulam utique ueritatis sequens circulum x et uiiii annorum posuit, quem uos aut ignoratis aut agnitum

 5 adnotauit, ut hanc declinata eadem die esse xxi<sup>am</sup> crederet. cuius regulam distinctionis uos ignorasse probat, quod aliquoties pascha manifestissime ante plenilunium, id est in xiii<sup>a</sup> luna, facitis. de patre autem uestro Columba et sequacibus eius, quorum sanctitatem uos imitari et regulam ac
 10 praecepta caelestibus signis confirmata sequi perhibetis, possem respondere, quia multis in iudicio dicentibus domino, quod in nomine eius prophetauerint et daemonia eiecerint et uirtutes multas fecerint, responsurus sit dominus quia numquam eos nouerit. sed absit ut hoc de patribus uestris
 15 dicam, quia iustius multo est de incognitis bonum credere quam malum; unde et illos dei famulos ac deo dilectos esse non nego, qui simplicitate rustica sed intentione pia deum dilexerunt. neque illis multum obesse reor talem paschae obseruantiam, quamdiu nullus aduenerat qui eis instituti
 20 perfectioris decreta quae sequerentur ostenderet: quos utique credo, si qui tunc ad eos catholicus calculator adueniret, sic eius monita fuisse secuturos, quomodo ea quae nouerant ac didicerant dei mandata probantur fuisse secuti. tu autem et socii tui, si audita decreta sedis apostolicae
 25 immo uniuersalis ecclesiae et haec litteris sacris confirmata sequi contemnit, absque ulla dubitatione peccatis. etsi enim patres tui sancti fuerunt, numquid uniuersali quae per orbem est ecclesiae Christi eorum est paucitas uno de angulo extremae insulae praeferenda? et si sanctus erat ac 30 potens uirtutibus ille Columba uester, immo et noster si Christi erat, numquid praeferri potuit beatissimo apostolorum principi, cui dominus ait: “tu es Petrus et super hanc petram aedificabo ecclesiam meam et portae inferi non praeualebunt aduersus eam et tibi dabo clauēs regni caelorum?"

Haec perorante Vilfrido dixit rex: 'uerene, Colmane, haec illi Petro dicta sunt a domino?' qui ait: 'uere, rex.' 5
 at ille 'habetis' inquit 'uos proferre aliquid tantae potestatis uestro Columbae datum?' at ait ille: 'nihil.' rursum rex 'si utrique uestrum' inquit 'in hoc sine ulla controuersia consentiunt, quod haec principaliter Petro dicta et ei clauēs regni caelorum sint datae a domino?' responderunt 'etiam' 10
 utrique. at ille ita conclusit: 'et ego uobis dico, quia hic est ostiarius ille cui ego contradicere nolo sed, in quantum noui uel ualeo, huius cupio in omnibus oboedire statutis, ne forte me adueniente ad fores regni caelorum non sit qui reseret, auerso illo qui clauēs tenere probatur.' 15

Haec dicente rege fauerunt adsidentes quique siue adstantes maiores una cum mediocribus, et abdicata minus perfecta institutione ad ea quae meliora cognouerant sese transferre festinabant.

FINITOQVE conflictu ac soluta contione Agilberctus domum rediit. Colman uidens spretam suam doctrinam sectamque esse despectam, adsumtis his qui se sequi uoluerunt, id est qui pascha catholicum et tonsuram coronae (nam et de hoc quaestio non minima erat) recipere nolebant, 25

facta est autem haec quaestio anno dominicae incarnationis dclxiii<sup>o</sup>, qui fuit annus Osuii regis xxii<sup>us</sup>, episcopatus autem Scottorum quem gesserunt in prouincia Anglorum annus xxx<sup>us</sup>; siquidem Aidan x et vii annis, Finan decem, Colman 5 tribus episcopatum tenuere.

Reuerso autem patriam Colmano, suscepit pro illo pontificatum Nordanhybrorum famulus Christi Tuda, qui erat apud Scottos austrinos eruditus atque ordinatus episcopus, habens iuxta morem prouinciae illius coronam tonsurae

Quantae autem parsimoniae cuius continentiae fuerit 30 ipse cum praedecessoribus suis, testabatur etiam locus ille quem regebant, ubi abeuntibus eis excepta ecclesia paucissimae domus repertae sunt, hoc est illae solummodo sine quibus conuersatio ciuilis esse nullatinus poterat. nil pe-cuniarum absque pecoribus habebant, si quid enim pecuniae a diuitibus accipiebant, mox pauperibus dabant. nam neque ad susceptionem potentium saeculi uel pecunias colligi uel domus praeuideri necesse fuit, qui numquam ad ecclesiam nisi orationis tantum et audiendi uerbi dei causa ueniebant. rex ipse, cum oportunitas exegisset, cum u tantum aut u<sup>i</sup> ministris ueniebat et expleta in ecclesia oratione discedebat: quod si forte eos ibi refici contingeret, simplici tantum et cotidiano fratrum cibo contenti nil ultra quaerebant. tota enim fuit tunc sollicitudo doctoribus illis deo seruiendi non saeculo, tota cura cordis excolendi non uentris. unde et in magna erat ueneratione tempore illo religionis habitus, ita ut, ubicumque clericus aliqui aut monachus adueniret, gaudenter ab omnibus tamquam dei famulus exciperetur: etiam si in itinere pergens inueniretur, adcurrerent et flexa ceruice uel manu signari uel ore illius se benedici gaudebant; uerbis quoque horum exhortatoriis diligenter auditum praebebant. sed et diebus dominicis ad ecclesiam siue ad monasteria certatim non reficiendi corporis sed audiendi sermonis dei gratia confluebant: et si quis sacerdotum in uicum forte deueniret, mox congregati in unum uicani uerbum uitae ab illo expetere curabant. nam neque alia ipsis sacerdotibus aut clericis uicos adeundi, quam praedicandi baptizandi infirmos uisitandi et, ut breuiter dicam, animas curandi causa fuit: qui in tantum erant ab omni auaritiae peste castigati, ut nemo territoria ac possessiones ad construenda monasteria, nisi a potentibus saeculi coactus, acciperet. quae consuetudo per omnia aliquanto post haec tempore in ecclesiis Nordanhymbrorum seruata est. sed de his satis dictum.

 5 depopulatis prius australibus Britanniae plagis, Nordan-hymbrorum quoque prouinciam corripiciens atque acerba clade diutius longe lateque desaeuiens, magnam hominum multitudinem strauit. qua plaga praefatus domini sacerdos Tuda raptus est de mundo, et in monasterio quod dicitur

 eo tempore multi nobilium simul et mediocrium de gente Anglorum, qui tempore Finani et Colmani episcoporum relicta insula patria uel diuinae lectionis uel continentioris

 monasticae conuersationi fideliter mancipauerunt, alii magis

Erant inter hos duo iuuenes magnae indolis de nobilibus

ANNO memorato praefatae eclipsis et mox subsequēntis pestilentiae, quo et Colman episcopus unanima catholicorum intentione superatus ad suos reuersus est, Deusdedit u<sup>us</sup> ecclesiae Doruuernensis episcopus obiit ii iduum Iuliarum; sed et Erconberct rex Cantuariorum eodem mense ac die defunctus Ecgbercto filio sedem regni reliquit, quam ille susceptam per uiiii annos tenuit. tunc cessante non pauco tempore episcopatu missus est Romam ab ipso simul et a rege Nordanhymbrorum Osuio, ut praecedente libro paucis diximus, Vighard presbyter uir in ecclesiasticis disciplinis doctissimus de genere Anglorum, petentibus hunc ecclesiae Anglorum archiepiscopum ordinari: missis pariter apostolico papae donariis et aureis atque argenteis uasis non paucis. qui ubi Romam peruenit, cuius sedi apostolicae tempore illo Vitalianus praeerat, postquam itineris sui causam praefato papae apostolico patefecit, non multo post et ipse et omnes pene qui cum eo aduenerant socii pestilentia superueniente deleti sunt.

At apostolicus papa habito de his consilio quaesiuit sedulus quem ecclesiis Anglorum archiepiscopum mitteret. erat autem in monasterio Hiridano, quod est non longe a Neapoli Campaniae, abbas Hadrianus uir natione Afer sacris litteris diligenter inbutus monasterialibus simul et ecclesiasticis disciplinis institutus Graecae pariter et Latinae linguae peritissimus. hunc ad se accitum papa iussit episcopatu accepto Britanniam uenire. qui indignum se tanto gradui respondens ostendere posse se dixit alium, cuius magis ad suscipiendum episcopatum et eruditio conueniret et aetas. cumque monachum quendam de uicino uirginum monasterio nomine Andream pontifici offerret, hic ab omnibus qui nouere dignus episcopatu iudicatus est, uerum pondus corporeae infirmitatis, ne episcopus fieri posset, obstitit. et rursus Hadrianus ad suscipiendum episcopatum actus est: qui petens inducias, si forte alium, qui episcopus ordinaretur, ex tempore posset inuenire. 5 10

Erat ipso tempore Romae monachus Hadriano notus nomine Theodorus, natus Tarso Ciliciae, uir et saeculari et diuina litteratura et Graece instructus et Latine, probus moribus et aetate uenerandus, id est annos habens aetatis lx et ui. hunc offerens Hadrianus pontifici, ut episcopus ordinaretur obtinuit: his tamen condicionibus interpositis, ut ipse eum perduceret Britanniam eo quod iam bis partes Galliarum diuersis ex causis adisset et ob id maiorem huius itineris peragendi notitiam haberet sufficiensque esset in possessione hominum priorum, et ut ei doctrinae cooperator existens diligenter adtenderet ne quid ille contrarium ueritati fidei Graecorum more in ecclesiam cui praeset introduceret. qui subdiaconus ordinatus iiii exspectauit menses, donec illi coma cresceret, quo in coronam tondi posset; habuerat enim tonsuram more orientalium sancti apostoli Pauli. qui ordinatus est a Vitaliano papa anno dominicae incarnationis dclxviii sub die vii kalendarum Aprilium, dominica. et ita una cum Hadriano vi kalendas Iunias Britanniam missus est. qui cum pariter per mare ad Massiliam et deinde per terram Arhelas peruenissent et tradi-tribuit eis. qua accepta Theodorus profectus est ad Agil-5 berctum Parisiorum episcopum, de quo superius diximus, et ab eo benigne susceptus et multo tempore habitus est.

 Hadrianus perrexit primum ad Emme Senonum et postea ad Faronem Meldorum episcopos, et bene sub eis diutius fuit: coegerat enim eos inminens hiems ut ubicumque 10 potuissent quieti manerent. quod cum nuntii certi narrassent regi Ecgbercto, esse scilicet episcopum quem pe-tierant a Romano antistite in regno Francorum, misit illo continuo Raedfridum praefectum suum ad adducendum eum: quo cum uenisset, adsumsit Theodorum cum Ebrini 15 licentia, et perduxit eum ad portum cui nomen est Quen-tauic, ibi fatigatus infirmitate aliquantisper moratus est et, cum conualescere coepisset, nauigauit Britanniam. Hadri-anum autem Ebrinus retinuit, quoniam suspicabatur eum habere aliquam legationem imperatoris ad Britanniae reges

 sed cum nihil tale illum habere uel habuisse ueraciter com-

 statim ut ad illum uenit, dedit monasterium beati Petri apostoli, ubi archiepiscopi Cantiae sepeliri, ut praefatus sum, uersum Anglorum gentes morabantur, nam et libentissime ab omnibus suscipiebatur atque audiebatur, rectum uiuendi ordinem ritum paschae celebrandi canonicum per omnia comitante et cooperante Hadriano disseminabat. isque primus erat in archiepiscopis, cui omnis Anglorum ecclesia 10 manus dare consentiret. et quia litteris sacris simul et saecularibus ut diximus abundanter ambo erant instructi, congregata discipulorum caterua scientiae salutaris cotidie flumina inrigandis eorum cordibus emanabant: ita ut etiam metricae artis astronomiae et arithmeticae ecclesiasticae 15 disciplinam inter sacrorum apicum uolumina suis auditoribus contraderent. indicio est quod usque hodie supersunt de eorum discipulis qui Latinam Graecamque linguam aequae ut propriam in qua nati sunt norunt. neque umquam prorsus ex quo Britanniam petierunt Angli feliciora fuere tempora; 20

dum et fortissimos Christianosque habentes reges cunctis barbaris nationibus essent terrori et omnium uota ad nuper audita caelestis regni gaudia penderent et quicumque lectionibus sacris cuperent erudiri haberent in promptu magistros qui docerent. 25

Sed et sonos cantandi in ecclesia, quos eatenus in Cantia tantum nouerant, ab hoc tempore per omnes Anglorum ecclesias discere coeperunt: primusque, excepto Iacobo de quo supra diximus, cantandi magister Nordanhymbrorum ecclesiis Aeddi cognomento Stephanus fuit, inuitatus de 30
Cantia a reuerentissimo uiro Wilfrido, qui primus inter

episcopos qui de Anglorum gente essent catholicum uiuendi morem ecclesiis Anglorum tradere didicit.

Itaque Theodorus perlustrans uniuersa ordinabat locis oportunis episcopos et ea quae minus perfecta repperit his quoque iuuantibus corripuit. in quibus et Ceadda episcopus cum argueret non fuisse rite consecratum, respondens ipse uoce humillima 'si me' inquit 'nosti episcopatum non rite suscepisse, libenter ab officio discedo, quippe qui neque me umquam hoc esse dignum arbitrabar, sed obedientiae causa iussus subire hoc, quamuis indignus consensi.' at ille audiens humilitatem responsionis eius dixit non eum episcopatum demittere debere: sed ipse ordinationem eius denuo catholica ratione consummauit. eo autem tempore, quo defuncto Deusdedit Dóruuernensi ecclesiae episcopus quae rebatur ordinabatur mittebatur, Vilfrid quoque de Britania Galliam ordinandus est missus: et quoniam ante Theodorum rediit, ipse etiam in Cantia presbyteros et diaconos, usquedum archiepiscopus ad sedem suam perueniret, ordinabat. at ipse ueniens mox in ciuitate Hrofi, ubi defuncto Damiano episcopatus iam diu cessauerat, ordinauit uirum magis ecclesiasticis disciplinis institutum et uitae simplicitate contentum quam in saeculi rebus strenuum, cui nomen erat Putta, maxime autem modulandi in ecclesia more Romanorum, quem a discipulis beati papae Gregorii didicerat, peritum.

III

EO tempore prouinciae Merciorum rex Vulfheri praefuit qui, cum mortuo Iarumanno sibi quoque suisque a Theodoro episcopum dari peteret, non eis nouum uoluit ordinare episcopum, sed postulauit a rege Osuio ut illis episcopus Ceadda daretur, qui tunc in monasterio suo quod

est in Læstingae quietam uitam agebat, Vilfrido administrante episcopatum Eboracensis ecclesiae necnon et omnium Nordanhymbrorum, sed et Pictorum, quousque rex Osuii imperium protendere poterat. et quia moris erat eidem reuerentissimo antistiti opus euangelii magis ambulando per loca quam equitando perficere, iussit eum Theodorus ubicumque longius iter instaret equitare, multumque renitentem studio et amore pii laboris ipse eum manu sua leuauit in equum, quia nimirum sanctum esse uirum comperit, atque equo uehi quo esset necesse compulit. susceptum itaque episcopatum gentis Merciorum simul et Lindisfarorum Ceadda iuxta exempla patrum antiquorum in magna uitae perfectione administrare curauit: cui etiam rex Vulfheri donauit terram l familiarum ad construendum monasterium in loco qui dicitur Adbaruæ, id est, Ad Nemus, in prouincia Lindissi, in quo usque hodie instituta ab ipso regularis uitae uestigia permanent.

Habuit autem sedem episcopalem in loco qui uocatur Lyccidfelth, in quo et defunctus ac sepultus est; ubi usque hodie sequentium quoque prouinciae illius episcoporum sedes est. fecerat uero sibi mansionem non longe ab ecclesia remotiorem; in qua secretius cum paucis, id est uii siue uiiii, fratribus, quoties a labore et ministerio uerbi uacabat, orare ac legere solebat. qui cum in illa prouincia duobus annis ac dimidio ecclesiam gloriosissime rexisset, adfuit superno dispensante iudicio tempus, de quo loquitur ecclesiastes: 'quia tempus mittendi lapides et tempus colligendi.' superuenit namque clades diuinitus missa, quae per mortem carnis uiuos ecclesiae lapides de terrenis sedibus ad aedificium caeleste transferret. cumque plurimis de ecclesia eiusdem reuerentissimi antistitis de carne subtractis ueniret hora ipsius ut transiret ex hoc mundo ad

 5 magni meriti et pura intentione supernae retributionis mundum derelinquens dignusque per omnia cui dominus specialiter sua reuelaret arcana, dignus cui fidem narranti audientes accommodarent. uenerat enim cum regina Aedilthyde de prouincia Orientalium Anglorum eratque
 10 primus ministrorum et princeps domus eius. qui cum crescente fidei feruore saeculo abrenuntiare disponderet, non hoc segniter fecit, sed adeo se mundi rebus exiit ut, relictis omnibus quae habebat, simplici tantum habitu indutus et securim atque asciam in manu ferens ueniret ad monas-
 15 terium eiusdem reuerentissimi patris, quod uocatur Laestingaeu. non enim ad otium, ut quidam, sed ad laborem se monasterium intrare signabat. quod ipsum etiam facto monstrauit: nam quo minus sufficebat meditationi scripturarum, eo amplius operi manuum studium inpendebat.
 20 denique cum episcopo in praefata mansione pro suae reuerentia deuotionis inter fratres habitus, cum illi intus lectioni uacabant, ipse foris quae opus esse uidebantur operabatur. qui cum die quadam tale aliquid foris ageret digressis ad ecclesiam sociis, ut dicere coeperam, et episcopus solus in 25 oratorio loci lectioni uel orationi operam daret, audiuit repente, ut postea referebat, uocem suauissimam cantantium atque laetantium de caelo ad terras usque descendere: quam uidelicet uocem ab euroaustro, id est ab alto brumalis exortus, primo se audisse dicebat ac deinde paulatim eam
 30 sibi adpropiare, donec ad tectum usque oratorii in quo erat episcopus perueniret: quod ingressa totum impleuit atque in gyro circumdedit. at ille dum sollicitus in ea quae

audiebat animum intenderet, audiuit denuo transacto quasi dimidiae horae spatio ascendere de tecto eiusdem oratorii idem laetitiae canticum et ipsa qua uenerat uia ad caelos usque cum ineffabili dulcedine reuerti. qui cum aliquan-tulum horae quasi adtonitus maneret et quid haec essent 5 sollerti animo scrutaretur, aperuit episcopus fenestram oratorii et sonitum manu faciens, ut saepe consueuerat, si quis foris esset, ad se intrare praecepit. introiuit ille con-citus, cui dixit antistes: ‘uade cito ad ecclesiam, et hos uii fratres huc uenire facito; tu quoque simul adesto.’ qui 10 cum uenissent, primo admonuit eos ut uirtutem dilectionis et pacis ad inuicem et ad omnes fideles seruarent, instituta quoque disciplinae regularis, quae uel ab ipso didicissent et in ipso uidissent uel in patrum praecedentium factis siue dictis inuenissent, indefessa instantia sequerentur. deinde 15 subiunxit diem sui obitus iam proxime instare. ‘namque hospes’ inquit ‘ille amabilis, qui fratres nostros uisitare solebat, ad me quoque hodie uenire meque de saeculo euocare dignatus est. propter quod reuertentes ad ecclesiam dicite fratribus ut et meum exitum domino precibus com- 20 mendent et suum quoque exitum, cuius hora incerta est, uigiliis orationibus bonis operibus praeuenire meminerint.’
 cumque haec et huiusmodi plura loqueretur atque illi per-cepta eius benedictione iam multum tristes exissent, rediit ipse solus qui carmen caeleste audierat et prosternens se in 25 terram ‘obsecro’ inquit, ‘pater; licet aliquid interrogare?’ ‘interroga’ inquit ‘quod uis.’ at ille ‘obsecro’ inquit ‘ut dicas quod erat canticum illud laetantium quod audiui uenientium de caelis super oratorium hoc et post tempus redeuntium ad caelos?’ respondet ille: ‘si uocem carminis 30 audisti et caelestes superuenire coetus cognouisti, praecipio tibi in nomine domini, ne hoc cuiquam ante meum obitum dicas. reuera autem angelorum fuere spiritus, qui me ad

caelestia quae semper amabam ac desiderabam praemia uocare uenerunt et post dies uii se redituros ac me secum adducturos esse promiserunt.' quod quidem ita ut dictum ei erat, opere completum est. nam confestim languore
 5 corporis tactus est et hoc per dies ingrauescente septimo, ut promissum ei fuerat, die postquam obitum suum dominici corporis et sanguinis perceptione muniuit soluta ab ergastulo corporis anima sancta ducentibus, ut credi fas est, angelis comitibus aeterna gaudia petiuit. non autem mirum si
 10 diem mortis uel potius diem domini laetus aspexit, quem semper, usquedum ueniret, sollicitus exspectare curauit.

Namque inter plura continentiae humilitatis doctrinae orationum uoluntariae paupertatis et ceterarum uirtutum merita in tantum erat timori domini subditus, in tantum 15 nouissimorum suorum in omnibus operibus suis memor, ut, sicut mihi frater quidam de his qui me in scripturis erudiebant et erat in monasterio ac magisterio illius educatus uocabulo Trumberct referre solebat, si forte legente eo uel aliud quid agente repente flatus uenti maior adsurgeret,
 20 continuo misericordiam domini inuocaret et eam generi humano propitiari rogaret; si autem uiolentior aura insisteret, iam clauso codice procideret in faciem atque obnixius orationi incumberet; at si procella fortior aut nimbus perurgeret uel etiam corusci ac tonitrua terras et aera ter-
 25 rerent, tunc ueniens ad ecclesiam sollicitus orationibus ac psalmis, donec serenitas aeris rediret, fixa mente uacaret. cumque interrogaretur a suis, quare hoc faceret, respondebat: 'non legistis, quia "intonuit de caelo dominus et altissimus dedit uocem suam; misit sagittas suas et dissipauit eos, fulgura multiplicauit et conturbauit eos"?' mouet enim aera dominus uentos excitat iaculatur fulgora de caelo intonat, ut terrigenas ad timendum se suscitet, ut corda

eorum in memoriam futuri iudicii reuocet, ut superbiam eorum dissipet et conturbet audaciam, reducto ad mentem tremendo illo tempore quando ipse caelis ac terris ardentibus uenturus est in nubibus in potestate magna et maiestate ad iudicandos uiuos et mortuos. propter quod' inquit 5
 'oportet nos admonitioni eius caelesti debito cum timore et amore respondere; ut, quoties aere commoto manum quasi ad feriendum minitans exerit nec adhuc tamen percutit, mox inploremus eius misericordiam et discussis penetrantibus cordis nostri atque expurgatis uitiorum rudibus 10 solliciti, ne umquam percuti mereamur, agamus.'

Conuenit autem reuelationi et relationi praefati fratris de obitu huius antistitis etiam sermo reuerentissimi patris Ecgbercti de quo supra diximus, qui dudum cum eodem Ceadda adulescente et ipse adulescens in Hibernia monachicam in orationibus et continentia et meditatione diuinarum scripturarum uitam sedulus agebat. sed illo postmodum patriam reuerso ipse peregrinus pro domino usque ad finem uitae permansit. cum ergo ueniret ad eum longo post tempore gratia uisitationis de Brittania uir sanctissimus 20 et continentissimus uocabulo Hygbald qui erat abbas in prouincia Lindissi, et ut sanctos decebat de uita priorum patrum sermonem facerent atque hanc aemulari gauderent, interuenit mentio reuerentissimi antistitis Ceadda, dixitque Ecgberct: 'scio hominem in hac insula adhuc in carne 25
 manentem qui, cum uir ille de mundo transiret, uidit animam Ceddi fratris ipsius cum agmine angelorum descendere de caelo et adsumta secum anima eius ad caelestia regna redire.' quod utrum de se an de alio aliquo diceret, nobis manet incertum, dum tamen hoc quod tantus uir 30 dixit quia uerum sit esse non possit incertum.

Obiit autem Ceadda sexto die nonarum Martiarum, et sepultus est primo quidem iuxta ecclesiam sanctae Mariae ; sed postmodum constructa ibidem ecclesia beatissimi apo-pere, nescientibus siue non curantibus loci custodibus, et ibi tota nocte requiescens, mane sanato sensu egressus mirantibus et gaudentibus cunctis, quid ibi sanitatis domino 10 largiente consequeretur, ostendit. est autem locus idem sepulcri tumba lignea in modum domunculi facta coopertus habente foramen in pariete, per quod solent hi qui causa deuotionis illo adueniunt manum suam inmittere ac partem pulueris inde adsumere, quam cum in aquas miserint atque 15 has infirmantibus iumentis siue hominibus gustandas dederint, mox infirmitatis ablata molestia cupitae sospitatis gaudia redibunt.

In cuius locum ordinauit Theodorus Vynfridum ui-rum bonum ac modestum, qui, sicut prodecessores eius, 20 prouinciis Merciorum et Mediterraneorum Anglorum et Lindisfarorum episcopatus officio praeesset : in quibus cunc-tis Vulfheri, qui adhuc supererat, sceptrum regni tenebat.
 erat autem Vynfrid de clero eius cui ipse successerat antistitis et diaconatus officio sub eo non paucio tempore fungebatur.

I NTEREA Colmanus, qui de Scottia erat episcopus, re-linquens Britanniam tulit secum omnes quos in Lindisfarnensium insula congregauerat Scottos, sed et de gente Anglorum uiros circiter xxx, qui utriusque monachicae con-30 uersationis erant studiis inbuti. et relictis in ecclesia sua fratribus aliquot primo uenit ad insulam Hii, unde erat ad praedicandum uerbum Anglorum genti destinatus; deinde secessit ad insulam quandam paruam, quae ad occidentalem plagam ab Hibernia procul secreta sermone Scottico Inisboufinde, id est ‘insula uitulae albae,’ nuncupatur. in hanc 5 ergo perueniens construxit monasterium et monachos inibi quos de utraque natione collectos adduxerat collocauit.

qui cum inuicem concordare non possent, eo quod Scotti tempore aestatis quo fruges erant colligendae relicto monasterio per nota sibi loca dispersi uagarentur, at uero hieme 10 succedente redirent et his quae Angli praeparauerant communiter uti desiderarent; quaesiuit Colmanus huic dissen-sioni remedium, et circuiens omnia prope uel longe inuenit 5 locum in Hibernia insula aptum monasterio construendo, qui lingua Scottorum Mageo nominatur; emitque partem 15 eius non grandem ad construendum ibi monasterium a comite ad cuius possessionem pertinebat; ea condicione addita, ut pro ipso etiam qui eis locum commodaret consistentes ibi monachi domino preces offerrent. et constructo statim monasterio iuuante etiam comite ac uicinis omnibus 20 Anglos ibidem locauit, relictis in praefata insula Scottis.
quod uidelicet monasterium usque hodie ab Anglis tenetur incolis. ipsum namque est quod nunc grande de modico effectum Muigeo consuete uocatur, et conuersis iamdudum ad meliora instituta omnibus egregium examen continet 25 monachorum, qui de prouincia Anglorum ibidem collecti
ad exemplum uenerabilium patrum sub regula et abbate canonico in magna continentia et sinceritate proprio labore manuum uiuunt.

ANNO dominicae incarnationis dclxx<sup>mo</sup>, qui est annus
 secundus ex quo Brittaniam uenit Theodorus, Osuiu rex Nordanhymbrorum pressus est infirmitate, qua et mor-5 tuus est anno aetatis suae liiii. qui in tantum eo tempore tenebatur amore Romanae et apostolicae institutionis ut, si ab infirmitate saluaretur, etiam Romam uenire ibique ad loca sancta uitam finire disponderet, Vilfridumque episcopum 10 duces sibi itineris fieri promissa non parua pecuniarum donatione rogaret. qui defunctus die xu kalendarum Mar-tiarum Ecgfridum filium regni heredem reliquit: cuius anno regni iii<sup>o</sup> Theodorus cogit concilium episcoporum, una cum eis qui canonica patrum statuta et diligenter et nossent magistris ecclesiae pluribus. quibus pariter congregatis, 15 diligenter ea quae unitati pacis ecclesiasticae congruerent, eo quo pontificem decebat animo, coepit obseruanda docere.
 cuius synodicae actionis huiusmodi textus est:

IN nomine domini dei et saluatoris nostri Iesu Christi, regnante in perpetuum ac gubernante suam ecclesiam 20 eodem domino Iesu Christo, placuit conuenire nos iuxta morem canonum uenerabilium tractaturos de necessariis ecclesiae negotiis. conuenimus autem die xx<sup>o</sup> iiii<sup>o</sup> mensis Septembris indictione prima in loco qui dicitur Herutford.
 ego quidem Theodorus, quamuis indignus, ab apostolica 25 sede destinatus Doruuernensis ecclesiae episcopus, et consacerdos ac frater noster reuerentissimus Bisi Orientalium Anglorum episcopus: quibus etiam frater et consacerdos noster Vilfrid Nordanhymbrorum gentis episcopus per pro-prios legatarios adfuit. adfuerunt et fratres ac consacerdotes 30 nostri, Putta episcopus castelli Cantuariorum quod dicitur Hrofescæstir, Leutherius episcopus Occidentalium Saxonum,

Vynfrid episcopus prouinciae Merciorum. cumque in unum conuenientes iuxta ordinem quique suum resedissemus, “rogo” inquam, “dilectissimi fratres, propter timorem et amorem redemptoris nostri, ut in commune omnes pro nostra fide tractemus, ut, quaeque decreta ac definita sunt a sanctis 5 et probabilibus patribus, incorrupte ab omnibus nobis seruentur.” haec et alia quamplura quae ad caritatem pertinebant unitatemque ecclesiae conseruandam prosecutus sum; cumque explessem praelocutionem, interrogauī unumquemque eorum per ordinem, si consentirent ea quae 10 a patribus canonicè sunt antiquitus decreta custodire. ad quod omnes consacerdotes nostri respondentes dixerunt: “optime omnibus placet, quaeque definierunt sanctorum canones patrum, nos quoque omnes alacri animo libentissime seruare.” quibus statim protuli eundem librum canonum 15 et ex eodem libro x capitula quae per loca notaueram, quia maxime nobis necessaria sciebam, illis coram ostendi et ut haec diligentius ab omnibus susciperentur rogauī.

‘Quartum: “Vt ipsi monachi non migrent de loco ad locum, hoc est de monasterio ad monasterium, nisi per dimissionem proprii abbatis, sed in ea permaneant oboedi- 30 entia quam tempore suae conuersionis promiserunt.”

‘Quintum: “Vt nullus clericorum relinquens proprium episcopum passim quolibet discurrat, neque alicubi ueniens absque commendaticiiis litteris sui praesulis suscipiatur. quod si semel susceptus noluerit inuitatus redire, et suscep-

5 tor et is qui susceptus est excommunicationi subiacebit.”

10 ‘Septimum: “Vt bis in anno synodus congregetur. sed quia diuersae causae inpediunt, placuit omnibus in commune, ut kalendis Augustis in loco qui appellatur Clofeshoch semel in anno congregemur.”

‘Octauum: “Vt nullus episcoporum se praeferat alteri

15 per ambitionem, sed omnes agnoscant tempus et ordinem congregationis suae.”

20 ‘Decimum capitulum pro coniugiis: “Vt nulli liceat nisi legitimum habere conubium. nullus incestum faciat, nullus coniugem propriam, nisi ut sanctum euangelium docet fornicationis causa, relinquat. quod si quisquam propriam expulerit coniugem legitimo sibi matrimonio con-

30 scandalum aut alia pro aliis diuulgarentur, placuit ut, quaeque definita sunt, unusquisque nostrum manus propriae subscriptione confirmaret. quam sententiam definitionis

nostrae Titillo notario scribendam dictaui. actum in mense et indictione supra scripta. quisquis igitur contra hanc sententiam, iuxta decreta canonum nostra etiam consensione ac subscriptione manus nostrae confirmatam, quoquo modo uenire eamque infringere temptauerit, nouerit se ab omni 5 officio sacerdotali et nostra societate separatum. diuina nos gratia in unitate sanctae suae ecclesiae uiuentes custodiat incolumes.’

FACTA est autem haec synodus anno ab incarnatione domini dclxxtertio, quo anno rex Cantuariorum Ecg- 10 berct mense Iulio obierat, succedente in regnum fratre Hlothere quod ipse annos xi et menses vii tenuit. Bisi autem episcopus Orientalium Anglorum, qui in praefata synodo fuisse perhibetur, ipse erat successor Bonifatii, cuius supra meminimus, uir multae sanctitatis et religionis. nam 15 Bonifatio post x et vii episcopatus sui annos defuncto, episcopus ipse pro eo, Theodoro ordinante, factus est. quo adhuc superstiti sed grauissima infirmitate ab administrando episcopatu prohibito, duo sunt pro illo, Aecci et Baduini, electi et consecrati episcopi: ex quo usque hodie prouincia 20 illa duos habere solet episcopos.

NON multo post haec elapso tempore offensus a Vynfrido Merciorum episcopo per meritum cuiusdam inobedientiae Theodorus archiepiscopus, deposuit eum de episco- 25 patu post annos accepti episcopatus non multos, et in loco eius ordinauit episcopum Sexuulfum, qui erat constructor et abbas monasterii quod dicitur Medeshamstedi in regione Gyruiorum. depositus uero Vynfrid rediit ad monasterium suum quod dicitur Adbaruæ, ibique in optima uitam con- 30 uersatione finiuit.

Tum etiam Orientalibus Saxonibus, quibus eo tempore praefuerunt Sebbi et Sigheri quorum supra meminimus, Earconualdum constituit episcopum in ciuitate Lundonia: cuius uidelicet uiri et in episcopatu et ante episcopatum uita 5 et conuersatio fertur fuisse sanctissima, sicut etiam nunc caelestium signa uirtutum indicio sunt. etenim usque hodie feretrum eius caballarium, quo infirmus uehi solebat, seruat-
 tum a discipulis eius multos febricitantes uel alio quolibet 10 subpositi eidem feretro uel adpositi curantur aegroti, sed et astulae de illo abscissae atque ad infirmos adlatae citam illis solent adferre medellam.

Hic sane priusquam episcopus factus esset duo praeclara monasteria, unum sibi alterum sorori suae Aedilburgae, con-
 15 struxerat, quod utrumque regularibus disciplinis optime instituerat: sibi quidem in regione Sudergeona iuxta fluuium Tamensem in loco qui uocatur Cerotaesei, id est Ceroti insula; sorori autem in Orientali Saxonum prouincia, in loco qui nuncupatur In Berecingum, in quo ipsa deo deuo-20 tarum mater ac nutrix posset existere feminarum. quae suscepto monasterii regimine condignam se in omnibus episcopo fratre et ipsa recte uiuendo et subiectis regulariter et pie consulendo praebuit; ut etiam caelestia indicio fuere miracula.

depulans etiam partem monasterii huius illam qua uiri tenebantur inuasisset et passim cotidie raperentur ad dominum, sollicita mater congregationis, qua hora etiam eam monasterii partem qua ancillarum dei caterua a uirorum erat secreta contubernio eadem plaga tangeret, crebrius in conuentu sororum perquirere coepit quo loci in monasterio corpora sua poni et cymiterium fieri uellent, cum eas eodem quo ceteros exterminio raptari e mundo contingeret. cumque nihil certi responsi, tametsi saepius inquirens, a sororibus accepisset, accepit ipsa cum omnibus certissimum supernae prouisionis responsum. cum enim nocte quadam expletis matutinae laudis psalmodiis egressae de oratorio famulae Christi ad sepulchra fratrum, qui eas ex hac luce praecesserant, solitas domino laudes decantarent, ecce subito lux emissa caelitus ueluti linteum magnum uenit super omnes, tantoque eas stupore perculit ut etiam canticum quod canebant tremefactae intermitterent. ipse autem splendor emissae lucis, in cuius comparatione sol meridianus uideri posset obscurus, non multo post illo eleuatus de loco in meridianam monasterii partem, hoc est ad occidentem oratorii, secessit, ibique aliquandiu remoratus et ea loca operiens sic uidentibus cunctis ad caeli se alta subduxit, ut nulli esset dubium, quin ipsa lux, quae animas famularum Christi esset ductura uel susceptura in caelis, etiam corporibus earum locum in quo requietura et diem resurrectionis essent expectatura, monstraret. cuius radius lucis tantus extitit, ut quidam de fratribus senior qui ipsa hora in oratorio eorum cum alio iuniore positus fuerat referret mane, quod ingressi per rimas ostiorum uel fenestrarum radii lucis omnem diurni luminis uiderentur superare fulgorem.

ERAT in eodem monasterio puer trium circiter non amplius annorum Aesica nomine, qui propter infantilem adhuc aetatem in uirginum deo dedicatarum solebat
 5 cella nutriri ibique meditari. hic praefata pestilentia tactus ubi ad extrema peruenit, clamauit tertio unam de consecratis Christo uirginibus, proprio eam nomine quasi praesentem alloquens, Eadgyd, Eadgyd, Eadgyd; et sic terminans temporalem uitam intrauit aeternam. at uirgo illa quam mori-10 ens uocabat, mox in loco quo erat, eadem adtacta infirmitate, ipso quo uocata est die de hac luce subtracta et illum qui se uocauit ad regnum caeleste secuta est.

Item quaedam ex eisdem ancillis dei, cum praefato tacta morbo atque ad extrema esset perducta, coepit subito circa 15 mediam noctem clamare his quae sibi ministrabant, petens ut lucernam quae inibi accensa erat extinguerent. quod cum frequenti uoce repeteret nec tamen ei aliquis obtemperaret, ad extremum intulit: 'scio quod me haec insana mente loqui arbitramini; sed iam nunc non ita esse cog-
 20 noscite: nam uere dico uobis, quod domum hanc tanta luce impletam esse perspicio, ut uestra illa lucerna mihi omnimodis esse uideatur obscura.' et cum ne adhuc quidem talia loquenti quisquam responderet uel adsensum praeberet, iterum dixit: 'accendite ergo lucernam illam quam
 25 diu uultis; attamen scitote quia non est mea: nam mea lux incipiente aurora mihi aduentura est.' coepitque narrare quia apparuerit sibi quidam uir dei qui eodem anno fuerat defunctus, dicens quod adueniente diluculo perennem esset exitura ad lucem. cuius ueritas uisionis cita circa exortum 30 diei puellae morte probata est.

CVM autem et ipsa mater pia deo deuotae congregationis Aedilburga esset rapienda de mundo, apparuit uisio miranda cuidam de sororibus cui nomen erat Torctgyd, quae multis iam annis in eodem monasterio commorata et 5 ipsa semper in omni humilitate ac sinceritate deo seruire satagebat et adiutrix disciplinae regularis eidem matri existere minores docendo uel castigando curabat. cuius ut uirtus iuxta apostolum in infirmitate perficeretur, tacta est repente grauissimo corporis morbo et per annos uiii pia 10 redemptoris nostri prouisione multum fatigata: uidelicet ut, quicquid in ea uitii sordidantis inter uirtutes per ignorantiam uel incuriam resedisset, totum hoc caminus diutinae tribu-lationis excoqueret. haec ergo quadam nocte incipiente crepusculo egressa de cubiculo quo manebat, uidit manifeste 15 quasi corpus hominis, quod esset sole clarius, sindone inuolutum in sublime ferri, elatum uidelicet de domo in qua sorores pausare solebant. cumque diligentius intueretur quo trahente leuaretur sursum haec quam contemplabatur species corporis gloriosi, uidit quod quasi funibus auro 20 clarioribus in superna tolleretur, donec caelis patentibus introducta amplius ab illa uideri non potuit. nec dubium remansit cogitanti de uisione, quin aliquis de illa congrega-tione citius esset moriturus, cuius anima per bona quae fecisset opera quasi per funes aureos leuanda esset ad caelos: 25 quod reuera ita contigit. nam non multis interpositis diebus deo dilecta mater congregationis ipsius ergastulo carnis educta est, cuius talem fuisse constat uitam, ut nemo qui eam nouerit dubitare debeat quin ei exeunti de hac uita caelestis patriae patuerit ingressus. 30

In eodem quoque monasterio quaedam erat femina sanctimonialis et ad saeculi huius dignitatem nobilis et in amore futuri saeculi nobilior: quae ita multis iam annis omni corporis fuerat officio destituta, ut ne unum quidem
 5 mouere ipsa membrum ualeret. haec ubi corpus abbatissae uenerabilis in ecclesiam delatum donec sepulturae daretur cognouit, postulauit se illo adferri et in modum orantium ad illud adclinari. quod dum fieret, quasi uiuentem adlocuta rogauit, ut apud misericordiam pii conditoris inpetraret 10 se a tantis tamque diutinis cruciatibus absolui. nec multo tardius exaudita est: nam post dies duodecim et ipsa educta ex carne temporales adflictiones aeterna mercede mutauit.

Cum uero praefata Christi famula Torctgyd tres adhuc
 15 annos post obitum dominae in hac uita teneretur, in tantum ea quam praediximus infirmitate decocta est, ut uix ossibus haereret; et ad ultimum, cum tempus iam resolutionis eius instaret, non solum membrorum ceterorum sed et linguae motu caruit. quod dum tribus diebus ac totidem noctibus
 20 ageretur, subito uisione spiritali recreata os et oculos aperuit; aspectansque in caelum sic ad eam quam intuebatur uisionem coepit loqui: 'gratus mihi est multum aduentus tuus et bene uenisti:' et hoc dicto parumper reticuit, quasi responsum eius quem uidebat et cui loque-
 25 batur exspectans. rursumque quasi leuiter indignata subiunxit: 'nequaquam hoc laeta ferre queo.' rursumque modicum silens tertio dixit: 'si nullatenus hodie fieri potest, obsecro ne sit longum spatium in medio.' dixit et, sicut antea parum silens, ita sermonem conclusit: 'si omnimodis
 30 ita definitum est neque hanc sententiam licet inmutari, obsecro ne amplius quam haec solummodo proxima nox intersit.' quibus dictis interrogata a circumsedentibus, cum

quo loqueretur, 'cum carissima' inquit 'mea matre Aedilburge.' ex quo intellexere quod ipsa ei tempus suae transmigrationis in proximum nuntiare uenisset. nam et, ita ut rogabat, transacta una die ac nocte soluta carnis simul et infirmitatis uinculis ad aeternae gaudia salutis intrauit. 5

SUCCESSIT autem Aedilburgi in officio abbatissae deuota deo famula nomine Hildilid, multisque annis, id est usque ad ultimam senectutem, eidem monasterio strenuissime in obseruantia disciplinae regularis et in earum 10 quae ad communes usus pertinent rerum prouidentia prae-fuit. cui cum, propter augustiam loci in quo monasterium constructum est, placuisset ut ossa famulorum famularum-que Christi quae ibidem fuerant tumulata tollerentur et transferrentur omnia in ecclesiam beatae dei genetricis 15 unoque conderentur in loco, quoties ibi claritas luminis caelestis quanta saepe flagrantia mirandi apparuerit odoris quae alia sint signa ostensa, in ipso libro de quo haec excerpsumus, quisque legerit, inueniet.

Sane nullatenus praetereundum arbitror miraculum san- 20 tatis, quod ad ipsum cymiterium deo dicatae congregationis factum idem libellus refert. erat quippe in proximo comes quidam, cuius uxor ingruente oculis caligine subita tantum per dies eadem molestia crebrescente grauata est, ut ne minimam quidem lucis alicuius posset particulam uidere. 25 cui, dum aliquandiu caecitatis huius nocte clausa maneret, repente uenit in mentem quia, si ad monasterium delata uirginum sanctimonialium ad reliquias sanctorum peteret, perditam posset recipere lucem. nec distulit quin continuo, quod mente conceperat, expleret. perducta namque a puellis suis ad monasterium, quia in proximo erat, ubi fidem suae sanationis integram se habere professa est, 5 introducta est ad cymiterium et, cum ibidem diutius flexis genibus oraret, nihilo tardius meruit exaudiri. nam exurgens ab oratione, priusquam exiret de loco, petitae lucis gratiam recepit, et quae famularum manibus adducta fuerat, ipsa libero pedum incessu domum laeta reuersa est: quasi 10 ad hoc solum modo lucem amitteret temporalem ut, quanta sanctos Christi lux in caelis quae gratia uirtutis possideret, sua sanatione demonstraret.

15 EO tempore praeerat regno Orientalium Saxonum, ut idem etiam libellus docet, uir multum deo deuotus nomine Sebbi, cuius supra meminimus. erat enim religiosus actibus crebris precibus piis elimosynarum fructibus plurimum intentus, uitam priuatam et monachicam cunctis regni diuitiis et honoribus praeferens, quam et olim iam, si non 20 obstinatus coniugis animus diuortium negaret, relicto regno subisset. unde multum uisum et saepe dictum est, quia talis animi uirum episcopum magis quam regem ordinari deceret. cumque annos xxx in regno miles regni caelestis exegisset, correptus est corporis infirmitate permaxima, qua et mortuus 25 est: ammonuitque coniugem, ut uel tunc diuino se seruitio pariter manciparent, cum amplius pariter mundum amplecti uel potius mundo seruire non possent. quod dum aegre inpetraret ab ea, uenit ad antistitem Lundoniae ciuitatis uocabulo Valdheri, qui Erconualdo successerat; et per eius

Qui cum ingrauescente praefata aegritudine diem sibi mortis imminere sensisset, timere coepit homo animi regalis, ne ad mortem ueniens tanto adfectus dolore aliquid indignum suae personae uel ore proferret uel aliorum motu gereret membrorum. unde accito ad se praefato urbis 10
Lundoniae in qua tunc ipse manebat episcopo, rogauit ne plures eo moriente quam ipse episcopus et duo sui ministri adessent. quod dum episcopus libentissime se facturum promitteret, non multo post idem uir dei, dum membra sopori dedisset, uidit uisionem consolatoriam, quae omnem 15
ei anxietatem memoratae sollicitudinis auferret, insuper et, qua die esset hanc uitam terminaturus, ostenderet. uidit enim, ut post ipse referebat, tres ad se uenisse uiros claro indutos habitu : quorum unus residens ante lectulum eius, stantibus his qui secum aduenerant comitibus et interro- 20 gantibus de statu eius quem languentem uisitare uenerant, dixit quod anima eius et sine ullo dolore et cum magno lucis splendore esset egressura de corpore : sed et tertium exinde diem quo esset moriturus insinuauit. quod ita utrumque ut ex uisione didicit completum est. nam die 25 dehinc tertio completa hora nona subito quasi leuiter obdormiens sine ullo sensu doloris emisit spiritum.

Cuius corpori tumulando praeparauerant sarcofagum lapideum : sed cum huic corpus inponere coepissent, inuenerunt hoc mensura palmi longius esse sarcofago. do- 30 lantes ergo lapidem in quantum ualebant, addiderunt longitudini sarcofagi quasi duorum mensuram digitorum. sed nec sic quidem corpus capiebat. unde facta difficultate

tumulandi cogitabant aut aliud quaerere loculum aut ipsum corpus, si possent, in genibus inflectendo breuiare, donec ipso loculo caperetur. sed mira res et non nisi caelitus facta, ne aliquid horum fieri deberet, prohibuit. nam subito 5 adstante episcopo et filio regis eiusdem ac monachi Sig-hardo, qui post illum cum fratre Suefredo regnauit, et turba hominum non modica, inuentum est sarcofagum illud congruae longitudinis ad mensuram corporis, adeo ut a parte capitis etiam ceruical posset interponi, a parte uero pedum 10 mensura iiii digitorum in sarcofago corpus excederet. conditus est autem in ecclesia beati doctoris gentium, cuius edoctus monitis caelestia sperare didicerat.

15 QVARTVS Occidentalium Saxonum antistes Leutherius

 tertius extitit Vini. cumque mortuus esset Coinualch quo regnante idem Leutherius episcopus factus est, acceperunt subreguli regnum gentis et diuisum inter se tenuerunt annis circiter x: ipsisque regnantibus defunctus est ille et epis-20 copatu functus est Haeddi pro eo, consecratus a Theodoro in ciuitate Lundonia. cuius episcopatus tempore deuictis atque amotis subregulis Caedualla suscepit imperium et, cum duobus annis hoc tenuisset, tandem superni regni amore compunctus reliquit eodem adhuc praesule ecclesiam sequentibus latius dicendum est.

 cum Aedilred rex Merciorum adducto maligno exercitu

in qua erat Putta episcopus quamuis eo tempore absens, communi clade absumsit. quod ille ubi comperit, ecclesiam uidelicet suam rebus ablatis omnibus depopulatam, diuertit ad Sexuulfum Merciorum antistitem et accepta ab eo possessione ecclesiae cuiusdam et agelli non grandis, 5 ibidem in pace uitam finiuit, nil omnino de restaurando episcopatu suo agens, quia sicut supra diximus magis in ecclesiasticis quam in mundanis rebus erat industrius, sed in illa solum ecclesia deo seruiens et ubicumque rogabatur ad docenda ecclesiae carmina diuertens. pro quo Theo- 10 dorus in ciuitate Hrofi Cuichelmum consecrauit episcopum: sed illo post non multum temporis prae inopia rerum ab episcopatu decedente atque ad alia loca secedente, Gebmundum pro eo substituit antistitem.

Anno dominicae incarnationis d<sup>o</sup> clxx<sup>o</sup> uiii<sup>o</sup>, qui est 15 annus imperii regis Ecgfridi uiii, apparuit mense Augusto stella quae dicitur cometa, et tribus mensibus permanens matutinis horis oriebatur, excelsam radiantis flammae quasi columnam praeferens. quo etiam anno orta inter ipsum regem Ecgfridum et reuerentissimum antistitem Vilfridum 20 dissensione, pulsus est idem antistes a sede sui episcopatus et duo in locum eius substituti episcopi, qui Nordanhymbrorum genti praeesent, Bosa uidelicet qui Derorum et Eata qui Berniciorum prouinciam gubernaret: hic in ciuitate Eburaci, ille in Hagustaldensi siue in Lindisfarnensi 25 ecclesia cathedram habens episcopalem, ambo de monachorum collegio in episcopatus gradum adsciti. cum quibus et Eadhaed in prouincia Lindisfarorum, quam nuperrime rex Ecgfrid superato in bello et fugato Vulphere obtinuerat, ordinatur episcopus. et hunc primum eadem prouincia 30 proprium accepit praesulem, secundum Ediluini, tertium Eadgarum, quartum Cyniberctum, quem in praesenti habet.

habebat enim ante Eadhaedum antistitem Sexuulfum, qui etiam Merciorum et Mediterraneorum Anglorum simul episcopus fuit: unde et expulsus de Lindissi, in illarum prouinciarum regimine permansit. ordinati sunt autem Eadhaed Bosa et Eata Eboraci ab archiepiscopo Theodoro: qui etiam post tres abscissionis Vilfridi annos horum numero duos addidit antistites, Tunberctum ad ecclesiam Hagustaldensem remanente Eata ad Lindisfarnensem, et Trumuini ad prouinciam Pictorum quae tunc temporis Anglorum erat imperio subiecta. Eadhaedum de Lindissi reuersum, eo quod Aedilred prouinciam recepisset, Hrypensi ecclesiae praefecit.

PVLSVS est autem ab episcopatu suo Vilfrid, et multa diu loca peruagatus Romam adiit, Britanniam rediit; et si propter inimicitias memorati regis in patria siue parrochia sua recipi non potuit, non tamen ab euangelizandi potuit ministerio cohiberi: siquidem diuertens ad prouinciam Australium Saxonum, quae post Cantuarios ad austrum et ad occidentem usque ad Occidentales Saxones pertingit habens terram familiarum uii milium et eo adhuc tempore paganis cultibus seruiebat, huic uerbum fidei et lauacrum salutis ministrabat. erat autem rex gentis ipsius Aediluach, non multo ante baptizatus in prouincia Merciorum praesente ac suggerente rege Vulphere, a quo etiam egressus de fonte filii susceptus est: in cuius signum adoptionis duas illi prouincias donauit, Vectam uidelicet insulam et Meanuarorum prouinciam in gente Occidentalium Saxonum. itaque episcopus, concedente immo multum gaudente rege, primos prouinciae duces ac milites sacrosancto fonte abluebat; uerum presbyteri Eappa et Padda et Burghelm et Oiddi ceteram plebem uel tunc uel tempore sequente baptizabant. porro regina nomine Eabae in sua, id est Huicciorum, prouincia fuerat baptizata. erat autem filia Eanfridi fratris Ænheri, qui ambo cum suo populo Christiani fuere. ceterum tota prouincia Australium Sax- 5 onum diuini nominis et fidei erat ignara.

Erat autem ibi monachus quidam de natione Scottorum uocabulo Dicul, habens monasteriolum permodicum in loco qui uocatur Bosanhamm siluis et mari circumdatum, et in eo fratres u siue ui in humili et paupere uita domino 10 famulantes. sed prouincialium nullus eorum uel uitam aemulari uel praedicationem curabat audire.

Euangelizans autem genti episcopus Vilfrid, non solum eam ab aerumna perpetuae damnationis uerum et a clade infanda temporalis interitus eripuit. siquidem tribus annis 15 ante aduentum eius in prouinciam nulla illis in locis pluuias ceciderat, unde et fames acerbissima plebem inuadens impia nece prostrauit. denique ferunt quia saepe xl simul aut l homines inedia macerati procederent ad praecipitium aliquod siue ripam maris, et iunctis misere manibus pariter 20 omnes aut ruina perituri aut fluctibus absorbendi deciderent. uerum ipso die, quo baptisma fidei gens suscepit illa, descendit pluuias serena sed copiosa, reffloruit terra, rediit uiridantibus aruis annus laetus et frugifer. sicque abiecta prisca superstitione, exsufflata idolatria, cor omnium 25 et caro omnium exultauerunt in deum uiuum: intellegentes eum, qui uerus est deus, et interioribus se bonis et exterioribus caelesti gratia ditasse. nam et antistes cum uenisset in prouinciam tantamque ibi famis poenam uideret, docuit eos piscando uictum quaerere. namque mare et flumina eorum 30 piscibus abundabant, sed piscandi peritia genti nulla nisi

suum conuertit amorem et libentius eo praedicante caelestia

10 Quo tempore rex Aedilualch donauit reuerentissimo antistiti Vilfrido terram lxxx vii familiarum, ubi suos homi-

quod dicitur Latine insula uituli marini. est enim locus

IN quo tunc monasterio nonnulla caelestis gratiae dona specialiter ostensa fuisse perhibentur, utpote ubi nuper expulsa diaboli tyrannide Christus iam regnare coeperat. e quibus unum, quod mihi reuerentissimus antistes Acca 5 saepius referre et a fidelissimis eiusdem monasterii fratribus sibi relatum asserere solebat, memoriae mandare commodum duximus. eodem ferme tempore, quo ipsa prouincia nomen Christi susceperat, multas Britanniae prouincias mortalitas saeua corripiebat. quae cum praefatum quoque 10 monasterium cui tunc regendo religiosissimus Christi sacerdos uocabulo Eappa praefuit nutu diuinae dispensationis attingeret, multique, siue de his qui cum antistite illo uenerant siue de illis qui de eadem prouincia Saxonum nuper ad fidem fuerant uocati, passim de hac uita raperentur, 15 uisum est fratribus triduanum ieiunium agere et diuinam suppliciter obsecrare clementiam, ut misericordiam sibi dignaretur impendere et siue periclitantes hoc morbo a praesenti morte liberaret seu raptos e mundo a perpetua animae damnatione seruaret. 20

Erat tunc temporis in eodem monasterio puerulus quidam de natione Saxonum nuper uocatus ad fidem, qui eadem tactus infirmitate non pauco tempore recubans in lectulo iacebat. cum ergo secunda memorati ieiunii ac supplicationum dies ageretur, contigit forte ipsum puerum 25 hora ferme secunda diei in loco in quo aeger iacebat solum inueniri: cui diuina dispositione subito beatissimi apostolorum principes dignati sunt apparere. erat enim puer multum simplicis ae mansueti animi sinceraque deuotione sacramenta fidei quae susceperat seruans. salutantes ergo 30 illum uerbis piissimis apostoli dicebant: ‘noli timere, fili, mortem pro qua sollicitus es: nos enim te hodierna die ad caelestia sumus regna perducturi. sed primum exspectare habes donec missae celebrentur ac uiatico dominici corporis ac sanguinis accepto sic infirmitate simul et morte absolutus

 15 ac deo dilecti regis Osualdi, qui quondam genti Nordanhymbrorum et regni temporalis auctoritate et Christianae pietatis quae ad regnum perenne ducit deuotione sublimiter praefuit, conferre dignata est. hac etenim die idem rex ab infidelibus in bello corporaliter extinctus, mox ad sempiterna ani-

saeua caede ac depopulatione attriuit; sed mox expulsus est a ducibus regis Bercthuno et Andhuno, qui deinceps regnum prouinciae tenuerunt: quorum prior postea ab eodem Caedualla, cum esset rex Geuissorum, occisus est

INTERERAT huic synodo pariterque catholicae fidei decreta firmabat uir uenerabilis Iohannes archicantator ecclesiae sancti apostoli Petri et abbas monasterii beati
5 Martini, qui nuper uenerat a Roma per iussionem papae Agathonis duce reuerentissimo abbate Biscopo cognomine Benedicto, cuius supra meminimus. cum enim idem Benedictus construxisset monasterium Britanniae in honorem beatissimi apostolorum principis iuxta ostium fluminis Viuri, 10 uenit Romam cum cooperatore ac socio eiusdem operis Ceolfrido qui post ipsum eiusdem monasterii abbas fuit, quod et ante saepius facere consueuerat, atque honorifice
a beatae memoriae papa Agathone susceptus est: petiitque et accepit ab eo, in munimentum libertatis monasterii quod 15 fecerat, epistulam priuilegii ex auctoritate apostolica firma-tam; iuxta quod Ecgfridum regem uoluisse ac licentiam dedisse nouerat, quo concedente et possessionem terrae largiente ipsum monasterium fecerat.

Accepit et praefatum Iohannem abbatem Britanniam 20 perducendum, quatenus in monasterio suo cursum canendi annuum, sicut ad sanctum Petrum Romae agebatur, edo-ceret: egitque abba Iohannes ut iussionem acceperat ponti-ficis, et ordinem uidelicet ritumque canendi ac legendi uiua uoce praefati monasterii cantores edocendo, et ea quae 25 totius anni circulus in celebratione dierum festorum poscebat etiam litteris mandando: quae hactenus in eodem monasterio seruata et a multis iam sunt circumquaque transscripta. non solum autem idem Iohannes ipsius mo-nasterii fratres docebat, uerum de omnibus pene eiusdem 30 prouinciae monasteriis ad audiendum eum qui cantandi

erant periti confluebant, sed et ipsum per loca, in quibus doceret, multi inuitare curabant.

Ipse autem excepto cantandi uel legendi munere et aliud in mandatis ab apostolico papa acceperat, ut cuius esset fidei Anglorum ecclesia diligenter edisceret Romamque 5 rediens referret. nam et synodum beati papae Martini centum quinque episcoporum consensu non multo ante Romae celebratam, contra eos maxime qui unam in Christo operationem et uoluntatem praedicabant, secum ueniens adtulit atque in praefato religiosissimi abbatis Benedicti 10 monasterio transscribendam commodauit. tales namque eo tempore fidem Constantinopolitanae ecclesiae multum conturbauerunt, sed domino donante proditi iam tunc et uicti sunt. unde uolens Agatho papa, sicut in aliis prouinciis ita etiam in Brittainia qualis esset status ecclesiae, quam ab 15 haereticorum contagiis castus, ediscere, hoc negotium reuerentissimo abbati Iohanni Brittainiam destinato iniunxit. quamobrem collecta pro hoc in Brittainia synodo quam diximus, inuenta est in omnibus fides inuiolata catholica: datumque illi exemplar eius Romam perferendum. 20

Verum ille patriam reuertens, non multo postquam oceanum transiit arreptus infirmitate ac defunctus est: corpusque eius ab amicis propter amorem sancti Martini, cuius monasterio praeerat, Turonis delatum atque honorifice sepultum est. nam et benigno ecclesiae illius hospitio, 25 cum Brittainiam iret, exceptus est rogatusque multum a fratribus, ut Romam reuertens illo itinere ueniret atque ad eam diuerneret ecclesiam. denique ibidem adiutores itineris et iniuncti operis accepit: qui etsi in itinere defunctus est, nihilominus exemplum catholicae fidei Anglorum Romam 30 perlatum est, atque ab apostolico papa omnibusque qui audire uel legere gratantissime susceptum.

ACCEPIT autem rex Ecgfrid coniugem nomine Aedilthrydam, filiam Anna regis Orientalium Anglorum, cuius saepius mentionem fecimus, uiri bene religiosi ac per 5 omnia mente et opere egregii: quam et alter ante illum uir habuerat uxorem, princeps uidelicet australium Gurui-orum uocabulo Tondberct. sed illo post modicum temporis ex quo eam accepit defuncto, data est regi praefato:
 cuius consortio cum xii annis uteretur, perpetua tamen 10 mansit uirginitatis integritate gloriosa: sicut mihimet scis-citanti, cum hoc an ita esset quibusdam uenisset in dubium, beatae memoriae Vilfrid episcopus referebat, dicens se testem integritatis eius esse certissimum: adeo ut Ecgfridus promiserit se ei terras ac pecunias multas esse donaturum, 15 si reginae posset persuadere eius uti conubio, quia sciebat illam nullum uirorum plus illo diligere. nec diffidendum est nostra etiam aetate fieri potuisse, quod aeuo praecedente aliquoties factum fideles historiae narrant: donante uno eodemque domino, qui se nobiscum usque in finem saeculi 20 manere pollicetur. nam etiam signum diuini miraculi, quo eiusdem feminae sepulta caro corrumpi non potuit, indicio est quia a uiri contactu incorrupta durauerit.

Quae multum diu regem postulans, ut saeculi curas relin-quere atque in monasterio tantum uero regi Christo seruire 25 permetteretur, ubi uix aliquando inpetrauit, intrauit monas-terium Aebbae abbatissae quae erat amita regis Ecgfridi, positum in loco quem Coludi Urbem nominant, accepto uelamine sanctimonialis habitus a praefato antistite Vilfrido.
 post annum uero ipsa facta est abbatissa in regione quae 30 uocatur Elge; ubi constructo monasterio uirginum deo

deuotarum perplurium mater uirgo et exemplis uitae caelestis esse coepit et monitis. de qua ferunt quia, ex quo monasterium petiit, numquam lineis sed solum laneis uestimentis uti uoluerit, raroque in calidis balneis, praeter imminentibus sollemniis maioribus uerbi gratia paschae 5 pentecostes epiphaniae, lauari uoluerit, et tunc nouissima omnium, lotis prius suo suarumque ministrarum obsequio ceteris quae ibi essent famulis Christi; raro praeter maiora sollemnia uel artio rem necessitatem plus quam semel per diem manducauerit; semper, si non infirmitas grauior pro- 10 hibisset, ex tempore matutinae synaxeos usque ad ortum diei in ecclesia precibus intenta perstiterit. sunt etiam qui dicant quia per prophetiae spiritum et pestilentiam qua ipsa esset moritura praedixerit, et numerum quoque eorum, qui de suo monasterio hac essent de mundo rapiendi, palam 15 cunctis praesentibus intimauerit. rapta est autem ad dominum in medio suorum post annos vii ex quo abbatissae gradum susceperat, et aequae ut ipsa iusserat, non alibi quam in medio eorum, iuxta ordinem quo transierat, ligneo in locello sepulta. 20

Cui successit in ministerium abbatissae soror eius Sexburg, quam habuerat in coniugem Earconberct rex Cantuariorum. et cum sedecim annis esset sepulta, placuit eidem abbatissae leuari ossa eius et in locello nouo posita in ecclesiam transferri, iussitque quosdam e fratribus quaerere 25 lapidem, de quo locellum in hoc facere possent. qui ascensa nauis, ipsa enim regio Elge undique est aquis ac paludibus circumdata neque lapides maiores habet, uenerunt ad ciuitatulam quandam desolatam non procul inde sitam, quae lingua Anglorum Grantacaestir uocatur: et mox inuenerunt 30 iuxta muros ciuitatis locellum de marmore albo pulcherrime factum, operculo quoque similis lapidis aptissime tectum.

Cumque corpus sacrae uirginis ac sponsae Christi aperto sepulchro esset prolatum in lucem, ita incorruptum inuentum
 5 est, ac si eodem die fuisset defuncta siue humo condita; sicut et praefatus antistes Vilfrid et multi alii qui nouere testantur, sed certiori notitia medicus Cynifrid, qui et morienti illi et eleuatae de tumulo adfuit: qui referre erat solitus, quod illa infirmata habuerit tumorem maximum sub maxilla,
 10 'iusseruntque me' inquit 'incidere tumorem illum, ut efflueret noxius umor qui inerat: quod dum facerem, uidebatur illa per biduum aliquanto leuius habere, ita ut multi putarent quia sanari posset a languore. tertia autem die prioribus adgrauata doloribus et rapta confestim de mundo dolorem
 15 omnem ac mortem perpetua salute ac uita mutauit. cumque post tot annos eleuanda essent ossa de sepulchro et extento desuper papilione omnis congregatio hinc fratrum inde sororum psallens circumstaret, ipsa autem abbatissa intus cum paucis ossa elatura et dilutura intrasset, repente
 20 audiuius abbatissam intus uoce clara proclamare: "sit gloria nomini domini." nec multo post clamauerunt me intus reserato ostio papilionis uidique eleuatum de tumulo et positum in lectulo corpus sacrae deo uirginis quasi dormientis simile; sed et discooperto uultus indumento
 25 monstrauerunt mihi etiam uulnus incisurae quod feceram curatum, ita ut mirum in modum pro aperto et hiante uulnere cum quo sepulta erat tenuissima tunc cicatricis uestigia parerent. sed et linteamina omnia, quibus inuolutum erat corpus, integra apparuerunt et ita noua, ut ipso die uiderentur
 30 castis eius membris esse circumdata.' ferunt autem quia, cum praefato tumore ac dolore maxillae siue colli premeretur, multum delectata sit hoc genere infirmitatis ac

solita dicere: 'scio certissime, quia merito in collo pondus languoris porto, in quo iuuenulam me memini superuacua moniliorum pondera portare: et credo quod ideo me superna pietas dolore colli uoluit grauari, ut sic absoluar reatu superuacuae leuitatis, dum mihi nunc pro auro et margaritis de 5 collo rubor tumoris ardorque promineat.' contigit autem tactu indumentorum eorundem et daemonia ab obsessis effugata corporibus et infirmitates alias aliquoties esse curatas. sed et loculum, in quo primo sepulta est, nonnullis oculos dolentibus saluti fuisse perhibent, qui cum suum 10 caput eidem loculo adponentes orassent, mox doloris siue caliginis incommodum ab oculis amouerent. lauerunt igitur uirgines corpus et nouis indutum uestibus intulerunt in ecclesiam, atque in eo quod adlatum erat sarcofago posuerunt, ubi usque hodie in magna ueneratione habetur. mirum 15 uero in modum ita aptum corpori uirginis sarcofagum inuentum est, ac si ei specialiter praeparatum fuisset: et locus quoque capitis seorsum fabrefactus ad mensuram capitis illius aptissime figuratus apparuit.

Est autem Elge in prouincia Orientalium Anglorum regio 20 familiarum circiter sexcentarum, in similitudinem insulae uel paludibus, ut diximus, circumdata uel aquis, unde et a copia anguillarum quae in eisdem paludibus capiuntur nomen accepit: ubi monasterium habere desiderauit memorata Christi famula, quoniam de prouincia eorundem Orientalium Anglorum ipsa, ut praefati sumus, carnis originem 25 duxerat.

A NNO regni Ecgfridi nono conserto graui proelio inter ipsum et Ædilredum regem Merciorum iuxta fluuium Treanta, occisus est Aelfuini frater regis Ecgfridi iuuenis 30

circiter x et viii annorum utrique prouinciae multum amabilis. nam et sororem eius, quae dicebatur Osthryd, rex Aedilred habebat uxorem. cumque materies belli acrioris et inimicitiae longioris inter reges populosque feroces uideretur exorta, Theodorus deo dilectus antistes diuino functus auxilio salutifera exhortatione coeptum tanti periculi funditus extinguit incendium: adeo ut pacatis alterutrum regibus ac populis nullius anima hominis pro interfecto regis fratre sed debita solummodo multa pecuniae regi ultori daretur. cuius foedera pacis multo exinde tempore inter eosdem reges eorumque regna durarunt.

[XXII]

IN praefato autem proelio, quo occisus est rex Aelfuini, memorabile quiddam factum esse constat, quod nequam silentio praetereundum arbitror sed multorum saluti, si referatur, fore proficuum. occisus est ibi inter alios de militia eius iuuenis uocabulo Imma; qui cum die illo et nocte sequenti inter cadauera occisorum similis mortuo iaceret, tandem recepto spiritu reuixit ac residens sua uulnera prout potuit ipse alligauit: dein modicum requietus leuauit se et coepit abire sicubi amicos, qui sui curam agerent, posset inuenire. quod dum faceret, inuentus est et captus a uiris hostilis exercitus et ad dominum ipsorum, comitem uidelicet Aedilredi regis, adductus. a quo interrogatus quis esset, timuit se militem fuisse confiteri; rusticum se potius et pauperem atque uxoreo uinculo conligatum fuisse respondit, et propter uictum militibus adferendum in expeditionem se cum suis similibus uenisse testatus est. at ille suscipiens eum, curam uulneribus egit; et ubi sanescere coepit, noctu eum, ne aufugeret, uinciri praecepit. nec tamen uinciri potuit : nam mox ut abiere qui uinxerant, eadem eius sunt uincula soluta.

Habebat enim germanum fratrem cui nomen erat Tunna, presbyterum et abbatem monasterii in ciuitate quae hactenus ab eius nomine Tunnaeastir cognominatur : qui cum eum in pugna peremtum audiret, uenit quaerere si forte corpus eius inuenire posset, inuentumque alium illi per omnia simillimum, putauit ipsum esse : quem ad monasterium suum deferens, honorifice sepeliuit et pro absolutione animae eius saepius missas facere curauit. quarum celebratione factum est quod dixi, ut nullus eum posset uincire, quin continuo solueretur. interea comes, qui eum tenebat, mirari et interrogare coepit quare ligari non posset, an forte litteras solutorias, de qualibus fabulae ferunt, apud se haberet, propter quas ligari non posset. at ille respondit, nil se talium artium nosse : ‘sed habeo fratrem’ inquit ‘presbyterum in mea prouincia, et scio quia ille me interfectum putans pro me missas crebras facit et, si nunc in alia uita essem, ibi anima mea per intercessionem eius solueretur a poenis.’ dumque aliquanto tempore apud comitem teneretur, animaduerterunt qui eum diligentius considerabant ex uultu et habitu et sermonibus eius, quia non erat de paupere uulgo, ut dixerat, sed de nobilibus. tunc secreto aduocans eum comes, interrogauit eum intentius unde esset, promittens se nihil ei mali facturum pro eo, si simpliciter sibi quis fuisset proderet. quod dum ille faceret, ministrum se regis fuisse manifestans, respondit : ‘et ego per singula tua responsa cognoueram quia rusticus non eras, et nunc dignus quidem es morte, quia omnes fratres et cognati mei in illa sunt pugna interempti ; nec te tamen occidam, ne fidem mei promissi praeuaricer.’

Vt ergo conualuit, uendidit eum Londonium Freso

cuidam; sed nec ab illo cum illuc duceretur ullatenus potuit alligari. uerum cum alia atque alia uinculorum ei genera hostes inponerent cumque uidisset qui emerat uinculis eum non potuisse cohiberi, donauit ei facultatem sese
 5 redimendi si posset. a tertia autem hora, quando missae fieri solebant, saepissime uincula soluebantur. at ille dato iureiurando ut rediret uel pecuniam illi pro se mitteret, uenit Cantiam ad regem Hlotheri qui erat filius sororis Aedilthrydæ reginae de qua supra dictum est, quia et ipse
 10 quondam eiusdem reginae minister fuerat: petiitque et accepit ab eo pretium suae redemptionis ac suo domino pro se, ut promiserat, misit.

Qui post haec patriam reuersus atque ad suum fratrem perueniens, replicauit ex ordine cuncta quae sibi aduersa
 15 quaeue in aduersis solacia prouenissent, cognouitque referente illo illis maxime temporibus sua fuisse uincula soluta, quibus pro se missarum fuerant celebrata sollemnia. sed et alia, quae periclitanti ei commoda contigissent et prospera, per intercessionem fraternam et oblationem hostiae salutaris
 20 caelitus sibi fuisse donata intellexit. multique haec a praefato uiro audientes accensi sunt in fide ac deuotione pietatis ad orandum uel ad elimosynas faciendas uel ad offerendas deo uictimas sacrae oblationis pro ereptione suorum qui de saeculo migrauerant: intellexerunt enim quia sacrificium 25 salutare ad redemptionem ualeret et animae et corporis sempiternam.

Hanc mihi historiam etiam quidam eorum, qui ab ipso uiro in quo facta est audiere, narrarunt: unde eam quia liquido comperi, indubitanter historiae nostrae ecclesiasticae 30 inserendam credidi.

Post haec facta est abbatissa in monasterio quod uocatur Heruteu; quod uidelicet monasterium factum erat non multo ante a religiosa Christi famula Heiu, quae prima feminarum fertur in prouincia Nordanhymbrorum propositum uestemque sanctimonialis habitus consecrante Aidano episcopo suscepisse. sed illa post non multum tempus facti monasterii secessit ad ciuitatem Calcariam quae a gente Anglorum Kælcacaestir appellatur, ibique sibi mansionem instituit. praelata autem regimini monasterii illius famula Christi Hild, mox hoc regulari uita per omnia, prout a doctis uiris discere poterat, ordinare curabat: nam et episcopus Aidan et quique nouerant eam religiosi, pro insita ei sapientia et amore diuini famulatus, sedulo eam uisitare obnixè amare diligenter erudire solebant.

Cum ergo aliquot annos huic monasterio regularis uitae institutioni multum intenta praesset, contigit eam suscipere etiam construendum siue ordinandum monasterium in loco qui uocatur Streaneshalch, quod opus sibi iniunctum non segniter impleuit. nam eisdem, quibus prius monasterium, etiam hoc disciplinis uitae regularis instituit: et quidem multam ibi quoque iustitiae pietatis et castimoniae ceterarumque uirtutum sed maxime pacis et caritatis custodiam docuit: ita ut in exemplum primitiuae ecclesiae nullus ibi diues nullus esset egens, omnibus essent omnia communia, cum nihil cuiusquam esse uideretur proprium. tantae autem erat ipsa prudentiae, ut non solum mediocres quique in necessitatibus suis, sed etiam reges ac principes nonnumquam ab ea quaerent consilium et inuenirent. tantum lectioni diuinarum scripturarum suos uacare subditos, tantum operibus iustitiae se exercere faciebat, ut facillime uiderentur ibidem, qui ecclesiasticum gradum, hoc est altaris officium, apte subirent, plurimi posse reperiri.

Denique u ex eodem monasterio postea episcopos uidi-

mus, et hos omnes singularis meriti ac sanctitatis uiros, quorum haec sunt nomina, Bosa Aetla Oftfor Iohannes et Vilfrid. de primo supra diximus quod Eboraci fuerit consecratus antistes : de secundo breuiter intimandum quod in episcopatum Dorciccaestræ fuerit ordinatus : de ultimis 5 infra dicendum est quod eorum primus Hagustaldensis, secundus Eboracensis ecclesiae sit ordinatus episcopus. de medio nunc dicamus, quia cum in utroque Hildae abbatissae monasterio lectioni et obseruationi scripturarum operam dedisset, tandem perfectiora desiderans uenit Cantiam ad 10 archiepiscopum beatae recordationis Theodorum : ubi postquam aliquandiu lectionibus sacris uacauit, etiam Romam adire curauit, quod eo tempore magnae uirtutis aestimabatur : et inde cum rediens Britanniam adisset, diuertit ad prouinciam Huicciorum cui tunc rex Osric praefuit ; ibique 15 uerbum fidei praedicans, simul et exemplum uiuendi sese uidentibus atque audientibus exhibens, multo tempore mansit. quo tempore antistes prouinciae illius uocabulo Bosel tanta erat corporis infirmitate depressus, ut officium episcopatus per se implere non posset : propter quod omnium 20 iudicio praefatus uir in episcopatum pro eo electus ac iubente Aedilredo rege per Vilfridum beatae memoriae antistitem, qui tunc temporis Mediterraneorum Anglorum episcopatum gerebat, ordinatus est : pro eo quod archiepiscopus Theodorus iam defunctus erat et necdum alius pro eo ordi- 25 natus episcopus. in quam uidelicet prouinciam paulo ante, hoc est ante praefatum uirum dei Boselum, uir strenuissimus et doctissimus atque excellentis ingenii uocabulo Tatfrid de eiusdem abbatissae monasterio electus est antistes sed, priusquam ordinari posset, morte inmatura praereptus est. 30

Non solum ergo praefata Christi ancilla et abbatissa Hild, quam omnes qui nouerant ob insigne pietatis et gratiae matrem uocare consuerant, in suo monasterio uitae exemplo praesentibus extitit; sed etiam plurimis longe manentibus, ad quos felix industriae ac uirtutis eius rumor peruenit, occasionem salutis et correctionis ministrauit. oportebat namque impleri somnium quod mater eius Bregusuid in infantia eius uidit. quae cum uir eius Hereric exularet sub rege Brettonum Cerdice, ubi et ueneno periit, uidit per somnium, quasi subito sublatum eum quaesierit cum omni diligentia nullumque eius uspiam uestigium apparuerit. uerum cum sollertissime illum quaesierit, extimplo se repperire sub ueste sua monile pretiosissimum quod, dum attentius consideraret, tanti fulgore luminis refulgere uidebatur, ut omnes Britanniae fines illius gratia splendoris impleret. quod nimirum somnium ueraciter in filia eius de qua loquimur expletum est: cuius uita non sibi solummodo, sed multis bene uiuere uolentibus exempla operum lucis praebuit.

Verum illa cum multis annis huic monasterio praesesset, placuit pio prouisorio salutis nostrae sanctam eius animam longa etiam infirmitate carnis examinari, ut iuxta exemplum apostoli uirtus eius in infirmitate perficeretur. percussa etenim febribus acri coepit ardore fatigari, et per sex continuos annos eadem molestia laborare non cessabat: in quo toto tempore numquam ipsa uel conditori suo gratias agere uel commissum sibi gregem et publice et priuatim docere praetermittebat. nam suo praedocta exemplo, monebat omnes et in salute accepta corporis domino obtemperanter seruiendum et in aduersis rerum siue infirmitatibus membrorum fideliter domino esse gratias semper agendas. septimo ergo suae infirmitatis anno conuerso ad interanea dolore ad diem peruenit ultimum, et circa galli cantum percepto uiatico sacrosanctae communionis cum arcessitis ancillis Christi quae erant in eodem monasterio, de seruanda eas inuicem immo cum omnibus pace euangelica ammoneret, inter uerba exhortationis laeta mortem uidit, immo, ut uerbis domini loquar, de morte transiuit ad uitam.

Qua uidelicet nocte dominus omnipotens obitum ipsius 5 in alio longius posito monasterio, quod ipsa eodem anno construxerat et appellatur Hacanos, manifesta uisione reuelare dignatus est. erat in ipso monasterio quaedam sanctimonialis femina nomine Begu, quae xxx et amplius annos dedicata domino uirginitate in monachica conuersatione seruiebat. 10
 haec tunc in dormitorio sororum pausans audiuit subito in aere notum campanae sonum, quo ad orationes excitari uel conuocari solebant cum quis eorum de saeculo fuisset euocatus, apertisque, ut sibi uidebatur, oculis aspexit detecto domus culmine fusam desuper lucem omnia repleuisse: cui 15 uidelicet luci dum sollicita intenderet, uidit animam praefatae dei famulae in ipsa luce comitantibus ac ducentibus angelis ad caelum ferri. cumque somno excussa uideret ceteras pausantes circa se sorores, intellexit uel in somnio uel in uisione mentis ostensum sibi esse quod uiderat. 20
 statimque exurgens nimio timore perterrita cucurrit ad uirginem quae tunc monasterio abbatissae uice praefuit, cui nomen erat Frigyd, fletuque ac lacrimis multum perfusa ac suspiria longa trahens nuntiauit matrem illarum omnium Hild abbatissam iam migrasse de saeculo et se aspectante 25 cum luce immensa ducibus angelis ad aeternae limina lucis et supernorum consortia ciuium ascendisse. quod cum illa audisset, suscitauit cunctas sorores et in ecclesiam conuocatas orationibus ac psalmis pro anima matris operam dare monuit. quod cum residuo noctis tempore diligenter agerent, 30 uenerunt primo diluculo fratres, qui eius obitum nuntiarent, a loco ubi defuncta est. at illae respondentes dixerunt se

Ferunt autem quod eadem nocte in ipso quoque mona-

 15 easque ad orandum pro anima eius, etiam priusquam cetera congregatio eius obitum cognouisset, excitauerit. quod ita fuisse factum mox congregationi mane facto innotuit. erat enim haec ipsa hora cum aliis nonnullis Christi ancillis in extremis monasterii locis seorsum posita, ubi nuper

Anglorum religiosa poemata facere temtabant, sed nullus eum aequiparare potuit. namque ipse non ab hominibus neque per hominem institutus canendi artem didicit, sed diuinitus adiutus gratis canendi donum accepit. unde nil umquam friuoli et superuacui poematis facere potuit sed ea 5 tantummodo quae ad religionem pertinent religiosam eius linguam decebant. siquidem in habitu saeculari usque ad tempora prouectoris aetatis constitutus nil carminum aliquando didicerat: unde nonnumquam in conuiuio, cum esset laetitiae causa decretum ut omnes per ordinem cantare 10 deberent, ille ubi adpropinquare sibi citharam cernebat, surgebat a media caena et egressus ad suam domum repedabat.

Quod dum tempore quodam faceret, et relicta domo conuiuui egressus esset ad stabula iumentorum quorum ei 15 custodia nocte illa erat delegata, ibique hora competenti membra dedisset sopori, adstitit ei quidam per somnium eumque salutans ac suo appellans nomine, 'Caedmon,' inquit 'canta mihi aliquid.' at ille respondens 'nescio' inquit 'cantare; nam et ideo de conuiuio egressus huc 20 secessi, quia cantare non poteram.' rursum ille qui cum eo loquebatur, 'attamen' ait 'mihi cantare habes.' 'quid' inquit 'debeo cantare?' at ille 'canta' inquit 'principium creaturarum.' quo accepto responso statim ipse coepit cantare in laudem dei conditoris uersus quos numquam 25 audierat, quorum iste est sensus: 'nunc laudare debemus auctorem regni caelestis, potentiam creatoris et consilium illius, facta patris gloriae; quomodo ille, cum sit aeternus deus, omnium miraculorum auctor exitit, qui primo filiis hominum caelum pro culmine tecti, dehinc terram custos 30 humani generis omnipotens creauit.' hic est sensus, non autem ordo ipse uerborum quae dormiens ille canebat:

neque enim possunt carmina, quamuis optime composita, ex alia in aliam linguam ad uerbum sine detrimento sui decoris ac dignitatis transferri. exurgens autem a somno cuncta quae dormiens cantauerat memoriter retinuit, et eis 5 mox plura in eundem modum uerba deo digni carminis adiunxit.

Veniensque mane ad uilicum qui sibi praeerat, quid doni percepisset indicauit, atque ad abbatissam perductus iussus est multis doctioribus uiris praesentibus indicare somnium
10 et dicere carmen, ut uniuersorum iudicio, quid uel unde esset quod referebat, probaretur. uisumque est omnibus caelestem ei a domino concessam esse gratiam; exponēbantque illi quendam sacrae historiae siue doctrinae sermonem, praecipientes eum, si posset, hunc in modulationem carminis
15 transferre. at ille suscepto negotio abiit, et mane rediens optimo carmine quod iubebatur compositum reddidit. unde mox abbatissa amplexata est gratiam dei in uiro; saecularem illum habitum relinquere et monachicum suscipere propositum docuit, susceptumque in monasterium cum omnibus
20 suis fratrum cohorti adsociauit iussitque illum seriem sacrae historiae doceri. at ipse cuncta quae audiendo discere poterat rememorando secum et quasi mundum animal ruminando in carmen dulcissimum conuertebat, suauiusque resonando doctores suos uicissim auditores sui faciebat. canebat
25 autem de creatione mundi et origine humani generis et tota genesis historia, de egressu Israel ex Aegypto et ingressu in terram repromissionis, de aliis plurimis sacrae scripturae historiis, de incarnatione dominica passione resurrectione et ascensione in caelum, de spiritus sancti aduentu et apostolo-
30 rum doctrina. item de terrore futuri iudicii et horrore poenae gehennalis ac dulcedine regni caelestis multa carmina faciebat, sed et alia perplura de beneficiis et iudiciis

diuinis, in quibus cunctis homines ab amore scelerum abstrahere, ad dilectionem uero et solertiam bonae actionis excitare curabat. erat enim uir multum religiosus et regularibus disciplinis humiliter subditus, aduersum uero illos qui aliter facere uolebant zelo magni feruoris accensus: unde et 5 pulchro uitam suam fine conclusit.

Nam propinquantem hora sui decessus, xiiii diebus praeueniente corporea infirmitate pressus est, adeo tamen moderate ut et loqui toto eo tempore posset et ingredi. erat autem in proximo casa, in qua infirmiores et qui prope 10 morituri esse uidebantur induci solebant. rogauit ergo ministrum suum uespere incumbente, nocte qua de saeculo erat exiturus, ut in ea sibi locum quiescendi praepararet: qui miratus cur hoc rogaret, qui nequaquam adhuc moriturus esse uidebatur, fecit tamen quod dixerat. cumque ibidem 15 positi uicissim aliqua gaudente animo, una cum eis qui ibidem ante inerant, loquerentur ac iocarentur et iam mediae noctis tempus esset transcensum, interrogauit, si eucharistiam intus haberent. respondebant, 'quid opus est eucharistia? neque enim mori adhuc habes, qui tam hilariter 20 nobiscum uelut sospes loqueris.' rursus ille 'et tamen' ait 'afferte mihi eucharistiam.' qua accepta in manu interrogauit, si omnes placidum erga se animum et sine querela controuersiae ac rancoris haberent. respondebant omnes placidissimam se mentem ad illum et ab omni ira remotam 25 habere, eumque uicissim rogabant placidam erga ipsos mentem habere. qui confestim respondit: 'placidam ego mentem, filioli, erga omnes dei famulos gero.' sicque se caelesti muniens uiatico uitae alterius ingressu parauit, et interrogauit, quam prope esset hora qua fratres ad dicendas 30 domino laudes nocturnas excitari deberent. respondebant, 'non longe est.' at ille: 'bene, ergo expectemus horam

illam.' et signans se signo sanctae crucis reclinauit caput ad ceruical, modicumque obdormiens ita cum silentio uitam finiuit. sicque factum est ut, quomodo simplici ac pure mente tranquillaque deuotione domino seruierat, ita etiam 5 tranquilla morte mundum relinquens ad eius uisionem ueniret illaque lingua, quae tot salutaria uerba in laudem conditoris composuerat, ultima quoque uerba in laudem ipsius signando sese et spiritum suum in manus eius commendando clauderet: qui etiam praescius sui obitus extitisse ex his

insula permodica, quae appellatur Farne et ab eadem ecclesia nouem ferme milibus passuum in oceano procul abest, uitam solitariam per annos plures in magna corporis et mentis continentia duxerat. qui quidem a prima aetate
 5 pueritiae studio religiosae uitae semper ardebat, sed ab ineunte adulescentia monachicum et nomen adsumsit et habitum. intrauit autem primo monasterium Mailros, quod in ripa Tuidi fluminis positum tunc abbas Eata uir omnium mansuetissimus ac simplicissimus regebat, qui postea episcopus
 10 Hagustaldensis siue Lindisfarnensis ecclesiae factus est, ut supra memorauimus, cui tempore illo propositus Boisil magnarum uirtutum et prophetici spiritus sacerdos fuit. huius discipulatu Cudberct humiliter subditus, et scientiam ab eo scripturarum et bonorum operum sumpsit exempla.

15 Qui postquam migravit ad dominum, Cudberct eidem monasterio factus propositus plures et auctoritate magistri et exemplo suae actionis regularem instituebat ad uitam. nec solum ipsi monasterio regularis uitae monita simul et exempla praebebat, sed et uulgus circumpositum longe lateque
 20 a uita stultae consuetudinis ad caelestium gaudiorum conuertere curabat amorem. nam et multi fidem quam habebant iniquis profanabant operibus, et aliqui etiam tempore mortalitatis, neglectis fidei sacramentis quibus erant inbuti, ad erratica idolatriae medicamina concurrebant;
 25 quasi missam a deo conditore plagam per incantationes uel fylacteria uel alia quaelibet daemoniacae artis arcana cohibere ualerent. ad utrorumque ergo corrigendum errorem crebro ipse de monasterio egressus, aliquotiens equo sedens sed saepius pedes incedens, circumpositas ueniebat ad uillas
 30 et uiam ueritatis praedicabat errantibus; quod ipsum etiam Boisil suo tempore facere consueuerat. erat quippe moris eo tempore populis Anglorum, ut ueniente in uillam clerico

uel presbytero cuncti ad eius imperium uerbum audituri confluerent, libenter ea quae dicerentur audirent, libentius quae audire et intellegere poterant operando sequerentur. porro Cudbercto tanta erat dicendi peritia tantus amor persuadendi quae coeperat tale uultus angelici lumen, ut nullus praesentium latebras ei sui cordis celare praesumeret omnes palam quae gesserant confitendo proferrent quia nimirum haec eadem illum latere nullo modo putabant, et confessa dignis ut imperabat paenitentiae fructibus abstergerent. solebat autem ea maxime loca peragrare, illis praedicare in uiculis, qui in arduis asperisque montibus procul positi aliis horrore erant ad uisendum et paupertate pariter ac rusticitate sua doctorum arcebant accessum: quos tamen ille pio libenter mancipatus labori tanta doctrinae sollertis excolebat industria, ut de monasterio egressus saepe ebdomade integra, aliquando duabus uel tribus, nonnumquam etiam mense pleno domum non rediret, sed demoratus in montanis plebem rusticam uerbo praedicationis simul et opere uirtutis ad caelestia uocaret.

Cum ergo uenerabilis domini famulus multos in Mailronensi monasterio degens annos magnis uirtutum signis effulgeret, transtulit eum reuerentissimus abbas ipsius Eata ad insulam Lindisfarnensium, ut ibi quoque fratribus custodiam disciplinae regularis et auctoritate propositi intimaret et propria actione praemonstraret. nam et ipsum locum tunc idem reuerentissimus pater abbatis iure regebat; siquidem a temporibus ibidem antiquis et episcopus cum clero et abbas solebat manere cum monachis, qui tamen et ipsi ad curam episcopi familiariter pertinerent. quia nimirum Aidan, qui primus eius loci episcopus fuit, cum monachis illuc et ipse monachus adueniens monachicam in eo conuersionem instituit: quomodo et prius beatus pater Augustinus in dum facerent ad fidem et preces famuli dei, alio die aqua plena inuenta est, quae usque ad hanc diem sufficientem cunctis illo aduenientibus gratiae suae caelestis copiam ministrat. sed et ferramenta sibi ruralia cum frumento adferri rogauit, quod dum praeparata terra tempore congruo seminaret, nil omnino, non dico spicarum sed ne herbae quidem, ex eo germinare usque ad aestatis tempora contigit. unde uisitantibus se ex more fratribus ordeum iussit adferri, si forte uel natura soli illius uel uoluntas esset superni largitoris ut illius frugis ibi potius 10 seges oriretur. quod dum sibi adlatum ultra omne tempus serendi ultra omnem spem fructificandi eodem in agro sereret, mox copiosa seges exorta desideratam proprii laboris uiro dei refectionem praebebat.

Cum ergo multis ibidem annis deo solitarius seruiret 15 (tanta autem erat altitudo aggeris quo mansio eius erat uallata, ut caelum tantum ex ea cuius introitum sitiebat aspicere posset), contigit ut congregata synodo non paruo sub praesentia regis Ecgfridi iuxta fluuium Alne in loco qui dicitur Aduifyrði, quod significat 'ad duplex uadum,' cui 20 beatæ memoriae Theodorus archiepiscopus praesidebat, uno animo omniumque consensu ad episcopatum ecclesiae Lindisfarnensis eligeretur. qui cum multis legatariis ac litteris ad se praemissis nequaquam suo monasterio posset erui, tandem rex ipse praefatus, una cum sanctissimo antis- 25 tite Trumuine nec non et aliis religiosis ac potentibus uiris, insulam nauigauit. conueniunt et de ipsa insula Lindisfarnensi in hoc ipsum multi de fratribus, genuflectunt omnes adiurant per dominum lacrimas fundunt obsecrant, donec ipsum quoque lacrimis plenum dulcibus extrahunt latebris 30 atque ad synodum pertrahunt. quo dum perueniret, quamuis multum renitens, unanima cunctorum uoluntate superatur

 5 eum futurum esse praedixerat. nec tamen statim ordinatio decreta, sed peracta hieme quae iminebat, in ipsa sollemnitate paschali completa est Eboraci sub praesentia praefati regis Ecgfridi, conuenientibus ad consecrationem eius uii episcopis in quibus beatae memoriae Theodorus primatum
 10 tenebat. electus est autem primo in episcopatum Hagustaldensis ecclesiae pro Tunbercto qui ab episcopatu fuerat depositus: sed quoniam ipse plus Lindisfarnensi ecclesiae, in qua conuersatus fuerat, dilexit praefici, placuit ut Eata reuerso ad sedem ecclesiae Hagustaldensis, cui regendae 15 primo fuerat ordinatus, Cudberct ecclesiae Lindisfarnensis gubernacula susciperet.

Qui susceptum episcopatus gradum ad imitationem beatorum apostolorum uirtutum ornabat operibus. commissam namque sibi plebem et orationibus protegebat adsiduis et 20 admonitionibus saluberrimis ad caelestia uocabat. et, quod maxime doctores iuuare solet, ea quae agenda docebat ipse prius agendo praemonstrabat. erat quippe ante omnia diuinae caritatis igne feruidus patientiae uirtute modestus orationum deuotioni solertissime intentus affabilis omnibus
 25 qui ad se consolationis gratia ueniebant, hoc ipsum quoque orationis loco ducens, si infirmis fratribus opem suae exhortationis tribueret; sciens quia, qui dixit 'diliges dominum deum tuum,' dixit et 'diliges proximum.' erat abstinentiae castigatione insignis, erat gratia compunctionis semper ad

15 castigans longae aegritudinis dolor: quatinus aequatus gratia suo intercessori, sicut uno eodemque tempore cum eo de corpore egredi ita etiam una atque indissimili sede perpetuae beatitudinis meruisset recipi.

Obiit autem pater reuerentissimus in insula Farne,

Ordinatus est autem post haec Eadberct, uir scientia diuinarum scripturarum simul et praeceptorum caelestium obseruantia ac maxime elimosynarum operatione insignis,

NEC silentio praetereundum quod ante triennium per deformis palpebram oculi foedauerat: qui cum per dies crescens oculo interitum minaretur, curabant medici hunc quidam abscidendum esse docebant, alii hoc fieri metu maioris periculi uetabant. cumque tempore non pauco

 oculo exitium humana manus curare ualeret quin per dies

 sanctissimi patris Cudbercti reliquias sanari. nam quando fratres sui corpus ipsius post multos sepulturae annos incorruptum repperierunt, tulerunt partem de capillis quam more reliquiarum rogantibus amicis dare uel ostendere in

DILECTISSIMO in Christo collectori Cuthwino Cuthbertus condiscipulus in deo aeternam salutem. munusculum quod misisti multum libenter accepi, multumque gratanter litterastuae deuotae eruditionis legi, in quibus, quod maxime desiderabam, missas uidelicet et oraciones sacrosanctas pro deo dilecto patre ac magistro Baeda a uobis diligenter celebrari repperi. unde delectat magis pro eius caritate, quam fretus ingenio, paucis sermonibus dicere, quo ordine migraret a saeculo, cum etiam hoc te desiderasse et poposcisse intellexi. grauatus est quidem infirmitate et maxime creberrimi anhelitus, sed tamen pene sine aliquo dolore, ante diem autem resurrectionis dominice, id est fere duabus ebdomadibus; et sic postea letus et gaudens graciasque agens omnipotenti deo omni die et nocte, immo horis omnibus usque ad diem ascensionis dominicae, id est uii id maī uitam ducebat, et nobis suis discipulis cottidie lecciones dabat, et quidquid reliquum fuit diei in psalmorum cantu, prout potuit, se occupabat; totam uero noctem letus in oracionibus et graciaram accione deo ducere studebat nisi tantum modicus somnus impediret. itemque autem euigilans statim consueta scripturarum modulamina ruminabat extensisque manibus deo gratias agere non est oblitus. uere fateor quia neminem unquam alium oculis meis uidi nec auribus audiui, tam diligenter gracias deo uiuo referre. o uere beatus uir! canebat autem sentenciam sancti Pauli apostoli dicentis ‘horrendum est incidere in manus dei uiuentis’ et multa alia de

timeo, quia bonum dominum habemus'. in istis autem diebus dua opuscula memoriae digna, exceptis lectionibus quas cottidie accepimus ab eo et cantu psalmodum, facere studuit. id est a capite sancti euangelii Iohannis usque ad eum locum in quo dicitur, 'sed haec quid sunt inter tantos?' 5 in nostram linguam ad utilitatem ecclesiae dei conuertit, et de libris Isidori episcopi excerptiones quasdam dicens: 'nolo ut pueri mei mendacium legant et in hoc post meum obitum sine fructu laborent'. cum uenisset autem tertia feria ante ascensionem domini coepit uehementius 10 egrotare in anhelitu et modicus tumor in suis pedibus apparuit. totum tamen illum diem docebat et hilariter dictabat et nonnumquam inter alia dixit: 'discite cum festinatione; quia nescio quandiu subsistam et si post modicum tollat me factor meus'. nobis tamen uidebatur ne forte 15 exitum suum bene sciret et sic noctem in gratiarum actione peruigil duxit. et mane inlucescente, id est quarta feria, praecepit diligenter scribi quae coeperamus. et hoc fecimus usque ad terciam horam. a tertia autem hora ambulauimus cum reliquiis sanctorum, ut consuetudo illius diei poscebat. 20 et unus erat ex nobis cum illo, qui dixit illi: 'adhuc capitulum unum de libro quem dictasti deest. et uidetur mihi difficile tibi esse plus te interrogare'; at ille inquit, 'facile est, accipe tuum calamum et tempera, festinanterque scribe.' et ille hoc fecit. a nona hora dixit mihi: 'quaedam pre- 25 ciosa in mea capsella habeo, id est piperum oraria et incensa; sed curre uelociter et adduc presbiteros nostri monasterii ad me, ut et ego munuscula qualia mihi deus donauit illis distribuam'. et hoc cum tremore feci et praesentibus illis locutus est ad eos et unumquemque, monens 30 et obsecrans pro eo missas diligenter et orationes facere: et illi libenter respondere. lugebant autem et flebant omnes, maxime autem in uerbo quod dixerat quia aestimarent quod faciem eius amplius non multo in hoc saeculo essent uisuri. gaudebant autem de eo quod dixit: 'tempus est, si sic factori meo uidetur, ut ad eum modo absolutus ex

5 carne ueniam, qui me quando non eram ex nihilo formauit. multum tempus uixi, beneque mihi pius iudex uitam meam praeuidit. tempus absolucionis meae prope est, etenim anima mea desiderat regem meum Christum in decore suo uidere'. sic et alia multa utilitatis causa ad aedificationem
10 nostram locutus in letitia diem ultimum usque ad uesperum duxit, et praefatus puer nomine uuilberche adhuc dixit: 'magister dilecte, restat adhuc una sententia non descripta'. at ille 'bene' inquit 'scribe'. et post modicum dixit puer: 'modo descripta est'. at ille 'bene' inquit 'consummatum
15 est, ueritatem dixisti; accipe meum caput in manus tuas, quia multum me delectat sedere ex aduerso loco sancto meo, in quo orare solebam, ut et ego sedens patrem meum inuocare possim.' et sic in pauimento suae casulae decantans 'gloria patri et filio et spiritui sancto' et cetera, ultimum e
20 corpore exhalauit spiritum, atque ut sine dubio credendum est quod pro eo quia hic semper deuotissimus in dei laudibus laborauerat ad gaudia desideriorum celestium anima eius ab angelis portaretur. omnes autem qui audiere uel uidere obitum Baedani patris nostri, numquam se uidisse alium in tam
25 magna deuocione atque tranquillitate uitam suam finisse dicebant: quia, sicut audisti, quousque anima eius in corpore fuit, 'gloria patri' et alia quaedam ad gloriam dei cecinit et expansis manibus deo gratias agere non cessabat. scire autem debes quia adhuc multa narrari et scribi possunt
30 de eo sed nunc breuitatem sermonis ineruditio meae linguae facit. attamen cogito deo adiuuante ex tempore plenius de eo scribere quae oculis uidi et auribus audiui. finit de obitu Bedani presbyteri.

DESIDERANTISSIMO et suauissimo in Christi dilectione amico Lullo episcopo et omnium antistitum carissimo Gutberct, discipulus Beda presbiteri, salutem.

Gratanter quidem munuscula tuae caritatis suscepi; et eo gratantius, quo te haec intimo deuotionis affectu mittere cognoui. id est, holosericam ad reliquias beatae memoriae Baeda magistri nostri ob recordationem et illius uenerationem destinasti. et rectum quidem mihi uidetur, ut tota gens Anglorum in omnibus prouinciis, ubicumque reperti sunt, gratias deo referant, quia tam mirabilem uirum, praeditum in diuersis donis tamque ad exercenda dona studiosum similiterque in bonis moribus uiuentem, deus illis in sua natione donauit. quia per experimentum, ad pedes eius nutritus, hoc quod narro didici. similiterque mihi et ipsi coopertorium uariatam, ad tegendum scilicet propter frigus meum corpus, misisti. quod uidelicet omnipotenti deo et beato Paulo apostolo ad induendum altare, quod in eius ecclesia deo consecratum est, cum magno gaudio dedi; quia et ego sub eius protectione in hoc monasterio quadraginta et sex annos uixi.

Nunc uero, quia rogasti aliquid de opusculis beati patris, cum meis pueris iuxta uires, quod potui, tuae dilectioni praeparauit: libellos de uiro dei Cudbercto, metro et prosa compositos, tuae uoluntati direxi. et, si plus potuissem, libenter uoluisssem. quia praesentia praeteriti hiemis multum horribiliter insulam nostrae gentis in frigore et gelu et uentorum et imbrium procellis diu lateque depressit, ideoque scriptoris manus, ne in plurimorum librorum numerum perueniret, retardaretur.....

we are much beholding to his ecclesiastical history, written by him and dedicated to Ceolwoolfus king of Northumberland. a worthy work indeed, though, in some respect, we could heartily wish that his faith had been lesse, and his charity more. faith lesse in believing and reporting so 5 many prodigious miracles of the Saxons: except any will say, that this in him was not so much uitium hominis, as saeculi. charity more, I mean to the Britans, being no friend to them, and over-partial to his own country-men; slightly and slenderly touching British matters, onely 10 thereof to make a pedestall, the more fairly to reare and advance his Saxon history thereupon.

Some report that Bede never went out of his cell, but lived and died therein. if so, the scholars of Cambridge will be very sory, because thereby deprived of their honour, 15 by Bede's living once in their university; whose house they still shew, betwixt S<sup>t</sup> John's colledge and Round-church, or S<sup>t</sup> Sepulchres. surely Bede was not fixed to his cell, as the cockle to his shel, seeing no observance of his Benedictine order imposed such a penance upon him. indeed his own 20 words, in the end of his book, give some countenance to their conjecture of his voluntary confinement, speaking of himself, cunctum tempus uitae in eiusdem monasterii habitatione peragens. but his expression imports onely his generall residence therein, that he was no gadder abroad, or dis- 25 continuer from his convent, for a long time; though he might for some short space make his abode elsewhere: thus, when of the prophetesse it is said, that she departed not from the temple: we understand it not so, as if she never went out thereof; but that for the main, she spent the most 30 of her time therein.

He is generally surnamed venerable, but why, authours differ therein. some say, a dunce-monk, being to make his epitaph, was non-pluss'd to make that dactyle, which is onely of the quorum in the hexameter, and therefore at night left the verse gaping,

hic sunt in fossa Bedae—ossa.

5 till he had consulted with his pillow, to fill up the hiatus. but returning in the morning, an angel (we have often heard of their singing, see now of their poetry) had filled up the chasma with uenerabilis. others, disclaiming this conceit, assign this reason: because Bede's homilies were (as afore-
 10 said) read in all churches in his life-time (flores sanctorum in the life of Bede, page 528); plain Bede was conceived too little, and S<sup>t</sup> Bede too much; because, according to popish (but not S<sup>t</sup> Paul's) principles, saint is too much flattery to be given to any whilst alive; Solon allowing none happy,
 15 and this mine authour none, in this degree, holy, before their death. wherefore venerable was found out as an expedient to accommodate the difference, luckily hitting the mark, as a title neither too high nor too low; just even to so good a man, and great a scholar, whilst alive. this is 20 observable in all those who have written the life of Bede; that, whereas such Saxon-saints, as had not the tenth of his sanctity, nor hundredth part of his learning, are said to have wrought miracles ad lectoris nauseam; not one single miracle is reported to have been done by Bede. whereof (under 25 favour) I conceive this the reason: monks, who wrote the lives of many of their saints, knew little more of them then their bare names, and times wherein they lived; which made them historiae uacua miraculis supplere, to plump up the hollownesse of their history. with improbable miracles, 30 swelling the bowells of their books with empty wind, in default of sufficient solid food to fill them. whereas Bede's life affording plenty and variety of reall and effectuall matter, the writer thereof (why should a rich man be a thief, or lyar?) had no temptation (I am sure no need) to farse his book with fond miracles, who might rather leave, then lack of materiall passages therein.

One of the last things he did, was the translating of the gospel of S<sup>t</sup> John into English. when death seised on 5 him, one of his devout scholars, whom he used for his secretary, or amanuensis, complained, My beloved master, there remains yet one sentence unwritten. Write it then quickly, replied Bede: and summoning all his spirits together (like the last blaze of a candle going out) he indited 10 it, and expired. thus God's children are immortall, whiles their Father hath any thing for them to do on earth; and death, that beast, cannot overcome and kill them, till first they have finished their testimony: which done, like silk-worms, they willingly die, when their web is ended, and are com- 15 fortably entombed in their own endeavours. nor have I ought else to observe of Bede, save onely this; a forreign embassadour, some two hundred yeares since, coming to Durham, addressed himself first to the high and sumptuous shrine of S<sup>t</sup> Cuthbert, If thou beest a saint, pray for me: 20 then coming to the plain, low, and little tombe of Bede, Because (said he) thou art a saint, good Bede, pray for me.

XIX

HE was the most general scholar of that age. let a 5 sophister begin with his axioms, a batchelor of art proceed to his metaphysicks, a master to his mathematicks, and a divine conclude with his controversies and com- 10 ments on scripture, and they shall find him better in all, than any Christian writer in that age, in any of those arts and sciences. he expounded almost all the bible, 30

translated the Psalms and New Testament into English, and lived a comment on those words of the apostle, shining as a light in the world, in the midst of a crooked and perverse generation. he was no gadder abroad, credible
 5 authors avouching that he never went out of his cell; though both Cambridge and Rome pretend to his habitation. yet his corps after his death...took a journey, or rather were removed to Durham and there enshrined.

BUT what if one, through grove or flowery mead, indulging thus at will the creeping feet

 5 thy hovering shade, o venerable Bede!

AT its completion it was received by the public with it piously as a memorial of the virtue of their ancestors; 20 and Alfred the Great translated it into the Anglo-Saxon tongue for the instruction of those who could not read it in

 we should know nothing of the missionaries who brought to our pagan ancestors the light of the gospel, or the manners 25 of the clergy, or the worship and rites of the infant church.
 the style is easy and perspicuous; and, though far inferior higher praise than any other specimen of the age. to some readers the credulity of the writer with respect to miracles will appear a blemish; but no one can doubt his candour and veracity, nor rise from his pages without feeling himself pleased and edified with that spirit of unaffected piety 5 which pervades and animates his narrative.

THE reputation of Beda survived and grew after his death. the Saxons were proud that their nation had produced so eminent a writer; the monks of Wear- 10 mouth and Jarrow were harassed with solicitations for copies of his works; and, at the distance of a hundred years, the prelates of the Franks, in the council of Aix-la-Chapelle, numbered him among the fathers of the church, and styled him the venerable and admirable doctor. if the 15 improvements of modern times have diminished the value of his writings, this circumstance ought no more to detract from his merit, than it does from that of the philosophers of Greece and Rome. Beda was a great man for the age in which he lived; he would have been so had he lived in 20 any other age.

XXV

NO one imparts to the age of the 'wisest king' [Aldfrith of Northumberland] greater brilliancy than [Beda], whose knowledge was profound and almost universal..... 25 if, on a consideration of his works, it must appear manifest that that age possessed more means of knowledge, both in manuscripts and learned ecclesiastics, than we are wont to ascribe to it; and even if we must recognise in Beda the high culture of the Roman church, rather than Anglo-Saxon nationality, yet the acknowledgement which his merits found in Rome during his life, and, shortly after 5 his death, wherever learning could penetrate, proves that in him we justly venerate a wonder of the time. his numerous theological writings.....throughout many ages, until the total revolution in that branch of learning, found readers and transcribers in every cloister of Europe. his

 10 knowledge of Greek, of medicine, of astronomy, of prosody, he made subservient to the instruction of his contemporaries; his work 'de sex huius saeculi aetatibus', though less used than it deserves to be, is the basis of most of the universal chronicles of the middle age. but his greatest
 15 merit, which will preserve his name through all future generations, consists in his historic works, so far as they concern his own native land. if a second man like himself had arisen in his days, who with the same clear, circumspect glance, the same honest and pious purpose, had recorded 20 the secular transactions of his forefathers, as Beda has transmitted to us those chiefly of the church, then would the history of England have been to posterity almost like revelation for Germanic antiquity.

DER erste Germane, der sich die allgemeine aus dem 10 Alterthume stammende Gelehrsamkeit aneignete, ist ein Angelsachse gewesen, der ehrwürdige Beda; der erste germanische Dialekt, in welchem man Geschichte geschrieben und Gesetze verzeichnet hat, war dagegen ebenfalls der angelsächsische. trotz alle Verehrung gegen die 15 Schwellen der Apostel, nahm man doch nicht mehr fremdgeborne Priester bei sich auf, als zur Gründung der neuen Kirche unentbehrlich waren: bei dem allmählichen Fortgang der Bekehrung bedurfte es dessen nicht, in kurzem finden wir überall in der Kirche angelsächsische 20 Namen: die Erzbischöfe und vornehmsten Bischöfe stehen in so enger Beziehung zu den königlichen Geschlechtern, wie früher die heidnischen Oberpriester.

G kirchen-historische Schriften Wien 1872 II 13): 'eine kritische Ausgabe der sämmtlichen Werke Beda des ehrwürdigen ist noch immer ein eben so berechtigter als frommer Wunsch der Gelehrten, und es ist ungemein zu beklagen, dass es den gelehrten Maurinern nicht gegönnt war, auch dieses Verdienst sich zu erwerben'.

SO verkörpert Beda...die energische Arbeitskraft, den positiven und historischen Sinn, die Liebe zur Einfachheit und Wahrheit, die in dem besseren Kern des 5 englischen Volksthums vielleicht die bestimmenden Elemente bilden.

<sup>1</sup> Bernhard ten Brink Geschichte der englischen Literatur Berlin 1877 I 43—47 (the monasteries of Wearmouth and Jarrow, their libraries and school, Beda's wide reputation; his pupil Egbert a patron of learning; Aldhelm and Beda, alike enthusiastic for religion and learning, alike 'rooted in their native soil, yet powerfully attracted by ancient culture', but in other respects opposites; Aldhelm of a more feminine, Beda of a more masculine type; the former of more delicate sensibility, of a livelier fancy, but less energetic, less productive; the latter distinguished by clearness and simple grandeur of conception, of less poetic genius, but active in every region of science. 'In every subject, which he took in hand, he became an often cited authority for the whole remainder of the middle ages,—and that not in his own country alone'. His church history 'displays a love of truth, a diligence in collecting documentary materials, and is distinguished in conception and style by an objectivity, clearness and simplicity, which raise it far above the level of contemporary history').

„ 7 IN HIS SEVENTH YEAR regula s Benedicti c 61 'de filiis nobilium et pauperum qui offeruntur'. The parents (or guardians) of 20 the child led him up to the altar; they solemnly swore before witnesses that he should be deprived of whatever worldly goods might otherwise become his; or if they were unwilling to do this, an offering might be made on his behalf to the monastery; the child's hands were then folded in the covering of the altar, and the rites by which he was irrevocably 25 bound to the service of that altar were completed (Stevenson). See an example in Beda h e III 24. Boniface, writing to Fulred abbat of St

As late as 1740 sick children were taken to 'Bede's well' about a mile to the west of Jarrow: 'a crooked pin was put in, and the well
5 dry between each dipping. My informant has seen twenty children brought together on a Sunday to be dipt in this well; at which also on Midsummer-eve there was a great resort of neighbouring people with bonfires, music etc.' (Brand-Ellis popular ant 1813 II 270. Surtees Durham II 69, 80). Crooked pins are still to be seen 10 in the well. The distance between Wearmouth and Jarrow is about six miles. Cf Dugdale new ed I 501-4. esp Alcuin ed Jaffé pp 120. 196. 200. 839. 841. 843. 845.

 35 (c II 14) in which the spirit of pride is cast out by the finger of God tuam, Christe, clementiam suppliciter imploro, ut spiritus tuus bonus deducat me in uiam rectam, et eum qui ab aquilone est, longe faciat a me, quatenus eiectis a me malignis scruter mandata dei mei reuelatisque mentis oculis ad consideranda tuae sacrosanctae legis mirabilia

deuotus lector ingrediatur. In the liber retractationum in actus apostolorum he adds to and corrects (sometimes with reference to the Greek) the commentary composed some years before rogatu uenerabilis episcopi Acca (ibid 995<sup>o</sup>). In the 'explanatio apocalypsis' he follows mainly Tychonius, except where that author was misled by Donatist leanings 5 (ibid XCIII 133<sup>a</sup> seq) plura uero, quae illi utpote uiro ingenioso . . . aperta nec quaesitu digna uidebantur, quantum uel magistrorum traditione uel memoria lectionis uel etiam captu nostri sensus attingere potuimus, superadicere curauimus . . . nostrae siquidem, id est Anglorum, gentis inertiae consulendum ratus, 10 quae et non dudum, id est temporibus beati Gregorii papae, semen accepit fidei et idem quantum ad lectionem tepide satis excoluit, non solum dilucidare sensus uerum sententias quoque stringere disposui. The reputation of these commentaries was great and enduring. Thus Seruatus Lupus de tribus quaestionibus (ed Baluze Par 1664) 289 Beda 15 diuinis litteris impense doctus. id ep 62 p 104 begs the abbat Alsig an Englishman to lend him Quintilian, certain commentaries of Jerome and Bedae quoque uestri similiter quaestiones in utrumque testamentum. The monk of St Gall (cent IX in Jaffé monum Carol Berl 1867 632) doctissimi Bedae presbiteri, peritissimi quidem post 20 sanctum Gregorium in scripturis tractatoris. Walafrid Strabo often cites him in the glossa ordinaria, Smaragdus (cent IX in Migne CII) consulted him for his collections on the epistles and gospels for the year, and some 25 lessons from him are still read in the Roman breviary (enumerated by J A Ginzl kirchenhistorische Schriften Wien 1872 25 II 13). Christianus Druthmar (cent IX? in Migne CVI 1263 <sup>a</sup><sup>b</sup>) expos in Matt proli in Marco non est necessarium manum mittere post beatum Bedam . in Luca quoque audio post sanctum Ambrosium eundem Bedam manum misisse, sed non potui inuenire adhuc nisi quasdam eius homelias (cf his citations of a 'rhythmus' of Beda 1464<sup>d</sup>, 1465<sup>a</sup>). Paschasius Radbert cites Hier Ambr Aug Greg IoChrys 'eorumque ultimum Bedam presbyterum' as sources of his exposition on Matt; he also (likewise to no purpose) adopted Beda's mode of citation by the initials of his authors' names (Migne CXX 35<sup>o</sup>). Dom Pitra's promise (Ceillier 19 b) 'de donner dans le spicilegium Solesmense les véritables 35 commentaires de Bède sur le Psautier et sur saint Paul, tirés des manuscrits en caractères anglo-saxons', has not been fulfilled.

The letter of Honorius (Bed h e II 18) is dated 11 June 634, but the words id est anno dominicae incarnationis sexcentesimo tricesimo quarto are probably Beda's gloss. The earliest genuine 35 document bearing date AD in Haddan-Stubbs is of the year 680 (III 164, cf. 300). In or after 736 (ibid 336) Boniface (ep. 30 Jaffé, 40 Würdtwein) asks Nothelm in quoto anno ab incarnatione Christi praedicatores primi missi a sancto Gregorio in gentem Anglorum uenissent.

Willibald (uita Bonif c 8 p 469 Jaffé) gives 755 A D as the year of Boniface's death. From the beginning of the ninth century at latest the reckoning A D is general in England. Several of Beda's errors are noticed by G Oppert über die Entstehung der Aera Dionysiana in 5 Jahrb f Philologie xci (1865) 809—27.

NOTES

I

AFTER the death of Aeduini, his cousin Osric succeeded in the kingdom of the Deiri, and Eanfrid, son of Aedilfrid, to the throne of Bernicia. Both these monarchs renounced the christian faith, and fell back into idolatry. Ceadualla king of the Brettones was used as the instrument of Heaven's vengeance on them both. He slew Osric first, in a sally from a town which Osric was besieging, and before the end of the year Eanfrid was also slain by him when he had come to sue for peace. For a year the province of Northumbria was ravaged by the tyrant Ceadualla. To obliterate the memory of these apostate kings, and the sufferings of the province during this unhappy year, the names of Osric and Eanfrid are omitted from the records of the province, and that year added to the term of the reign of Oswald, who, succeeding his brother Eanfrid, slew Ceadualla at Denisesburna.

P 19 I INTERFECTO IN PVGNA AEDVINO in the battle of Hæthfelth (Hatfield in the W Riding) 12 Oct 633, where he was slain, aet 48, fighting against Ceadualla king of the Britons and Penda the pagan king of the Mercians, after a reign of 17 years over Britons and Saxons (II 20). For the extent of his dominions see II 5 Aeduin rex Nordanhymbrorum gentis, id est eius quae ad borealem Humbrae fluminis plagam inhabitat, maiore potentia cunctis qui Britanniam incolunt Anglorum pariter et Brittonum populis praefuit, praeter Cantuariis tantum: necnon et Meuanias Brittonum insulas, quae inter Hiberniam et Britanniam sitae sunt, Anglorum subiecit imperio. It is added that Oswald maintained the same boundaries. cf II 9. faith of the Angles in no account, and communicate with them no more than with heathen.

BEFORE engaging in the battle against Ceadualla, Osuald erected a cross and he and his men prayed before it, and their faith was rewarded with victory. The place where the cross was erected was called Hefenfelth (Heaven's field) and many miracles are known to have been performed there; also water in which chips taken from the cross have been steeped, has restored to health both men and cattle when they have either drunk or been sprinkled with it. The brethren of the monastery of Hagustald keep a yearly watch and service on this spot for the rest of King Osuald's soul, and a church has since been built there. As an instance of the miraculous powers of this cross and all things connected with it, Beda relates the cure of the broken arm of one of the brethren at Hagustald by means of some moss brought to him from the cross by one of his fellows.

This chapter is cited in Amalar Metens eccles off I 14 (Migne CV 1029<sup>d</sup>, a chapter 'on the adoration of the holy cross') 'some would fain adore the very cross on which the Lord was crucified. I would that it were in all churches, it would be deservedly revered before others. Though every church cannot have it, yet the power of the holy cross is not wanting in those crosses which are made after the likeness of the Lord's cross, as we read in the book of the history of the Angles respecting Oswald,' etc. ib. 1030<sup>b-d</sup> 'as we accept the other sayings of dominus Beda, why should we not also accept these, wherein is narrated the Lord's power, displayed by the veneration of the holy cross? If any one shall choose to say, that what Beda reports of the wood of the holy cross did not really happen, and if such a doubter is believed, he will be able to overthrow many testimonies of holy Scriptures, which God forbid. And if any one shall choose to disparage (? succensere) this present deed, he appears to rebel against God who bestowed this power on the wood of the holy cross, that it not only for the present gave the victory to his servant, but also in later time worked miracles by the merits of the holy cross.... But if any one shall say: "Why do you not adore the ass, because the Lord sat on it, or other such things, which the Lord touched with his body?" I reply secundum paruitatem meam, that I do not read on the authority of holy fathers, that miracles and healings were displayed from them, as by the power of the holy cross; and neither do I know that I was redeemed by them as by the holy cross, nor that the devil's arts were scattered, hell gates broken, the souls of the righteous led to paradise by them, as by it.' Cf. Lingard II 94 95 on the devotion paid to the cross by the Anglo-Saxons.

On their piteous appeal a legion was sent, which drove back the invaders and, on leaving the island, urged the Britons to build a stone wall from sea to sea. Having no engineer equal to the task, the Britons only raised a uallum of turf. The wall of Hadrian runs from Wallsend on the Tyne to Bowness, almost due E and W, to a length of 73½ miles. It consists of three parts: the uallum (mound of earth and trench), a stone wall with towers at intervals and smaller forts of distances of about a mile; stations or larger forts mostly between the murus and uallum. Gildas (cf Beda) has wrongly assigned these three parts to three separate dates. Beda would have the wall constantly in view, as Jarrow lies at the mouth of the Tyne. Varin (106—120) analyses at great length Gildas and Beda, and gives far too much weight to their evidence.

WHEN Oswald was settled in his kingdom he sent to the Scots, among whom he had so long lived, and begged them to send him a bishop who might instruct his people in the Christian faith. They 20 sent him bishop Aedan, a man of exemplary piety, though he still kept Easter after the custom of the northern peoples and not according to Roman use. His see was established in the island of Lindisfarne, and he laboured earnestly for the spreading of the faith. The king often acted as interpreter when Aedan was preaching, for the bishop 25 had not mastered the English language. Many clergy came afterwards from the country of the Scots into England, and churches and monasteries were built in good number. Aedan was a monk of the famous monastery of Hii, which island had been given by the Picts to the Scottish monks a long while before. 30

III

I N the year A D 565 St Columba came from Ireland to preach to the Northern Picts in Britain. The Southern Picts had before this been converted to Christianity by St Nynias a British bishop. From 35 Bridius king of the Picts Columba received the island of Hii for the foundation of a monastery. He had previously founded a noble monastery at Dearmach in Ireland. The island of Hii is ruled by an abbat, and to his jurisdiction all the province and the bishops themselves are subject, for Columba was not a bishop but a presbyter and a monk. The successors of Columba were saintly men, but were in error on the matter of the keeping of Easter, in which error they continued till A D 715, at which date a holy priest from the nation of the Angles, Ecgberct by name, came to them and gave them knowledge of the true and canonical day for keeping the paschal feast. 5

was abbat Segeni. Aedan was noted for his holiness of life, his unworldliness, his liberality to the poor, and the great zeal with which he went about converting unbelievers, and strengthening by word and deed the faith of those who were already Christians. He took care that those about him were learned in the Scriptures, and he made the same his own chief study. He gave little time to any entertainment even if invited by the king, but encouraged fasting and self-denial in the religious of that time. He did not spare the rich in his rebukes if they offended. He gave money to the poor and for the ransoming of slaves. It is said that when king Oswald applied for a bishop, there was at first sent a man of too stern a disposition, and it was after his return from the work disappointed, that Aedan was selected to go forth to the task of preaching to the Angles.

5 AFTER Aedan's arrival king Oswald advanced in spiritual knowledge, and his possessions were also largely increased. But in spite of his power he still continued to be humble and bountiful to the poor. Once on an Easter tide when the bishop was at the king's table there came a message, before they began to eat, that a multitude of poor people were 10 without asking for alms. The king divided among them both the meat and the silver dish on which it was being served. At which sight the bishop prayed that the bounteous right hand should never wither. After the king's death his hands did remain uncorrupted, and are kept in a silver shrine at Bamborough. Oswald's labours brought about peace

AT this time the West Saxons, anciently called Geuissae, were converted by the preaching of bishop Birinus. He was sent by pope Honorius and intended to penetrate into the interior of Britain, but coming first to the Geuissae, and finding them pagans he tarried and laboured there. Oswald was present when Cynigilsus king of the Geuissae was baptized and was his sponsor. The two kings gave to Birinus the city of Dorcic for an episcopal seat. Birinus died there, but his body was afterwards removed to Venta. Cynigilsus was succeeded by his son Coinualch who refused to become a Christian. He was soon afterwards driven from his kingdom by Penda king of Mercia whose sister he had put away from being his wife and married another. Coinualch took refuge with Anna king of the East Angles and there he became a Christian. He was afterwards restored to his kingdom and he made Agilberctus a bishop among his people, but becoming wearied of a man whose language he did not understand (for Agilberctus was a Gaul who had been instructed in Ireland), he appointed another bishop, Vini, and Agilberctus, offended at the division of his diocese, retired to Gaul, and became bishop of Paris. After a while Vini was also driven away, and procured by purchase the bishopric of London from the king of the Mercians. So the Geuissae were long time without a bishop, and in that period Coinualch experienced great losses at the hands of his enemies; so he desired to recall Agilberctus, but that bishop excused himself and sent instead his nephew Leutherius, who was consecrated bishop of the West Saxons by Theodore archbishop of Canterbury.

20 IN 640 A D Eadbald king of Kent was succeeded by his son Earconberct. This was the first English king who put down the worship of idols in his kingdom by authority. He had a daughter worthy of such a father. This was the virgin Earcongota who entered a Frankish monastery at the place called In Brige. In those days many persons 25 went from England into the monasteries in Gaul. Thus did Saethryd daughter of the wife of king Anna, and Aedelberg the same king's own daughter. Many miracles are related concerning Earcongota. Beda only speaks of what happened at the time when she died. She visited all the infirm sisters in the monastery, and besought their prayers, for 30 she knew her death was near at hand. She had beheld a vision of a troop of men clad in white, who told her they were come to fetch a gold coin which had been brought from Kent. On the night of her death angels were heard to sing around the monastery, and a great light shone down from heaven. She was buried in the church of St Stephen, 35 and when three days after the stone which covered the grave was moved, there came forth a fragrance like spikenard.

Her aunt Aedilberg was a holy virgin and an abbess. She began to build a church in her monastery, but dying before it was finished, she was buried in the uncompleted church. The church afterwards could not be completed, and when her body was to be moved, it was found to be without any mark of decay or corruption.

OSWALD reigned nine years, for in his reign was included the one year of his apostate predecessors. He was killed by the king of the Mercians in a battle at Maserfelth. The place where he died has been made illustrious by miracles. The dust of the earth there, when mixed with water, has healed both men and beasts. The place has become so noted that by taking away the earth there has been made a hole as deep as a man is high. Beda gives two instances of cures. A traveller riding near the place found his horse suddenly taken very ill, and expected it to die. But in its struggles it happened that the animal rolled on to the spot where Oswald had been killed, and it was at once restored to its wonted strength. The man journeying on, and deeply impressed with the sanctity of the spot, came to an inn, where the niece of the master was paralysed. He told of the wondrous cure of his horse, and straightway they conveyed the sick girl thither and laid her down. She fell into a sleep and awoke quite restored, so as to be able to wash herself, dress her hair, and after that walk home with the friends who had brought her.

AT the same time a traveller, a Briton, came near the place where Osuald had been killed and saw the grass was greener than in other places, and concluded that some holy man had been slain there. 25 He gathered some of the dust and carried it with him in a cloth. On his way he came to a village where while he was entertained, he tied the cloth containing the dust to a post in the wall. The house of his entertainers happened to catch fire, yet though all else was consumed the post to which the cloth was hung was found untouched by the flames. Such 30 miracles made the place of Osuald's death famous, and many came thither and were healed.

BEDA also relates the marvels which attended on the moving of St Oswald's bones. His niece Osthryda queen of the Mercians caused this to be done, and the remains were conveyed to the monastery of Beardaneu. But the midland monks did not like the northern saint, 20 and left the waggon which brought his body out of doors all night. However a column of light shone all night through from heaven upon the place where the body lay, and won by this manifestation the monks afterwards paid due reverence to the saint. The water in which the relics were washed was poured down in a corner of the sacristy and the 25 earth in that spot became endued with miraculous virtue. Abbess Aedilhild begged some of this earth and carried it with her in a casket, and it proved effectual to cure one who was possessed with an evil spirit. The restored demoniac testified that the spirits which tormented him fled as soon as the maid bearing the casket came into the hall.

He remained there till the hour of the attack was past, and was freed from his malady. The brother who related this to Beda said that the boy had grown up and was still living in the monastery. It is no wonder that the prayers of the saint are so efficacious after his 20 death, for his devotion to God was so signal all his lifetime. It is said he died with a prayer for his soldiers on his lips and the words of his prayer passed into a proverb. The head hands and arms of King Oswald had been cut from his body and put on stakes, but afterwards Oswy recovered them and put the head in the church at Lindisfarne 25 and the hands and arms in that at the royal city of Bebbanburgh.

THE fame of Osuald's holiness and miracles spread to Germany and 30 Ireland. The most reverend prelate Acca is Beda's authority for miracles wrought among the Fresones by the relics of this holy king. The same prelate also told how the reputation of the saint had spread throughout Ireland. Beda gives one story to illustrate this. In a certain time of plague a scholar of the Scots who had been careless of 35 his eternal welfare was stricken and like to die. He began to be dismayed and spake to Acca of his fear of eternal torments for his sins. If heaven would but spare him he would correct his vicious life, but he feels that he has no merit of his own to urge why he should be spared. Yet he has heard of the piety of king Osuald, and of the miracles wrought by his relics. He therefore intreats that if any of them can be had, they may be brought to him. Acca had some of the wood from 5 the stakes on the which the holy king's head was impaled, and when a splinter from that wood was put into holy water, for the sick man to drink, he presently began to amend, and soon entirely recovered, and live long after to proclaim the glory of God.

OSUALD was succeeded by his brother Osuiu, who had a troublous reign of twenty-eight years, for Penda king of Mercia attacked him, and his son and a nephew rebelled against him. Paulinus bishop of 25 Rochester died after an episcopate of more than nineteen years and Ithamar was ordained bishop in his stead. Osuiu had a partner in his royal dignity for the first nine years. This was Oswin, son of Osric of the family of king Edwin. Osuiu had Bernicia, and Oswin Deira. But in consequence of a quarrel they each collected an army with the inten- 30 tion of settling their dispute by battle. Oswin however finding the forces against him superior to his own dismissed his troops and took refuge with earl Hunuald. By him he was betrayed to Osuiu who put him to death. This crime was committed at Ingetlingum (Gilling) where the victorious king afterwards built a monastery to atone for his guilt. 35

Oswin was a prince, comely courteous and bountiful. Beda relates a story of his gift of a horse to bishop Aedan which the bishop soon afterwards bestowed upon a poor man who asked alms of him. The king reproached him for this excess of liberality but in consequence of the bishop's reply, entreated forgiveness for what he had said. The bishop foretold that so humble a man could not be long permitted to live in so unworthy a nation. The early murder of the king fulfilled 5 this presage, and Aedan himself did not live more than twelve days after the king whom he so much loved.

This was the origin of death-bills or 'mortuary rolls' in which the virtues of the deceased are set forth, and a request for prayers, with a promise of a return of intercession, appended. These were sent from monastery to monastery, and the 'suffrages' of each appended. St John's College Cambridge possesses such a roll on the death of Ampelissa, prioress of Lillichurch at the end of the 13th century, to which 300 suffrages, more or less, are attached.

- 35 BISHOP Aedan's merits were shown by the prophetic and miraculous gifts which God bestowed on him. A presbyter named Utta when going into Kent to bring Eanfleda daughter of king Edwin as a wife for king Osuiu and intending to return by sea, entreated the bishop's intercession for a prosperous voyage. Aedan foretold to him that the voyage would be tempestuous, but gave him some hallowed oil which when cast upon the waves should make them calm. Which all came to pass. Beda had heard this story from the presbyter Cynimund, who had heard it from Utta himself.

ANOTHER miracle of the same holy father is well known. The army of king Penda was ravaging Northumbria and had come to the royal city of Bebbanburgh, which when the king could not take by siege he ordered to be set on fire. As materials for his fire he used the beams and timber work of the villages in the neighbourhood. When the wind was favorable for his purpose, he set the pile he had 5 made on fire. At this time bishop Aedan was in the island of Farne, and when he saw the flame he cried unto God, and the wind changing hurled back the flames on those who had kindled them. Terrified at this sign of the protection of heaven the enemy withdrew from the attack.

THE death of bishop Aedan took place at the king's country house not far from Bebbanburgh. There was a church and a room 25 adjoining provided for the bishop who used this and similar lodgings in his visits through the province. When he died he was leaning against a wooden prop which adjoined the wall of the church. He was buried in Lindisfarne in the cemetery of the brethren, but his remains were afterwards removed to the right side of the altar of the larger church built 30 there. Finan, also from Hii, was his successor. When a few years after his death the village where he died was burnt down by Penda, the prop against which the bishop had leaned was not consumed. It was also similarly preserved when by accident the village and church were again destroyed by fire. After this the wood was placed within the 35 church for the adoration of the worshippers, and miracles have been wrought both on the spot and by splinters conveyed from this wood.

Beda relates these miracles as a true historian though he cannot praise Aedan for his persistence in the erroneous time of observing

Easter. But yet the bishop was a holy and humble man, and deeply observant of all evangelical, apostolical and prophetic teachings. Nor did he observe Easter on the fourteenth day of the moon on any day of the week, as the Jews observe the passover, but on the Lord's day from the fourteenth unto the twentieth, for he believed that our resurrection will take place on the first day of the week, which we now call the Lord's day. 5

ABOUT this time Sigbert, brother of Earpuald, was king of the East Angles. He had been an exile in Gaul, where he was baptised, and he introduced into his kingdom such schools and teachers as he had seen in his exile. He was assisted in this by bishop Felix.
20 After a time he resigned his kingdom to a kinsman Ecgric and entered a monastery of his own building. He was brought from his retirement to encourage the army when Penda king of Mercia was warring on East Anglia, but both he and Ecgric were slain in the battle, Sigbert having carried no weapon with him. After them Anna became king 25 in East Anglia, and was in the end slain by the same Penda.

P 51 21 EARPVALDVM II 15 the father Reduald had been baptised in Kent, but relapsed into heathenism. Earpuald was induced by Edwin to embrace Christianity with his whole province; which however, after the murder of Earpuald by the pagan Ricberct, remained in error for 30 three years, till Sigbert uir per omnia Christianissimus atque doctissimus (who had lived in Gaul during his brother's reign) became king, and by help of Felix, first bp of Dunwich, won back his province to the faith. Felix was bp 17 years, and was succeeded by Thomas, bp 5 years, and he by Berctgils or Boniface. All three were consecrated 35 by Honorius, who died 30 Sept 653 (III 20). Thus the latest date for Sigbert's accession is 631. See martyrol Angl 27 Sept. martyrol Gall suppl 7 Aug. Pagi 644 6—8.

IN the reign of king Sigberct Furseus a holy man from Ireland came to the East Angles, and converted much people by his preaching. This man was seized with a great sickness during which he beheld an 5 angelic vision, in consequence of which he made all speed to build a monastery on land given to him by the king. This was at Cnobheresburg. Anna afterwards enriched the monastery by his grants. In the monastery where he lived Furseus was transported from the body and beheld the countenances of the heavenly host. And on his recovery 10 from his trance he told of the songs of the angels. On the third day after he was again taken away in spirit and saw not only the joys of heaven but the torments of the evil spirits. This account is all recorded in the book of the life of Furseus.

 15 it seems useful. When Furseus was rapt from his body he was bidden to look back on the world, and he saw a dark valley and four fires in the air. What these fires were the angels explained to him; and soon they became joined together into an immense flame. Furseus was terrified as the fire came near to him, but was told by the angel that the 20 fire which he had not kindled would not burn him. The angels could pass through the flame, and in the midst were demons preparing fiery war against the just. He saw evil spirits and just, and the souls of holy men of his own nation who spake unto him things of wholesome import. When Furseus was near the flame the evil spirits cast against him one
 25 whom they were tormenting in the fire, and thereby his shoulder and jaw were burnt. This happened because Furseus had received the garment of this sinner when he died. When Furseus was restored to the body he bore a visible mark of the burning, and when he related his visions, as he was wont for those who asked him to do so by reason of 30 their own troubled consciences, even in the coldest weather, he was as hot as in the heat of summer. Furseus afterwards became an anchorite and in the end retired to Gaul, where he built a monastery at Latineacum and there he died. His body was kept by Ercunuald the patrician buried in the porch of the church which he was building at Perrona, 35 till after the dedication. Then it was placed in a tomb near the altar. His body was again moved four years after and found to be incorrupt. The full history of Furseus may be found in the book of his life.

The saint, however, was conveyed through the air by evil spirits with creaking wings and iron whips to beat him with; he beheld the north part of heaven surrounded by clouds of intense 35 darkness, and was carried by the spirits to the door of hell. He is rescued from the evil angels by his patron St Bartholomew. Guthlac is carried back to earth and in the mid height of air there came towards him a troop of holy spirits and cheered him with their song.

AT this time the Midland Angles were converted to Christianity. Their king was now Peada, the son of Penda, and he was desirous of marrying Alchfleda a daughter of king Osuiu, but that monarch insisted that he and his people should first become Christians. After hearing the word of truth and professing his faith Peada was baptised 10 by bishop Finan in the town of Ad murum. He took with him into his kingdom four presbyters to instruct his people and their preaching was most successful. King Penda himself did not forbid the preaching of Christianity, but reproached those who did not obey the God in whom they professed to believe. Penda lived two years after the above named 15 events. After his death one of the four presbyters Diuma by name, a Scot, was made bishop of the middle Angles and of the Mercians. Diuma died shortly after and was succeeded by Ceollach, also a Scot, and when he had retired to Hii, Trumheri an Angle became bishop. This was in the time of king Wulfhere. 20

20 AT the entreaty of king Osuiu the East Saxons returned to the Christian faith. Sigberct their king was a friend of Osuiu and was often admonished and instructed by that monarch when he came to visit the province of the Northumbrians. Osuiu spake to him of the nature of God, of his government of the world, and of the future happiness of those who serve him. At last Sigberct consented to be 25 baptised, and his friends were baptised with him at Ad Murum. At his earnest request Cedd was called from the province of the middle Angles and along with him another priest was sent to preach to the East Saxons. Cedd's labours being attended with success he was 30 he built many churches and ordained clergy. He also established monastic institutions among the Christians.

In the midst of all this progress king Sigberct was murdered by two brothers his relatives, who were aggrieved at the too merciful tendency of his character. But Sigberct had been guilty of a great fault for which 35 he was punished by his death. He had gone to a feast with one of those earls who murdered him though the man was living in unlawful wedlock. Cedd foretold that he should die in that earl's house.

Suidhelm son of Sexbald succeeded Sigberct. He was baptised by bishop Cedd and Aediluald king of the East Angles and brother of Anna was his sponsor.

BISHOP Cedd often visited his own province of Northumbria, and during one such visit king Oidiluald asked him to accept in his kingdom of Deira a site for a monastery. The king wished it to be an oratory and afterwards a burial-place for himself, and believed that he would be helped by the daily prayers in such a religious house. 35

Cedd chose a situation amid lofty and remote mountains, a place fit for the haunt of robbers and wild beasts. By long prayers and fasting he purified the place, intending to fast during the whole of Lent except on Sundays till the evening and then to take but very little food.

5 After ten days Cedd was summoned by the king, and his brother and presbyter Cynibill continued the fast. The monastery was at a place called Laestingaeu. Cedd after many years of episcopal labour died there in a time of great mortality. He was first buried outside, but when a new church was built, his remains were laid on the right side

10 of the altar. He had made his brother Ceadda who afterwards was also a bishop head of the monastery. All four brothers were eminent priests, and two of them bishops. When the East Saxons heard of Cedd's death, about thirty monks came thence to Laestingaeu to live near the body of their father, but all save one died in the same

15 pestilence. The survivor, a little boy, was saved through the prayers of the father. This child had not been baptised, and the supplications of Cedd saved him from perdition, and he afterwards being baptised became a presbyter and a minister of life to others.

WHEN king Osuiu could not induce the Mercian king Penda by any offers, to cease from ravaging his kingdom, he resolved to seek the help of God and to offer the gifts, which the pagan king had rejected, unto the Lord. He vowed therefore that his daughter should be dedicated to the life of a nun, and that he would bestow twelve possessions on the church for monastic uses. The enemy had an army thirty times larger than his own, but Osuiu trusted in Christ. One of his sons Ecgfrid was at the time a hostage in the hands of the Mercians, while Oidiluald, his nephew, was a leader among the enemy's forces, though when the time of the engagement came, he stood apart and merely watched what would be the issue of the conflict. The pagans were routed and nearly all their leaders slain. The battle took place near the river Vinuaed, and owing to an inundation many of the fleeing enemy perished in the water. The king fulfilled his vow. His daughter Aelfleda, little more than one year old, was devoted to a virgin life, and of the twelve possessions, six were given in Deira and six in Bernicia. Aelfleda entered the monastery of Heruteu where Hild was abbess. Shortly afterwards the monastery at Streanæshalch was founded and the young princess was first a scholar there, and afterwards a teacher and died at the age of fifty-nine. Osuiu and other 20 25 30 35 members of his family are buried in that monastery. This victory led to the conversion of the Mercians, among whom Diuna was made first bishop. The second was Cellach. These were both Scots, but the third Trumheri was an Angle, who had been abbot at Ingetlingum.

5 That was the place where Osuin was murdered, and the monastery was built that prayers might be kept up for the murderer and the murdered king alike.

The dominion of Osuiu was extended over the Mercians and over a great part of the Picts. He made Peada, son of Penda, king of the 10 South Mercians, but he was killed in the next year. Then followed a rebellion of the Mercian leaders, by which Osuiu was driven away and Vulfhere a son of Penda set up as king, who ruled seventeen years. Trumheri continued to be bishop, and was succeeded in turn by Iaruman, Ceadda, and Vynfrid. These were all bishops of Mercia 15 under king Vulfhere.

He ‘complains that so few lands remain to be allotted to the sons of noble Angles and aged warriors, who are obliged on that account to abandon that country for which they ought to draw the sword, and to seek employment in foreign countries’ (ibid). Thus 35 it appears that ‘the folclands were national property, out of which læns or benefices were distributed to the royal thanes and military men as fees for their services’ (cod dipl II 120). Charters for the conversion of folcland into bocland were granted by the king and confirmed by the

10 Alfred's version terra familiae is here (and usually) rendered 'hide', but below (p 68 l 8) by folcs. 'Beda's...terra familiae is the Latin translation of folcland;...the shares (folcscearu) into which the lands of the tribe were originally divided, were called folclands, and were

FINAN succeeded bishop Aedan, and built a church worthy of the episcopal see in the island of Lindisfarne. The paschal controversy was at its height at this time. The Scots were said to keep Easter Sunday contrary to the custom of the universal Church. Ronan 25 a Scot, but educated in Gaul and Italy, was a staunch supporter of the orthodox time of Easter, but he could not influence bishop Finan. So that there were two different times of celebrating Easter observed in the province. For the queen Eanfled observed it according to the rule which she had learnt in Kent, while the king followed the Scottish use. 30 This was tolerated through the episcopates of Aedan and Finan, but when the latter was dead, and Colman, a Scot, consecrated as his successor, a greater controversy arose. Osuiu the king favoured the Scottish observance, but his son Alchfrid, having been instructed by Vilfrid himself trained at Rome, took the opposite side, and gave to 35 Vilfrid the monastery of Inhrypum, which he had previously given to those who held the Scottish opinions, and preferred to resign their monastery rather than change their custom as Alchfrid desired. Agilberct bishop of the West Saxons and a presbyter named Agatho were at this time in the Northumbrian province. So a synod was called at Streanæshalch for the consideration of this and other questions.

5 Of the one part were king Osuiu, Colman with the Scottish clergy, the abbess Hild and bishop Cedd, of the other were Alchfrid, Agilberct, Agatho and Vilfrid.

After much debate, the controversy was ended thus. The Scots had alleged in defence of their custom, ancient usage and especially the 10 practice of St Columba. In reply Vilfrid urged that the Roman use was derived from St Peter himself, to whom Christ had given the keys of the kingdom of heaven and was therefore to be preferred. Osuiu appealed to Colman, and asked whether St Peter possessed this authority. When the bishop replied "It is true, O king," then he 15 enquired: "Can you shew any such power given to St Columba?" The bishop said "None." Then said the king: "I dare not longer contradict the decrees of him who keeps the doors of the kingdom of heaven, lest he should refuse me admission."

Thereupon the assembly agreed to renounce their use and conform 20 to the Roman observance.

WHEN Colman saw his opinions rejected he returned to Scotland to consult with his friends there what he ought to do. Bishop Cedd adopted the catholic use in his own see. This synod was in 5 664 A.D. Tuda succeeded Colman as bishop in Northumbria, and Eata abbat of Mailros was made abbat of Lindisfarne. This Eata was one of twelve boys whom Aedan had taken from among the Angles for special instruction and he afterwards became bishop of Lindisfarne. Colman took with him into Scotland some of the bones 10 of bishop Aedan. The humble style of all the buildings of the community over which he presided shews the frugality and self-denial of Colman and his predecessors. They kept no money, built no houses for the reception of the visits of great men, their thought being to serve God and not the world. Thus men of religion were held in 15 great veneration, and their preaching and other ministrations much sought unto. This continued to be the character of the Northumbrian church for a long time afterwards.

Cuthbert (Beda uita Cuthb 39 § 65) at his death charged his disciples to refuse communion to those who dissented from the Roman usage; yet he was prior of Aedan's foundation Lindisfarne. Fuller § 91 'in this council, or collation (call it which you please) after much arguing pro and con, Wilfrid at last knockt down all 35 with this argument: that the Romish celebration of Easter was founded on the practice of S' Peter, prince of the apostles, and porter of heaven. King Oswy hearing this was affrighted, who had rather anger all the other eleven apostles than offend St Peter, one so high in power and place; for fear (as he said) lest coming to heaven-gate, S<sup>t</sup> Peter should deny him a cast of his office, and refuse to let him into happiness. S<sup>t</sup> Coleman, being on the other side, was angry, that so slight an argument had made so deep an impresion on the king's credulity: and, to manifest his distaste, after the councill was broken up, carried 5 all those of his own opinion home with him into Scotland.'

I call Christ and my faith to witness that were he to come I would adorn my house with plate, strew my threshold and court-yard with roses and sweet-smelling lilies and make my walls shine with shields of gold. My butler should joyfully receive his attendants with capacious bowls of wine, and serve them with horns of mead so that the number of their cups should be innumerable. ## XXVII

THE year 664 A D was distinguished for an eclipse of the sun and a severe pestilence in Britain, in which bishop Tuda died. The plague also extended to Ireland. Many persons from among the Angles retired to Ireland at this period for study and instruction and were well received by the Irish-Scots. Among these pious students were two young men Edilhun and Ecgerbet, who were at the monastery of

Rathmelsigi, and were seized with the plague. Ecgeberct in fear of death went forth from his chamber and prayed for time to be given him in which to repent, and vowed if his life were spared, he would never return to Britain, would fast a whole day and night in every week, and 5 chant the whole psalter daily. When he had returned to his couch, his companion awoke, and told how by a vision he had learnt that Ecgeberct's prayer was granted. The next night Edilhun died, but Ecgeberct recovered and lived till 729 A D. He practised more severities than he had included in his vow, for in the forty days' fast he took only bread and 10 the thinnest milk once in the day. This same abstinence he also practised for forty days before Christmas and forty days after Pentecost.

This Whalley is an extensive parish lying in three counties, Lancashire, Cheshire and Yorkshire, containing several towns, chapel-ries and townships, with a fine abbey church, so that it is not unlikely 35 to have been of ancient celebrity. The form comes very near to that of the Sax Chron. In Sim Dunelm Whalley is written Walaleage, see Pearson historic maps of England.

VILFRID is sent by king Alchfrid to Agilberct bishop of Paris for ordination, and while Vilfrid tarried abroad king Osuiu sent Ceadda brother of bishop Cedd into Kent to be ordained. The arch-25 bishop Deusdedit was just dead, so Ceadda was ordained by Vini bishop of the West Saxons who was at that time the only bishop in Britain who had been canonically ordained. By the labours of Ceadda and Vilfrid the Scots who continued to live among the Angles were brought to accept the catholic institutions, or else they departed to their own recognition by Rome, he asked leave to seek consecration in Gaul. cf Haddan-Stubbs III 106. Wilfrid certainly did not return from Gaul until three years before Theodore's arrival in England, which was in A D 669 (Eddius 15), that is until A D 666 (Haddan-Stubbs 108).

AS archbishop Deusdedit was dead, the kings Osuiu and Ecgerbert chose the presbyter Vighard as fit to be archbishop and sent him to Rome to be ordained, and that he afterwards might ordain other bishops for the churches in Britain. But Vighard died at Rome before he could be consecrated, and the pope Vitalian wrote to king Osuiu, exhorting him to follow the rule of St Peter in the keeping of Easter, and promising, as soon as he should be able to find a fit man, to send a bishop to preside over the British church and to instruct the people. He deplores the death of Vighard and sends by the bearers of his letter some rélics as presents to the king and his queen. Lastly he exhorts him to labour for the spread of Christianity through the whole island of Britain. The account of him who was sent in Vighard's stead is reserved for the next book.

„ 9 FRAECEPTVS this untimely death was shared by almost all his companions p 89 l 17. It is most likely that the death of these men was due to the malaria which has so often proved fatal to visitors of Rome. The insalubrity of the Pontine Marshes is notorious, and such attempts as had in ancient times been made to drain them were rendered inoperative at the time of the invasion of Italy by Theodoric (AD 455). Caecilius Decius gave free course to the waters in the neighbourhood of Rome, and the reestablishment of these immense marshes was one of the many disasters which resulted from the attacks 5 of the Goths on Italy.

Christian churches opened again and the people rejoiced to confess

I

I N the year 664 AD, distinguished by the eclipse and the pestilence, 5 archbishop Deusdedit died and on the same month and day died also Erconberct king of Kent. The throne was received by Ecgberct his son, and he in conjunction with Osuiu, king of Northumbria, sent an Angle named Vighard, a presbyter of great learning, to Rome to be consecrated archbishop. But Vighard and nearly all his companions were carried off by a plague before he could be consecrated. The pope 10 Vitalian sought carefully for a fit man to send to be archbishop in England. His choice first fell on a learned abbat named Hadrian, a native of Africa, but he excused himself as unworthy of so high a charge, and suggested that a certain monk named Andrew should be appointed. He however was too infirm. After some time Hadrian proposed for the pope's 15 acceptance Theodore a monk learned in Greek and Latin, a native of Tarsus in Cilicia, but then living at Rome. The pope ordained him first subdeacon, and then, when his hair was so far grown that he might receive the circular tonsure on the crown of the head, which was the Roman form, he was consecrated bishop, and started for Britain in 20 company with Hadrian, from whom the pope had required a promise that he would conduct the new archbishop to his see and take heed that he introduced there nothing contrary to the true faith. Hadrian had been into Gaul on two occasions before this. They left Rome May 27 AD 668, and went by sea to Marseilles, then by land to Arles where they 25 were detained till Ebrinus the mayor of the palace at this time gave them leave to travel. Then Theodore visited Agilberct bishop of Paris, and Hadrian went to the bishops of the Senones and the Meldi, for the approach of winter forced them to tarry in Gaul. King Ecgberct heard that they were there and sent an escort for them, but Ebrinus de-30 tained Hadrian for some time having a suspicion that he was going on a mission from the emperor into Britain. Eventually finding his fears groundless, he let him follow Theodore, and when he arrived in England the new archbishop set him over the monastery of St Peter, where the archbishops of Canterbury are usually buried, for Vitalian had charged Theodore to provide for Hadrian and his followers.

20 curētis. True, the apostles were not all shaven alike, nor has the catholic church one only form of tonsure. Job let his hair grow in prosperity, shaved it off in his troubles. Joseph wore his hair long in prison, shaved it off on his discharge. The difference of tonsure does not hurt those who have a pure faith in God and love to their neighbour; esp as the catholic

25 fathers had no controversy about it, as about Easter or the faith; still of all tonsures found in the church or in mankind, I may justly say that we should embrace none more than that worn on his head, to whom the Lord said Tues Petrus; should detest none more than his to whom Peter said 'Thy money perish with thee.' Nor are we shorn in coronam only

30 for the reason, that Peter was so shorn; but because Peter was so shorn in memory of the Lord's passion, representing the crown of thorns; by this tonsure we declare ipso etiam frontispicio our readiness to bear mockeries for our Lord's sake, and our hope of the crown which he has promised to them that love him. ceterum tonsuram eam quam magum

35 ferunt habuisse Simonem, quis rogo fulerium non statim cum ipsa magia primo detestetur et merito exsufflet adspectu? At first sight it looks like a crown, but as you follow it to the neck, decurtatam eam quam te uidere putabas inuenies coronam. Such a habit befits Simoniacis et non Christianis, who will miss the crown everlasting. Not that all will be rejected who have this tonsure, if by faith and good works they favour catholic unity; as for instance Adamnan, whom, when sent on an embassy to king Alfrid he visited our monastery, I asked why, hoping for a crown of endless life, he wore terminatam in capite coronae imaginem? if he sought the society of Peter, why he imitated the tonsure of him whom Peter anathematised? He replied: 'Though, brother beloved, I have Simon's tonsure after the fashion of my country, yet I detest with all my mind Simoniac perfidy.' I rejoined: 'What you embrace in the heart, you should display openly.' Naiton decreed that all the clerks of his realm should accept the tonsure 'so full of reason.' adtondebantur omnes in coronam ministri altaris ac monachi. Ecgberct brought the monks of Iona to the Roman usage in respect of Easter and the tonsure (v 22) inmutavit piis ac sedulis exhortationibus inueteratam illam traditionem parentum eorum, de quibus apostolicum illum licet proferre sermonem, quod 'aemulationem dei habebant sed non secundum scientiam,' catholicoque illos atque apostolico more celebrationem...praecipuae sollemnitatatis sub figura coronae perpetis agere perdocuit. v 12 (p 197 28 S) monachica sit tonsura coronatus. anon uita Cuthb II (§ 12 p 265 of Stevenson's Beda II) postquam seruitutis Christi iugum tonsuraeque Petri formam in modum coronae spineae caput Christi cingentis...susceperat. Almost the same words in Eddius 6 pr. [Alcuin] de diuinis officiis 25. 37 end (Migne CI 1233<sup>d</sup>. 1238<sup>b</sup>). Aldhelm (in his letter to Geruntius in Jaffe's Boniface ep 1 pp 26 27) speaks at length of the obstinacy of the Britons in defending their national tonsure, that of Simon Magus, and rejecting that of St Peter. capitula sel can Hibern (D'Achery spicil IX 45) c 6 'de tonsura Britonum' where Gildas is cited quorum tonsura aure ad aurem tantum contingebat. c 7 PATRICIVS si quis clericus, cuius capilli non sunt tonsi Romano more, debet excommunicari (cf Labbe conc III 1478 Patricii conc can 6). The first and second 'orders' or ages of Irish saints had one tonsure 'from ear to ear', and one Easter 'after the vernal equinox, on the 14th moon' (O'Conor rer Hib scr II 162—5). THE episcopate of archbishop Theodore continued for more than twenty-one years. He travelled throughout England, teaching the 10 right rule of life and the canonical observance of Easter. He united under himself the whole church of the Angles, and caused instruction to be given in both sacred and secular learning. Ecclesiastical arithmetic, astronomy and metrical rules were taught, and Latin and Greek so that 15 these languages as well as their own. This was a happy period for Britain. All the churches began to learn singing, which hitherto had only been used in the churches of Kent. Aeddi, invited by Wilfrid from Kent, was a great teacher of church music. Theodore objected to the consecration of bishop Ceadda, whereupon that prelate expressed his willingness to 20 resign his episcopate. But the archbishop completed his ordination according to catholic custom and he continued in his office. Wilfrid, who had been sent into Gaul for consecration, returned before the arrival of Theodore and ordained priests and deacons in Kent. When Theodore came he ordained Putta to be bishop of Rochester which see 25 had been a long time vacant. Putta was especially skilled in Gregorian chanting.

III

ON the death of bishop Iaruman, Vulfheri king of the Mercians asked archbishop Theodore to consecrate another bishop for 15 Mercia, but the archbishop brought Ceadda from Læstingæu, and left Wilfrid as bishop of all the northern kingdom of Oswy. Ceadda's custom was to walk from place to place in the labours of his episcopate, but the archbishop insisted that he should ride and on one occasion lifted him on to his horse. He was an exemplary bishop among the Mercians 20 and Lindisfari, and Vulfheri gave him a site for a monastery at Adbaruæ, but his episcopal see was at Lichfield. He had also a retired mansion for prayer and private study, where he lived with seven or eight of the brethren. After he had been bishop of Mercia for two years and a half when many of the church were taken from life and he among the rest, 25 the approach of his death was miraculously made known to him, and the manner of the revelation was related by one of the brethren named Ouini. He was a monk of great merit and had come to Laestingæu from East Anglia. He entered the monastery as a labouring monk, for he was not able to study. On one occasion while he was at outdoor 30 work and the brethren had gone to the church, he heard a sound of joy and singing come down from heaven and enter and fill the room where Ceadda was, and after about half an hour the same sound went up back into heaven. Not long after the bishop looking forth from a window sent Ouini to church to summon the brethren, whom Ceadda exhorted 35 to regularity of discipline and holiness of life and told them that his death was not far distant. When Ouini was afterwards alone with the bishop he asked the meaning of those heavenly voices which he had heard, and learnt that they were the angelic spirits who had been sent to tell Ceadda that he should be called to his heavenly reward in seven days. And so it came to pass. Beda then narrates how the life of Ceadda 5 was conspicuous for many merits but especially for his great sense of the close presence of God, which made him earnest in his prayers in all times of storm and tempest.

A discourse of the reverend father Ecgeberct supports the evidence of Ouini. Ecgeberct had been a companion of Ceadda in Ireland but he 10 never returned to England. He was however visited by a holy man named Hygbald, and to him he said, "I know a person who at the time of Ceadda's death saw the soul of Cedd his brother come from heaven with angels to escort the dying bishop to the heavenly kingdom." Whether he spake of himself is not known. Ceadda's body was first 15 buried close to St Mary's church, but was afterwards translated into the church of St Peter. In both places miracles were wrought for a token of his virtue. A frenzied man by accident sleeping on the place was found to be cured in the morning. Also the dust of the ground there when mixed with water has effected wondrous cures. As a successor to

25 WHEN Colman left Britain, he first went to the island of Hii with his Scots and the Angles, about thirty in number, who were his companions. After a time they removed to another island on the west of Ireland named Inis-boufinde. Here he lived with his company of monks partly Scots and partly Angles; but they did not agree together,

30 for the Scots wandered away in the summer time when the crops were to be gathered, but came and desired to live on the labours of the Angles in the winter. So Colman found a place in Ireland called Mageo suitable for a monastery, and buying a piece of land there from the earl to whom it belonged, he built, with the assistance of the said

35 earl and those who dwelt near, a suitable house and brought thither the Angles and left the Scots behind. This monastery is still occupied by English, and is now called Muigeo and has an excellent company of monks who live under a rule and canonical abbat.

IN the year 670 AD king Oswy fell ill and died at the age of fifty- 35 eight. Had he recovered from his illness he had resolved to go to Rome and end his life there, and had asked Wilfrid to be his companion. He was succeeded by his son Ecgrid, in the third year of whose reign archbishop Theodore convened a synod at Herutford. The bishops present were Bisi of the East Angles, Wilfrid of Northumbria by deputy, Putta of Rochester, Leutherius of the West Saxons and Vynfrid of Mercia. These with the archbishop agreed upon ten canons 5 as most necessary to be carried out in the English church. These related to Easter, to the independence of bishops, sanctity of monastic property, the fixed residence of monks in their own monastery, letters of commendation for clerics travelling about, bishops not to perform sacerdotal offices out of their own dioceses without permission, synods to 10 be called regularly, order of precedence among bishops, the increase of the episcopate, lastly marriages and divorce. These articles were discussed and subscribed by all, and any infringement of them shall bring upon the offender an exclusion from every sacerdotal office.

In the year of this synod 673 A D Egberct king of Kent died, and 15 his brother Hlothere succeeded him. The bishop Bisi above mentioned was successor of bishop Boniface, and during his life in consequence of his incapacity through illness two bishops Aecci and Baduuni were consecrated in his place and from that time the bishopric of the East Angles has been divided between two bishops.

Fuller cent VIII § 12 'about this time [718] it grew fashionable with kings and queens in England to renounce the world and turn monks and nuns, commonly in convents of their own foundation. Surely it is not only lawfull, but commendable for men to leave the world, before it leaveth them, by being crucified thereunto, and using it as if they used it not. But let others dispute, whether this properly be renouncing the world, for Christians to bury their parts and persons in a cloister, which, put forth to the bank, would turn to good account for church and common-wealth. David (I dare say) as holy a man as any of these, lived a king and died a king: the swaying of his sceptre did not hinder the tuning of his harp; his dignity being no impediment to his devotion. And whilst these kings turning monks, pretended to go out of the world, a world of spirituall pride and superstition went into them, if (as it is too too suspicious) they had an high opinion to merit heaven thereby.' 5 10

5 SOON after this Vynfrid bishop of the Mercians was for some offence deposed by archbishop Theodore, and Sexwulf the founder and abbat of Medehamstede was consecrated in his place. Vynfrid retired to the monastery of Adbaruæ where he died. Theodore made Earconuald bishop of the East Saxons. This was a most holy man, so that 10 even the litter in which he was drawn about in his feeble age cures many that are sick when they are put under or near it. Splinters from it have also a great and healing virtue. This Earconuald, before his consecration, built two monasteries, one for himself at Chertsey, and the other for his sister Aedilburga at Barking. She was of the same piety as 15 her brother, and took great care of those who were under her in her monastery, and heavenly miracles gave evidence to her holiness.

THE monastery of Barking was made famous by many heavenly signs. One of these Beda relates. At the time of the mortality which has been so often mentioned, the disease first attacked the monks and many of the brethren died. It then spread to the sisters and the mother of the congregation asked anxiously of those who were sick in what place they would desire to be buried if they should be taken from the world. From them she had no answer, but one night after matins were ended and these handmaids of Christ had gone out of the oratory, a bright light came down from heaven and resting on a spot to the south of the monastery marked that place out as divinely appointed for the burial-place. This radiance was greater than the light of day, and was noticed by one of the brethren as making its way through the chinks of the doors and windows, and he spake of it on the following morning.

IN this same monastery a little boy of about three years old was brought up by the sisterhood. This child being seized with the plague, just before his death called out three times the name of Ead- 10 gyd one of the sisters. That virgin being attacked the very same day died before the close of it and followed the child who had called her to the kingdom of heaven.

Another sister when stricken with same disease, begged that the lamp which was burning near her should be extinguished, for she felt 15 the house filled with so bright a light, that the other light seemed dim. When her companions did not comply with her request, she again declared that the light of the lamp was not her light. She then told them how a certain man of God, who had died that year, had appeared to her, and told her that on the morrow she should enter into eternal 20 light. And at the break of day she died.

BUT when the mother of the congregation, Aedilburga, was to die, a wondrous vision was seen by one of the sisters whose name was Torctgyd. This holy woman had been a great help to Aedilburga in the discipline of the younger sisters. But at length she had fallen sick, and had been ill for nine years. On a certain night, when she had gone forth from her chamber, she beheld a human body, shining brighter than the sun, and wrapt in fine linen, being carried up to heaven by cords which seemed brighter than gold. She knew by this that some one of their number was to be taken to heaven for the good works which she had done. And before many days had passed Aedilburga fell sick and died and none can doubt that the entrance into the heavenly country was opened to her at her departure.

When the body of the holy mother was brought into the church to await its burial, one of the nuns, of noble birth and still more noble through holiness of life, having been long bed-ridden and unable to move, asked that she might be brought close to the dead body, and speaking as though to one alive she prayed the mother to obtain for her a speedy release from her pains. Her prayer was heard, and twelve days afterwards she died.

Torctgyd lived three years longer than Aedilburga, and became attenuated and so weak that she could not speak. When she had lain speechless for three days and three nights, she began to converse as if beholding a vision, and asked earnestly that her release from the body might not be delayed beyond the next night. When she was asked by those about her, with whom she had been conversing, she answered “With my dearest mother Aedilburga.” They then knew that the mother had come from heaven to tell her of the time of her departure. And when one day and one night had passed, Torctgyd entered into the enjoyment of eternal bliss.

AEDILBURGA was succeeded in her office of abbess by a handmaid of God named Hildilid, and great care was exercised by her for many years in the discharge of all her duties. She determined on account of the want of space near the monastery that the bones of those holy ones who had been buried there should be removed into the church of the blessed Mother of God, and when this was done bright lights appeared from heaven, and a marvellous fragrance was felt, as is told in the work from which Beda makes his extracts. He relates one miracle which took place at that cemetery. The wife of a certain earl who lived near was afflicted with a disease of the eyes and at last became quite blind. Thinking that if she were brought to the monastery of these holy virgins and prayed near the relics of the saint she should recover, she caused her maidens to bring her thither. She was perfectly restored, and walked home by herself as though she had been deprived of temporal light only that her cure might shew what virtue and light belongs to the saints in heaven.

FROM the same book Beda draws an account of the pious king Sebbi who ruled over the East Saxons. He for a long time desired to leave his kingdom and enter on a monastic life, but his wife refused to be divorced from him. At length when sickness fell on him he gained her 25 consent that they should both devote themselves to the service of God. The king was admitted into a religious order by Valdheri bishop of London, to whom he gave much money to be distributed among the poor. When at length Sebbi perceived his death to be approaching, dreading lest through the pains of death he should say or do anything 30 unworthy of his person, he asked that the bishop Valdheri and two attendants alone might be present at his death. He was however comforted by a heavenly vision; for three men clad in shining robes appeared to him and made known that on the third day after he should die without pain, and with a great splendour of light. Which promise 35 was exactly fulfilled.

When the body was about to be buried it was found that the stone coffin was too short for it, and in spite of all that they could do by chipping away from the inside it could not be made large enough. But while they pondered what should be done, a miracle was granted, and thereby the coffin was made so long that even a pillow could be put in at the head and there was a space of four fingers breadth at the foot. The bishop Valdheri and Sighard the son of Sebbi and no small company of other men were present when this happened.

LEUTHERIUS was the fourth bishop of the West Saxons, his predecessors having been Birinus, Agilberct and Vini. When the king Coinualch was dead the petty kings held the government of the West Saxons among them for ten years. In this time bishop Haeddi succeeded Leutherius. In his episcopate Caedualla conquered the petty kings, and ruled for two years but then left his kingdom and went to Rome, where he died. 30 35

In 676 AD Aedilred king of Mercia invaded and ravaged Kent and destroyed the city of Rochester. Bishop Putta, who was then absent, made no effort to return and restore the bishopric, but retired to bishop Sexwulf and there ended his life, being devoted to church services and singing. Theodore consecrated Cuichelm to be bishop of Rochester in his stead, but he soon retired and Gebmund was put into his place.

In 678 A D a comet appeared in the month of August and continued
5 to be seen for three months. In this same year began the dispute between king Ecgfrid and bishop Wilfrid. Wilfrid was driven from his see and Bosa was made bishop in Deira, and Eata in Bernicia. The seat of the former was at York and of the latter at Hagustald and Lindisfarne. At the same time Eadhaed was made bishop in the province of 10 the Lindisfari which Ecgfrid had lately conquered. After Eadhaed Ediluini was bishop there, then Eadgar, and fourthly Cyniberet who was bishop when Beda wrote. Before the time of Eadhaed, Sexwulf who was at the same time bishop of the Mercians and Middle Angles had also exercised the episcopal office among the Lindisfari. Eadhaed, 15 Bosa and Eata were consecrated at York by archbishop Theodore, who three years after Wilfrid's departure added two more prelates to their number, viz Tunberet at Hagustald and Trumuini among the Picts who were then subject to the Angles. Eadhaed, who withdrew from Lindsey because Aedilred had recovered the province, was placed 20 over the church at Ripon.

15 WHEN Wilfrid was driven from his bishopric he first went to Rome but afterwards returned to Britain and preached among the South Saxons who were ignorant of the divine name and faith. Their king Aedilualch had already been baptised in Mercia, and through Wilfrid's preaching the chiefs and soldiers of the province
20 received baptism. The queen Eabae who was daughter of Eanfrid had been previously baptised in her own province. A monk from the Scottish nation had a very small monastery in the province of the South Saxons at a place called Bosanhamm. Not only was spiritual calamity removed by Wilfrid's preaching, but also an end was put to a drought
25 which had lasted three years. So severe was the famine that the people threw themselves over precipices or into the sea, but on the very day when they were baptised, rain fell and the land became fruitful. The bishop also taught the people to get their living by fishing and so turned their hearts to love him. King Aedilualch gave the bishop a site for next spring Daegberth, king of the Franks, who had been an exile in Ireland, and had received supplies from Wilfrid on his return, entertained him hospitably, offered him a bishopric, and on his refusal sent him on his way loaded with presents. He next came to king Berchter of Campania, who also refused the price set on his head, and sent him to Rome (ib 28). 5

This may be observed in this Wilfride, his πάρεργα were better than his ἐργα, his casuall and occasionall were better then his intentionall performances, (which shews plainly, that providence acted more vigourously in him, then his own prudence:) I mean, when at ease in wealth, at home, he busied himself in toys and trifles of ceremonious controversies; but when (as now, and afterwards) a stranger and little better than an exile, he effectually promoted the honour and glory of God. § 98. And as it is observed of nightingales, that they sing the sweetest, when farthest from their nests: so this Wilfride was most diligent in God's service, when at the greatest distance from his own home. IN the monastery of Selsey some miracles were wrought, one of which Beda relates on the authority of bishop Acca. There was a great mortality in Britain and many of the brethren of the monastery died. 35
In their trouble the monks began to observe a fast of three days; on the second day of which fast the blessed chiefs of the apostles appeared to a little boy who was lying sick and told him that they were about to conduct him to the celestial kingdom. They bade him call Eappa the presbyter and say that the Lord had heard their prayers and accepted their fasting and no more of them should die. The messengers also said 5 that the divine pity was shewn to them through the intercession of Oswald, formerly king of Northumbria, who as on that day had been slain and received into heaven. They also bade that masses should be celebrated in all the oratories of the monastery. The boy described the heavenly visitors as bright and shining and more beautiful than he had 10 ever seen. One was shorn like a cleric, the other had a long beard, and they told him that they were Peter and Paul. After search it was found that king Oswald was slain on this day, therefore the boy's story was believed, and on that very day he died, but all the rest recovered. This vision increased the reverence for fasts and in many places king Oswald's

WHEN Caedualla obtained the kingdom of the Geuissi, that is the West Saxons, he took also the island of Vecta which had been given up to idolatry. He exterminated all the natives and brought in men of his own provinces. He gave the fourth part of the island to bishop Wilfrid, who transferred it to one of his own clergy named Bernuin and appointed as his companion a presbyter named Hiddila. Beda relates how two boys, sons of Aruald king of Vecta, fled on the approach of the enemy into the neighbouring province of the Iutes to a place called Ad Lapidem, but afterwards were betrayed and ordered to be killed. The abbat of the monastery of Hreutford, Cyniberct, begged that he might instruct them first in the Christian faith. Having done this he baptised them and they then gladly underwent temporal death. When Vecta thus became Christian, there was no bishop at first, but afterwards Danihel was appointed bishop, who when Beda wrote was bishop of the West Saxons. Vecta is situated opposite the South Saxons and the Geuissi, separated by a sea three miles in width, in which the two tides of the ocean daily meet.

AT this time archbishop Theodore summoned a council of priests and doctors that he might enquire into the belief of the churches of the Angles, and finding an agreement of all in the catholic faith he recorded it for the instruction of posterity. This synod was held at Haethfelth, at which the assembled fathers declared their adherence to the decrees of the councils of Nicaea, Constantinople, Ephesus and Chalcedon, as well as to those of the second council of Constantinople and the synod of Rome in the time of pope Martin. The declaration was signed by the archbishop and the whole assembly.

AT the synod of Hatfield was present John the chief precentor of St Peter's at Rome, whom pope Agatho had lately sent to Britain in the company of Benedict Biscop. This Benedict was the founder of a monastery in Britain near the mouth of the river Wear. The precentor John was sent to Britain that he might teach the course of church singing according to the use of St Peter's at Rome. He instructed the dwellers in the above-named monastery and many others who thronged to learn, in reading as well as chanting. He also enquired into the belief held in the church of the Angles and reported thereon to pope Agatho, who desired to preserve the church free from prevailing heresies. This John, returning to Rome, fell ill and died on the way and was buried at Tours, at which place he had been entertained when he was coming to Britain. A report of the catholic faith of the Angles was however conveyed to the pope.

KING Ecgfrid took to wife Aedilthryda daughter of Anna king of the East Angles. She had formerly been the wife of Tondberct duke of the South Gyruui. She lived with Ecgfrid twelve years, but in both marriages she remained glorious in the integrity of her virginity. 5
 Hence it was that after her death her body remained uncorrupted. She long entreated to be allowed to retire into a monastery, and at last entered that which was presided over by the abess Aebba at Coludi Urbs (Coldingham). But within about a year she was herself made abess at Elge (Ely) where she built a monastery. She never wore 10 linen after her entry on the monastic life, and seldom used warm baths. She spent much time in prayer, and was able to foretell a pestilence of which she herself was to die, and also to declare how many of the inhabitants of that monastery should die of the same plague. She was buried in a wooden coffin at first, but her sister Sexburga, who succeeded 15 her as abess, caused her body to be taken up, after it had been buried for sixteen years, and then it was found to be free from corruption, and those who were sent forth to seek a stone for a new coffin, found a coffin of marble and a lid of the same marvellously put in readiness for them near the walls of the city of Grantchester. The physician Cynefrid tells how 20 on examination of the body, the wound, which he had made by lancing a tumour on the neck of the abess shortly before she died, was found to be healed up. Her garments also were fresh as new. The pain of her tumour Aedilthryda counted as a punishment for the needless weight of necklaces she had worn when young and as a sign that God by this 25 chastisement absolved her from the guilt of idle levity. By the touch of her garments demons were put to flight and diseases cured. Blind people recovered sight by praying at the wooden coffin. The marble coffin was exactly fitted to the body of the virgin. Elge is in the province of East Anglia, and is so called from the number of eels that are 30 caught in the marshes there.

Soames AS church 284—5. Maria of Agreda († 1658) authoress of the 'spiritual city of God', famous for her visions, by wearing a cilicium of rough wool covered her body with sores (Zöckler Gesch d Askese Fr a M 1863 p 87, where is more on hair shirts, such as Wolsey More lady Margaret wore, and iron belts, such as we find in Bonif ep p 60 end, Jaffé). So in the life of St Bridget prefixed to the "Myroure of oure Ladye" (EETS) p lii, 'she never used any linnen cloth, though it were in time of sycknes, but oonly upon hir hed, and next hir skyn she weer ever rough and sharpe wolen cloth.' For other examples of the expression to go woolward the reader may see Christ's own Complaint l 502 (EETS vol 15) 'to faste and goo wolle warde', also the same words are found in Hampole's Prick of Conscience l 3514. Palsgrave defines it 'Wolwarde without any linnen next one's body. Sans chemyse.' The expression is found in Pierce the Ploughman's Crede l 788, 'werchen and wolward gon', but the explanation of the last syllable is, I think, to be referred to the word wear, and not as Mr Skeat suggests, with the wool towards the skin, an explanation which would only suit with a clothing made of the fleece as it came from the sheep's back. Ward is wered the part of warian = to wear, and woolward means "woolclad," just as in Beowulf 606 sweglwered means "clad in brightness." scirwered and ealdawered may be cited as other examples of this participle in composition. It has fared with woolward, when it became a solitary instance of this compound, as it did with rightwise under similar circumstances. The love for uniform orthography made this latter word into righteous, and woolwered into woolward to conform to the shape of forward and such like words. The use of go is the same as in the expressions "to go bare, naked, cold &c." We can find no evidence that sheepskins with wool on were ever worn in England or elsewhere for penance.

I N the ninth year of king Ecgfrid a battle was fought near the river Trent between him and Aedilred king of Mercia. There a brother of king Ecgfrid was slain, named Aelfuin. The war seemed likely to grow fiercer, but through the exhortations of archbishop 20 Theodore the two kings and people were appeased and no man's life taken for the king's brother who had been slain, only his wergyl paid to king Ecgfrid.

„ 9 MVLTA PECVNIAE Kemble Saxons in England bk 1 c 10 10 p 276. Among the Saxons the wer-gyld or life-price was the basis upon which all peaceful settlement of feud was established. A sum paid either in kind or in money, where money existed, was placed upon the life of every free man according to his rank in the state, his birth or his office. A corresponding sum was settled for every wound 15 that could be inflicted upon his person, for nearly every injury that could be done to his civil rights, his honour or his domestic peace; and further fines were appointed according to the peculiar adventitious circumstances that might appear to aggravate or extenuate the offence. From the operation of this principle no one was exempt, and the king 20 as well as the peasant was protected by the wer-gyld payable to his kinsmen and his people. The difference of the wer-gyld is the principal distinction between different classes: it defined the value of each man's oath, his protection, the amount of his fines or exactions and it regulated the equivalent for his value. 25

IN the aforesaid battle a remarkable occurrence took place. A soldier named Imma was struck down and left for dead. He however revived and was departing from the battle field, when he 30 was discovered and carried a prisoner to one of king Aedilred's earls. He concealed that he was a soldier and pretended to be a rustic. At night the earl caused him to be bound but his bonds were always marvellously loosed, for he had a brother Tunna abbot of a monastery at Tunnacaestir, who thinking him dead had masses said for his soul 35 at the celebration of which his bonds were straightway loosed. The earl thought he had some charm and questioned him, whereupon he related that his brother by his masses procured his release. He also revealed his real condition, and the earl, who had promised not to kill him, sold him for a slave, but in that condition his bonds always fell off. At last he gave his oath to his master that he would pay his ransom or return, and so was allowed to go home. His relation of all 5 that had happened to him encouraged those who heard it in the use of masses. Some who had seen this very man Imma narrated the story to Beda.

- 20 IN the year 680 A D died Hild abbess of Strenaeshalch, at the age of sixty-six, the latter half of which she had spent in monastic life. She was a daughter of Hereric, nephew of king Eduin, and was baptised through the preaching of bishop Paulinus. She first retired to East Anglia, intending to go into the monastery of Cale
- 25 in Gaul, where her sister Heresuid was already living. Bishop Aidan recalled her to her own country and she for one year lived the monastic life on the north bank of the Wear. After this she was made abbess at Heruteu and no long time after took up her abode at the city of Calcaria where she brought the monastery into strict order
- 30 and great fame. After this she undertook to set in order a monastery at Strenaeshalch which work she accomplished. She was famed for prudence, so that kings and princes sought her counsel. She made those who were of her monastery spend much of their time in reading the holy scriptures, and from the training of that monastery came
- 35 forth five holy bishops, Bosa who was made bishop of York, Aetla who was ordained to the bishopric of Dorchester, Osfor, John and Wilfrid. Of the last two John was made bishop of Hagustald (Hexham)

and Wilfrid of the church of York, Oftfor went into Kent to archbishop Theodore, and afterwards to Rome. On his return to Britain he was elected bishop of the Huiccii and ordained by bishop Wilfrid. For Bosel the prelate of the Huiccii was too infirm to discharge his episcopal duties. Tatfrid, also from Hild's monastery, had been elected 5 bishop in that province before Bosel, but died before consecration.

The fame of Hild's piety extended to a distance, for her mother Bregusuid had dreamed while Hild was young and her husband Hereric in exile that he was suddenly taken from her and while seeking for him she discovered under her robe a most precious neck- 10 lace which appeared to shine with a light that filled all the limits of Britain. This dream was fulfilled in her daughter. This abess Hild was sick with violent fever for six years, yet she never omitted her thanks to her Maker or the public and private teaching of her flock. In the seventh year of her sickness she came to her end, and 15 before her death exhorted the handmaids of Christ to keep peace with one another. On the night of her death God sent a vision indicative thereof to a holy woman named Begu, who lived in another monastery at Hacanos (Hackness), for Begu when resting in the dormitory heard suddenly the sound of the bell which was wont to be 20 rung when one of them died. The roof of the house appeared also to be uncovered and a great light to shine from above. She saw also the soul of Hild borne to heaven by angels. She told her vision at once and said that Hild the mother of them all had just departed from the world. The deputy-abbess who heard this roused all the 25 sisters to prayer and at dawn there came messengers announcing Hild's death. To them they related the account of this vision. Hacanos is thirteen miles distant from Strenaeshalch. It is also said that Hild appeared in a vision on the same night to one of the women of her own monastery, who, judging that the abbess was dead, called on 30 those who were with her to pray for her soul. A monk shortly after death appears to a brother monk and complains of his sufferings in purgatory. When new shoes were given out, instead of 20 returning the old ones to the vestry, he hid them under his bed, intending to give them to his father. The shoes are found and deposited in the vestry. After a few days the spirit again appears and thanks his friend for releasing him from pain. Odo Cluniac (Eudes of Cluni) collat III c 21 (cited by Hauréau 254) the devil appears by the deathbed 25 of a nun. She remembers that she has, without permission, a needle, which she gives up. Still the enemy does not budge. She ransacks her memory and cries: 'Yes, and I have a thread of silk.' It is found and restitution made; the nun dies with a smile.

20 I N the monastery over which abess Hild presided was a brother specially marked out by divine grace, and gifted with heavenly powers of song. None ever could equal him afterwards in composing religious poems. He was divinely instructed. For till an advanced age he knew nothing of singing, and often retired from entertainments as he saw the harp approaching him. He had done so on one occasion 25 and had retired to the stables. There he lay down to sleep, and in a dream one appeared to him, calling and saying, 'Caedmon, sing me something.' He pleaded his inability but was still bidden to make the attempt and to sing the beginning of things created. He immediately began, and Beda records a translation of the commencement of his 30 poem. When he had risen from sleep he retained a recollection of what he had sung, and added thereto. When he told about the gift which he had received he was brought to the abess, and in the presence of many learned men related his dream and repeated his song. He was afterwards able to turn into most sweet song whatever was 35 interpreted to him, and so he sang of the creation, the return from Egypt, Christ's life, the coming of the Holy Ghost, and the teaching of the apostles. He took monastic vows and became subject to regular discipline. When the time of his death drew near, he was ill fourteen days and was removed into a cottage where those who seemed likely to die were wont to be placed. After midnight he asked for the eucharist, and enquiring if all there were at peace with him, he received the heavenly viaticum, and asking how near it was to the time of lauds said, It is well, and reclining slept a little time and thus died. The tongue which had composed so many holy words of praise uttered its last words in praise. He seems from his action to have been forewarned of his departure from the world.

This goes a little beyond the Latin text of Beda and seems to have 15 formed part of some poem in his day known as Caedmon's first song, but it differs greatly from the introduction of Caedmon's Genesis which has come down to us, though it is like it in subject. In his note to the Saxon version Smith gives a copy of the above lines from Bp Mocre's
MS with some various readings of interest, the needful word weorc 20 being there given, though not in Alfred's text as edited by Smith.
Caedmon died about 680 A.D. For this version and a glossary of the

[XXV]

AT this time the monastery called Coludi Urbs was consumed by fire for the wickedness of those who dwelt in it. These like the Ninevites had been previously warned. For Adamnan, a Scottish monk of 5 great strictness of life, foretold the coming fire. This man in his youth had committed some great wickedness. He went to a priest and confessed, and by the direction of the confessor he was ordered to be instant in fasting and psalms and prayers. His great grief made him anxious to submit to more penance and he proposed to his confessor to 10 spend the whole night in prayer, standing, or to pass the whole week in abstinence. The priest imposed a somewhat lighter penance and departing to Ireland there died. Adamnan continued regularly the penance which had been imposed, so that he took food only on the fifth day of the week and on the Lord's day. When he had diligently pur-15 sued this course of life for a long time, he went for some distance from the monastery, accompanied by one of the brethren. As they were returning, Adamnan foretold to his companion that the whole building would soon be reduced to ashes. For, said he, I lately saw while occu-20 pied in my vigils a vision of one who told me that I did well, but that none of the other members of the monastery were occupied with care for their souls. The cells, said he, are made into places for revelling and drinking and other allurements, and the nuns whenever they have leisure spend their time in weaving fine garments for their adornment.
 Wherefore this place shall be burnt with raging flames. When asked 25 by the abess why he had so long kept silence, he said, I feared to speak lest you should be too much troubled, but the stroke shall not fall in your days. Some little reform followed the publication of this vision, but when the abess died they again returned to their old way of life. Therefore while they spake of peace, sudden destruction came 30 upon them. Beda relates this on the authority of Aedgils, a fellow presbyter, to admonish people how terrible the Lord is in his counsels concerning the sons of men.

I N 684 AD king Ecgfrid sent his general Berct with an army to 25 Heaven to avenge them, and it is believed that their prayer was answered. For king Ecgfrid in the next year, contrary to the advice of his friends, led an army into the province of the Picts, and when the enemy pretended to flee before him he was drawn into the mountainous defiles and there killed along with a large part of his army. In both 30 wars he had gone against the counsel of his friends, first attacking the inoffensive and then marching to his own destruction. The kingdom of the Angles now began to decline. The Picts recovered their land and the Scots their liberty. At this time Triumuini, that most reverend man of God, retired with his people from the monastery of Aebber-

35 curnig which was in the region of the Angles and came to the monastery of Streanæshalch, and there with a few of his people lived many years, and dying, was buried in the church of St Peter. Over this monastery Aelfled then presided, to whom the arrival of the bishop was a great help. Egfrid was succeeded in his kingdom by Aldfrid, a man learned in the Scriptures. In 685 AD died Hlothari, king of the Cantuarii. He had been wounded in battle, fighting against the South Saxons. The kingdom underwent many vicissitudes under kings of 5 doubtful title until the accession of Victred the lawful king.

I N the year in which king Egfrid died Cudberct was ordained bishop of Lindisfarne. For several years he had lived a monastic life in the little island of Farne. This man from his earliest youth had a desire for the religious life and first entered the monastery of Mailros, over which 10 a priest of great virtue and prophetic powers named Boisil was then provost under abbat Eata. At Boisil's death Cudberct succeeded him as provost and laboured much to convert the common people from their evil works. For many of them led foolish lives and in a time of plague had recourse to idolatrous remedies as though they could obtain health
15 through incantations or spells. Cudberct laboured hard against this error and had great influence both through his skill in speaking and because of the grace of his countenance. He feared not to travel in the most inaccessible districts and frequently tarried away from the monastery two or three weeks, dwelling among the mountaineers and teaching them both 20 by word and work. After many years Cudberct was removed to Lindisfarne where from old times had resided a bishop with his clergy and an abbat with his monks. This institution had existed since the time of bishop Aidan who in the beginning thereof had followed the instructions received from pope Gregory by Augustine.

[XXVIII]

CUDBERT entered on the life of an anchorite. Beda does not dwell on this portion of the history, because he has written about it before. It was Cudbert's resolve to live in his retirement if he could support himself by his own labour. The place was without water, corn 20 or trees, and was the haunt of evil spirits. But by his prayers these spirits fled and the saint built himself a small dwelling, in which work the brethren helped him. A spring of water was found when they had dug into the hard and stony earth. At first he sowed some wheat but this did not grow; afterwards however some barley, though sown long 25 after the due time, produced a plentiful crop. He had a mound round his dwelling so high that he could only see heaven, and there he lived many years. When the synod of Aduifyrði was assembled, he was unanimously elected bishop of Lindisfarne, but declined to quit his 30 monastery. At last king Egfrid and bishop Trumuini and many other influential people went to the island and entreated him to undertake the office. When at last he consented, he was ordained at York in the presence of the king, seven bishops being gathered at the solemnity. At first it was proposed that he should be bishop of Hagustald, but in 35 deference to his wish bishop Eata went to Hagustald and Cudbert was made bishop of Lindisfarne. By precept and example he taught love to both God and man. He was remarkable for his frequent fastings and in the holy service often wept. After a two years' episcopate he was warned that his death was near, of which event he spake to many openly and to some in words rather obscure but which afterwards became intelligible.

THERE was a presbyter named Hereberct who was a friend of bishop Cudberct. This man led a solitary life on an island, in a lake from which the river Derwent flows. Hearing that Cudberct was come to the city of Lugubalia he came to meet him and in that visit Cudberct spake of his approaching death. Hereberct entreated the holy man to pray that they might pass away together, and after earnest prayer he was assured by Cudberct that his request would be granted, and so it came to pass. But Hereberct was first chastened by a long sickness, that through suffering here, he might be received into the same abode of bliss as the holy bishop. Cudberct died in the island of Farne but was carried to Lindisfarne and buried in the church. Wilfrid held that bishopric for one year till Eadberct was ordained as successor to Cudberct. This man was learned in the scriptures and most noteworthy for his many almsdeeds.

AFTER Cudberct's body had been buried eleven years it was taken up to be placed in a new coffin. Bishop Eadberct charged that 25 this should be done on the day of the anniversary of his burial. The body was found all entire, more like one asleep than one dead. The vestments too, in which the body was wrapt, were of wonderful freshness. News of this was brought to bishop Eadberct in a solitude to which he had retired for devotion. They brought him also some of 30 the vestments, which he kissed with affection, and commanded them to put new vestments on the body, saying that the place of Cudberct's burial would not be long empty. They did as he had bidden, and laid the new coffin on the pavement of the sanctuary. Soon after Eadberct fell sick, and when he died was laid in the grave of St Cudberct, and 35 over it was placed the new coffin of the saint. At that place many miracles were wrought.

25 IN the same monastery dwelt a brother named Badudegn, whose duty was to attend on the guests. One day as he returned from the sea where he had been washing the robes he kept in the guest-chamber, he was smitten down with paralysis and with difficulty reached home. When his disorder increased he went to the tomb of the most reverend father Cudberct, and there praying it seemed as 30 though he had fallen into a sleep, during which he felt a large broad hand touch his head and the parts of his body affected by disease.
When he awoke he rose up perfectly well and returned with great joy. The garments in which Cudberct's body had been wrapped either in life or death were not destitute of healing powers, as may 35 be learnt from the story of his life and virtues.

BEDA will not omit another miracle wrought by the relics of St Cudberct, for he learnt it from the very brother on whom it was wrought. When Suidberct was abbat of the monastery of Dacore, 25 a youth there had an unsightly tumour on one eyelid. Many remedies were tried, but to no purpose, until one of the presbyters named Thruired, who is now abbat of the monastery, gave to the young man a part of St Cudberct's hair that he might place it in the repository of relics, out of which it had been taken that a part might be sent elsewhere. By a 30 salutary impulse the youth applied the relic to his diseased eyelid before he restored it to its place. This was at the second hour of the day and at the approach of the sixth hour in accordance with his faith he found on touching his eye that the eyelid was as sound as though there had never been a tumour upon it. 35

Compare the last hours of Boisil (uita Cuthb 8): Cuthbert having 25 recovered from the plague, Boisil assured him that he would not again be struck by it: 'simulque moneo ut, quia me mors uicina praestolatur, discere a me aliquid quamdiu docere ualeam non omittas. non enim plus quam septem dies sunt, quibus mihi ad docendum sanitas corporis et linguae suppetat uirtus.' respondit Cud- 30 berctus nihil haesitans de ueritate dictorum illius: 'et quid, rogo, optimum mihi est legere, quod tamen una ualeam consummare septimana?' at ille 'Iohannem' inquit 'euangelistam. est autem mihi codex habens quaterniones septem, quas singulis diebus singulas possumus domino adiuuante legendo et quantum opus est inter nos conferendo percurrere.' 35 factum est ut dixerat. quam ideo lectionem tam citissime complere ualebant, quia solam in ea fidei quae per dilectionem operatur, non autem quaestionum profunda tractabant. So Charles the Great (Theganus uita Ludouici in Migne CVI 409<sup>o</sup> 410<sup>a</sup>) spent the last year of his life in prayer and almsgiving and in the correction of books, as the four 40 gospels by the Greek and Syriac. The day before his death he received the communion. At the last moment he made the sign of the cross on his forehead and breast and other parts of the body. nouissime autem colligens pedes suos, extendens brachia et manus super corpus, clausit

- 15 ,, 15 AD DIEM ASCENSIONIS DOMINICAE, ID EST VII ID MAI cf p 185 l 7. the 9th of May was Ascension day in 720 and again in 799, but in no intermediate year. In 735, the traditional year of Beda's death, Ascension day fell on the 26th of May, i e VII kal Iun (p 204 l 18). In the calendar Beda's day is 27 May, which was Ascension day in 751.
- 20 The date VII id mai is found in no MS but the St Gallen, and as the date of that is of the ninth century, it cannot be, as at first sight suggested itself, that the date of the death is confused with that of the translation. This latter is entered in the calendars (see Nicolas chron of history) under VI id maii. But this event was long after the date
- 25 when our MS was written, having occurred some time between 1021—1041 A D. The great difficulty of settling the question of the year of Beda's death lies (1) in the uncertainty whether in Cuthbert's letter the British or Roman Easter is to be the foundation of our calculations. Considering however Beda's own attachment to the orthodox time of
- 30 observing that feast, we need not perhaps hesitate to conclude that his friends would be of the same mind. But (2) we are told that he died "quarta feria" (p 178 l 17) i e on Wednesday, Ascension Eve "ad vesperum" (p 179 l 10). Now our Saxon ancestors seem to have reckoned festivals from the first vespers (see the authorities cited p 406 n 19).
- 35 If that be so, they would call the time of his death Ascension day, though we should call it Ascension-eve. Does then VII id mai or VII kal iunii (whichever date we take as the correct one) and which is called diem ascensionis dominicae refer to the true Ascension day or to the eve of Ascension day? There has been uncertainty as to the year of Beda's death from the earliest times. All copies of the Saxon chronicle agree on 734 A D which date is repeated by Matthew Paris (Rolls' series vol I p 335) and by Richard of Cirencester (vol I p 237). Roger of Hoveden (vol I p 5) gives the traditional date 735 A D, while the annals of Waverley (ann monast II 155) place Beda's death in 730 A D, and the annals of Worcester (ann monast IV 367) in 720 A D. Fordun (chron gent Scot lib iii c 46) marks the date according to the year of King Ethfyn, who began to reign, as Fordun states, in 730 A D. His words are: Eius anno secundo uel, ut uolunt quidam, anno quinto, Beda uenerabilis obiit. But in Mr Skene's notes to Fordun we find that the year of the commencement of Ethfyn's reign is uncertain, and it appears from Tighernac that Murdac the predecessor of Ethfyn did not begin to reign till 733 A D and reigned 3 years; thus Ethfyn would come to the throne in 736 or 737 and his second year would be 738 or 739 A D, while his fifth would be 741 or 742 A D. Baronius taking VII id mai for the correct reading places the death in 776 A D, though it is difficult to see why. There is therefore a great uncertainty in all our records concerning the year of Beda's death, and against this we have the testimony of a MS of the 9th century that the day of his death was 9th May, and that this day was Ascension eve. Nothing is more likely than that after the canonisation persons remembering the story that he died on Ascension day, which would be the form that tradition would assume, would seek for a date near the time when he must have died which would square with their tradition. But forgetful (or ignorant) of the fact that what was called Ascension day was really Ascension eve, they fixed on 735 A D, a year in which May 26th was Ascension day. So that we may lay that date (735 A D) aside altogether, because Ascension eve in that year was May 25th. Now Ascension eve between the years 730 and 800 was on May 26th only in 751, 762 and 773, all of them years too late in the century for us to assign the death of Beda to any of them. We may therefore give up VII kal iunii altogether. When we come to consider the other date, May 9th, we find that Ascension day fell on that day only in 720 and 799, both impossible dates, but Ascension eve was on May 9th in 731, 742, 750. The first year is too early, for Beda's history continues till that date, and the third too late for the year in which Beda died; we therefore are shut up to A D 742, and on the 9th of May in that year we conclude that Beda's death occurred.

30 P 177 5 this Saxon passage has many peculiarities, some of which may be due to dialect and others to the fault of the scribe. Of the latter kind is uiuwrthit in which the second letter is superfluous as may be observed in the last word of the passage which is a part of the same verb. The resolution of vowels will be seen, on a comparison with the 35 other two copies given above, in the collation, to be very frequent especially in the case of final e, which in the text is nearly always resolved into ae. Then in line 10 the g of gongae has been softened into i, exactly as is done in go modified into yonder, and the prefix ge in words like geclept made into y-clept and i-clept. Were it not from the other evidence as to the date of the MS, this last mentioned change and the constant occurrence of th instead of þ or ð would lead to the supposition that the date of the 9th century assigned to it is too early. As it is there is not known so early a manuscript elsewhere in which these changes are so found. For an account of the particular words in the 5 passage see Saxon Glossary.

P 177 20 O REX GLORIAE the antiphon for the magnificat on the feast of the Ascension (breuiarium Rom in ascensione domini 'in 1<sup>r</sup> uesperis'); the only words omitted are sed mitte promissum patris in nos spiritum ueritatis. Beda has a homily (II 9 in Migne XCIV 174—181) 10 on the Ascension, which concludes thus: 'Behold in our Redeemer's ascension we have learnt to what end all our endeavours must be bent: behold, as the Mediator of God and men ascends into the heavens, we have learnt that the gate of the heavenly fatherland is thrown open to men. Let us therefore hasten with all zeal to the everlasting happiness of this 15 fatherland. In this, as in body we cannot yet dwell, let us ever dwell in desire and mind. According to the saying of the noble preacher, let us seek things above, where Christ is seated at God's right hand, let us mind the things above, not the things which are on earth. Let us seek Him and be established by the hope of finding: let us seek His face ever- 20 more, and when He who was meek in His ascent, shall be terrible in His return, may He find us ready to be introduced with Him to the festivals of the heavenly city.'

LITERATURE OF EARLY BRITISH AND IRISH CHURCH HISTORY

IT is still true, as in Warburton's time, that our only church historians are 'the jester Fuller and Collier the nonjuror.' The 'annals' of Alford, following the method of Baronius, are now of little intrinsic value; Ussher's antiquitates on the other hand may still be consulted with profit. Soames is a polemic, far less instructive than his Romish rivals: The history and antiquities of the Anglo-Saxon church by John Lingard, London 1858 2 vols; The church of our fathers, as seen in St Osmund's rite for the cathedral of Salisbury, with dissertations on the belief and ritual in England before and after the coming of the Normans; by Daniel Rock, London 1849—1853 3 vols in 5 parts. See now especially W Bright 'chapters of early English church history Oxford 1878.' A few pages in Kemble's Saxons in England contain the most trustworthy account extant; something too may be gleaned from Freeman's Norman conquest. Much valuable material still lurks in manuscript in the libraries of London, Rome, Oxford, Cambridge, Lambeth, York, Durham, and many others, public and private (some of which the 'historical mss commission' is for the first time bringing to light). A few important mss (including the collections of Wharton, Hutton, Kennett) and printed books are registered in the preface to 'registrum sacrum Anglicanum by W Stubbs, Oxford 1858.'

MONASTERIES Dugdale's monasticon and local supplements (as Dr Olliver's mon Exoniense).

EPISCOPAL REGISTERS the Durham register, edited in the Rolls' series, should be completed, and followed by all other early registers. 35 The surplus of confiscated church property might supply funds for printing all the registers and other documents of the Irish sees, while there yet remain scholars in the country.

WORKS OF BRITISH AND IRISH AUTHIORS Migne's patrologia includes nearly all that was accessible at the date of printing the several volumes. Jaffé edited the letters of Boniface, Lull and others ('monumenta Moguntina' vol III of his 'bibliotheca rerum Germanicarum'), and those of Alcuin (published after Jaffé's death by Wattenbach and Dümmler in 1873). J A Giles in his 'patres ecclesiae Anglicanae' edited (uncritically) not a few tracts for the first time. Many other documents are to be found in the publications of antiquarian societies etc, especially in the following: Aelfric, archaeologia (of the proceedings of the archaeological association and institute), Bannatyne, Camden, Caxton, chronicles and memorials (also some of the earlier record publications), English hist soc, E E T S, Irish archaeological, Maitland, Surtees. ## EXCURSUS II

ACCOUNT OF THE MSS USED FOR THIS VOLUME.

5 THE MS from which the text is printed is in the Cambridge university library (Kk 5 16). It is a large quarto MS on vellum, written in the 8th century. It is known as bishop Moore's MS, for that prelate (formerly bp of Ely) bequeathed it to the university. It was probably written during Beda's life. There are two hands to be traced in the MS, which is written very carefully. It appears to have been carried 10 into France soon after it was finished, and to have belonged to a monastery dedicated to St Julian. It was sold by auction in the reign of William III and passed into the hands of Dr Moore and so to its present guardians. See Hardy, Catalogue of MSS relating to the early history of Great Britain, vol I pt 1 pp 433—4. For a further notice of this MS and of another in the British Museum see Addit Notes p. 431*

15 C<sup>1</sup> is a small folio belonging to Trinity college, Cambridge (R 5 27), which was given to the college in 1661 by Henry Greswold, a former fellow. The first fifteen chapters of bk I of the eccl hist are wanting, and book V ends, without quite completing the catalogue of Beda's works, thus:

20 Martyrologium de natalitiis.

Explicit liber quintus historiae ecclesiasticae gentis Anglorum.

This is followed by the epistola de transitu (see p 176—9), but without the passage in Saxon, i. e. the passage beginning in quibus nos, and ending iudicanda fuerit. The last sentence of the letter as printed from 25 the St Gallen MS is also omitted. In bk IV chapters XIII XIV XV of the present text make one chapter, but XIX and XX (=XVII and XVIII of the oldest subdivision) are kept distinct.

The MS is carefully written in a 12th century hand with rubricated titles and initial letters.

30 C<sup>2</sup> is a small folio belonging to Trinity college (R 5 22) and contains beside Beda's eccl hist a Latin MS in two different hands of the lives of St Basil, St Euphrosyne, the passion of St Agnes, passion of St Vincentius, passion of St Thomas of Canterbury, passion of St Laurentius, the end of which is wanting. Then follows the Saxon version of Gregory's Pastoral ascribed to king Alfred. Of this the first folio 5 is missing.

In the ecclesiastical history, the prologue (there called prefatio) ends with mandare studuimus, the last sentence of the earliest form of the prologue, praeterea omnes.....inueniam, being placed at the end of the catalogue of the works of Beda which closes book v. The sentence preceding it ends, as does the oldest form of book v, with semper ante faciem tuam. 10

In book IV chapters XIII XIV XV are thrown into one, XIX and XX are kept distinct. Chap 28 of the present text is made into two chapters by a division after dei refectioem praebebat and the last clause duobus 15 autem annis is transferred to the following chapter.

After the eccl hist follows the letter of Cuthbert de transitu (here called de obitu). It includes the Saxon passage, but does not give the Latin version thereof: quod ita latine sonat...iudicanda fuerit.

With verbal variations the letter continues down to ineruditio linguae facit, omitting the last sentence of the earlier form. This MS is of the XIVth century. 20

C<sup>3</sup> is a quarto belonging to Trinity college (R 7 5) of the late eleventh or early twelfth century. The hand is very similar to the specimens no 60 and 62 of the Palæographical society's issues. On the first 25 folio is the name Matthæus Parker.

The prologue ends at mandare studuimus and at the close of book v after ante faciem tuam comes the sentence which in the earliest copies is in the prologue praeterea omnes.....intercessionis inueniam. Immediately follows a short account of the island of Lindisfarne, and then some 30 rude lines called prognostica concerning the archbishops and bishops of England, some of which seem to be anything but complimentary as that on

or on

Theodwald of Worcester:

In eadem domo manete edentes et bibentes.

Chap XIII of book IV does not commence in C<sup>3</sup> till Erat autem ille

monachus (p 116) and though there are large rubricated letters where chapters XIV and XV of the present text commence, yet there is no enumeration of these chapters and chapter XIV of C<sup>3</sup> begins Postquam ergo Ceatwalla.

5 Also at the commencement of XXVIII (XXVI of C<sup>3</sup>) the first sentence Exin...peruenit is placed at the end of the previous chapter.

C<sup>4</sup> is a small folio belonging to Sidney Sussex college (Δ 5 7). It has the prologue (prefatio) ending with mandare studuimus and the MS closes with the sentence praeterea omnes...inueniam, which in the earliest MS is the conclusion of the prologue.

Its enumeration of the chapters of bk IV differs from any of the other MSS.

Chap I is made up of chapp I and II of the present text.

Chap II begins Eo tempore provinciae.

15 Chap V begins In nomine domini (p 101).

Then a second Chap V is marked at Non multo post (p 104).

Chap VI = VII of present text, and so on till

— XIV = XVI.

20 — XVI begins In nomine Domini (p 123), then

— XVII = XVIII.

— XX = XXI and XXII and thus always two less till

— XXVII = XXIX begins at Duobus autem annis p 156 and the other divisions are at the same places as in the text.

25 This MS is in a hand of the XIVth century.

C<sup>5</sup> is a large folio also belonging to Sidney Sussex college (Δ 2 8), given to the college by the Rev Wm Pratt. Beside the eccl hist of Beda it contains the historia tripartita ascribed to Epiphanius. The eccl hist commences with the prefatio and has, like the earliest type, the sentence Praeterea omnes...inueniam at the close of the prefatio.

35 The last folios of bk V are gone, the last one which remains ending in the catalogue of the works of Beda at In cantica canticorum libros VII. Book IV appears to have been divided into chapters at some later period, of which there are made twenty-eight, but some numbers are omitted and some given twice over, and no comparison can be made of that division with the present text which would serve any purpose. The MS of Beda is in a cursive hand of the XVth century.

C<sup>6</sup> is a folio belonging to Emmanuel College (MS I I 3). It has elaborately ornamented margins at the commencement of each book, and is a beautiful specimen of the writing of the fifteenth century the time when it was produced. The date is given at the end of the ecclesiastical history MCCCCLXXXI. Beside Beda's history the volume contains in the same hand the historia Hiberniae of Giraldus Cambrensis.

The prologue to the eccl history ends with the words mandare 5 studuimus, and the v book with semper ante faciem tuam. In bk IV chapters XIII, XIV and XV as printed in the present volume are all combined into one, and chapter XIV of C<sup>6</sup> corresponds to ch XVI of the present text. Similarly chapters XIX and XX of the present edition make one chapter in C<sup>6</sup>. 10

Chap xxv (= Chap xxviii of present text) ends with commendabat, and the succeeding sentence is put at the beginning of the following chapter.

C<sup>7</sup> is a small folio belonging to St John's college Cambridge (1 13) and has been mainly used in this edition for the collation of Cuth- 15 bert's letter. It is written on parchment in a hand of the XIIIth century. The preface of Beda ends with mandare studuimus. The chapters of bk IV are divided as in C<sup>4</sup> and the eccl history closes as C<sup>4</sup> with the sentence practerea omnes...inueniam; after which is Cuthbert's letter. In the same volume and in the same hand is a Latin life of St Hylde- 20 gard.

RELICS

Those who have ever lived in the neighbourhood of Garswood can bear full witness to the numberless cures which the hand of F(ather) Arrowsmith, and the linen which touches it, work from year to year. DUBLIN REVIEW Oct 1877 p 528.

It must be remembered that the traditions of Beda's monastery (h a 4 cited above 341 37) regarded the relics of Wearmouth and Jarrow with 15 a veneration untroubled by doubt; the miracles also of Gregory I were commonly read in English churches (Ioannes Diacon uita Greg I 41 opp Greg IV 58<sup>c</sup>). Thus (Lingard II 93) "a taste for the marvellous was generated and traditions of long standing as well as stories of more recent date were often committed to writing as facts by men who, if 20 they had learned to doubt and examine, would have considered them as fictions or exaggerations. In this respect the caution of Beda is worthy of notice. He relates several wonderful events, but not one of them on his own knowledge. To some he gives full credit on the personal authority of men whose names he mentions, and of whose 25 veracity he can entertain no doubt; of the others he is careful to state that they come to him at third or fourth hand, or from the tradition of certain churches; and with this information he leaves them to the judgement of his readers*."

EXCURSUS IV

BISHOPRICS BRITISH AND SAXON BEFORE 640 A D

- 5 OF the episcopate in Britain before the arrival of St Augustine we have very little information. We know that British bishops were at the councils of Arles (315 A D) and of Ariminum (359 A D) but we have no name of either bishop or see till the time of Ninias who at the opening of the fifth century (401 A D) was bp of Casa Candida, i e Whitherne in Galloway (see p 222). But the British bishops, like the
- 10 British people, were pushed westward into Wales and Cornwall. In 664 A D British bishops joined with Vini the Saxon bishop of Wessex in consecrating Ceadda to York (Beda h e III 28). A full list of sees established in Wales is to be seen Haddan-Stubbs I 142 with a notice of the establishment in that principality of a diocesan episcopate, but
- 15 no such information is to be obtained concerning the British bishops who were in other parts of the country. British sees were however gradually occupied by the Saxons and in 871 A D we even find a Saxon bishop at St David's [archaeol Camb 3rd series x p 15 quoted in Haddan-Stubbs].
- 20 All therefore which it is possible to set forth with certainty is the condition of the Saxon episcopate from the arrival of Augustine down to 633 A D when the history of Beda bk III commences. Augustine was consecrated at Arles 597 A D and came over into Kent in the same year and held the archiepiscopal see till his death 604 A D.
- 25 During his life the monastery of St Peter and St Paul, afterwards called St Augustine's, was commenced but not completed, and in the year of his death he consecrated Mellitus and Iustus, who had been sent over to him from pope Gregory, the former to be bishop among the East Saxons with his seat at London, the latter to be bishop of Rochester. In the same year he consecrated Laurentius to be his own successor at Canterbury. The episcopate of Laurentius was terminated by his death in 619 A D. About two years before that date the district presided over by Mellitus relapsed into heathendom, as also did that to which Iustus had been appointed. William of Malmesbury only 5

says (de gest pontif II) a successoribus regulis deturbatus Mellitus Cantuariam venit. ibi magno curarum aestu quae sociorum pectora decoquebant exceptus, coniuncto sibi Iusto, secessit in Galliam. But there was no bishop appointed to take the place of Mellitus till A D 658 when Cedd was made bishop among the East Saxons, and Beda says (III 22) 10

On the death of Laurentius Mellitus was made archbishop and dying in 624 was succeeded by Iustus, at whose death in 627 Honorius came to the archiepiscopal dignity, and it is during his episcopate, 15 which continued till 653 A D, that the history contained in these two books commences.

To the bishopric of Rochester Iustus returned one year after his departure (h e II 6) and continued to preside over the see till his elevation to the archiepiscopate, when he consecrated Romanus to be his 20 successor. This prelate was drowned in the Italian sea [h e II 20] when going as a legate from England to pope Honorius 634 A D, and after him Paulinus at the request of archbishop Honorius took charge of the see of Rochester, which he held for ten years.

Paulinus had previously been a bishop in the province of North- 25 umbria, having converted king Edwin to Christianity 625 A D and having been consecrated bishop by archbishop Iustus [h e II 9], and he is accounted the first bishop of York. We also read of the extension of the missionary labours of Paulinus into Lindsey [h e II 16], but on the death of king Edwin 633 A D he was obliged to leave the northern 30 parts of the land and came along with Edwin's queen to Kent, when he was appointed, as has been said, to the bishopric of Rochester, and the northern provinces were next evangelised by the labours of Aidan who became the first bishop of Lindisfarne. No other bishop was appointed as successor of Paulinus at York till the consecration of Ceadda 35

But before 640 A D two missions had been planted in England by foreigners which may be looked upon as the commencement of two other sees. In 632 A D, or according to some calculations 636 A D, a Burgundian bishop named Felix came to Honorius the archbishop and was by him sent to preach among the East Angles, whose first bishop he was made and had his episcopal seat at Dunwich [h e II 15].

In like manner Birinus sent from Italy by pope Honorius, was made 5 a bishop among the West Saxons about 634 A D, and his seat was at Dorchester in Oxfordshire.

Thus, beside the archiepiscopal see, there had been founded though not in a very permanent manner two sees in the province of Northumbria, and four in the southern and eastern parts of the kingdom 10 before 640 A D.

EASTER

THE proper time for the observance of Easter has been a source of much controversy in the Christian church. The first discord arose because two uses had come to be observed probably because the converts were of two different classes. Some of the earliest Christians were Jews, while others were Gentiles. The former would probably, as we know from Scripture that St Paul actually did, observe Jewish feasts at the Jewish times. To such converts the passover-night would still be observed at the usual date, though connected now in their minds with the death of Jesus. To the Gentile converts who knew nothing of the Paschal feast the fact that Jesus rose on the first day of the week fixed the Sunday as the proper day on which the festival of the resurrection should be observed, while by the Jewish converts the day of the week was disregarded. The Jewish Christians influenced the Asiatic church, and by them the calculation of Easter was made after the Jewish rule for finding the paschal moon. The day which they observed was the 14th of the moon (Nisan) and in after times those who followed this rule obtained the name Quartadecimans. The western church kept Easter always on the first day of the week, nearest to the same 14th day of the moon, only taking care that the day should not precede the vernal equinox. For an account of the controversies which agitated the whole of Christendom on this subject, first in the time of St Polycarp about 160 AD, then at Laodicea about fifteen years later, and then between Victor and Polycrates 190 AD, the reader is referred to the article Easter in DCA.

At the council of Nicæa the western use received the sanction of the assembled fathers, and thus the party who still adhered to the Jewish mode of reckoning the time of the Easter festival came to be regarded as heretics.

But the Easter question of which so much is said in Beda's history was not a dispute between Eastern and Western churches, but between 5 two branches of the Western church which had been in earlier times at one. In the letter of the emperor Constantine sent forth to the churches after the council of Nicæa it is stated (Socr h e 19), that in Britain there was the same unanimity of sentiment at that time concerning the observance of Easter which prevailed in the rest of the Western church.
10 But the history of Beda shews that there had arisen before his day a serious diversity between the British use and that of the church of Rome, and we are told by him of an occasion on which king Oswy who followed the British calculation was keeping his Easter and had concluded the Lenten fast, while his queen who had been trained in the 15 Roman use was still fasting and keeping Palm Sunday. This difference is of quite another character from that which disturbed the harmony of the Eastern and Western churches, and as Beda observes (h e III 4) had arisen because Britain lay too far away to be made aware of the synodic decrees issued from time to time by the Roman church for the 20 proper fixing of Easter. Both the British and Romish Christians kept the festival on the first day of the week. At the time of the Nicene council the festival was calculated according to the 84 years cycle, called after Sulpicius Severus but in use a long time before his date, and this made Easter-day to be the Sunday which fell next after the equinox be-
25 tween the 14th and 20th days of the moon inclusive. To this cycle the British church still adhered (see p 275). But the cycle of 84 years had been supplanted at Rome first by the cycle of 532 years of Victor of Aquitaine and then by that of 19 years of Dionysius Exiguus. According to this latter method of reckoning, Easter day was to be the 30 Sunday next after the equinox between the 15th and 21st days of the moon. From this variation adopted in the mode of calculating Easter by the Roman church and from her by nearly all the West we can see at once how, if the 14th day of the moon fell on Sunday, that would be Easter day to Oswy and the Britons, while to those who followed the 35 Roman use the 21st day of the moon would be Easter day.

But we learn from this that the controversy of which Beda says so much was a very different matter from the Quartadeciman dispute between the Eastern and Western churches of old. The British church had never held the Eastern view, and our church was not Eastern, as has been said, but Western in her origin.

For much valuable information on both these Easter controversies the student may read with advantage the article in DCA already alluded to, and the appendix D pp 152 seqq vol 1 Haddan-Stubbs. Also 5 for authorities on each matter connected with the Easter controversy see the various notes on bk III 25.

ADDITIONAL NOTES.

P 95 2 OVINI. An interesting memorial of Ovini was discovered at the end of the last century in the village of Haddenham near Ely, and was by the advice of the late Canon Bentham removed to the Cathedral
5 at Ely, where it is now preserved. It is a stone which appears to have formed the base of a cross, and on one of its sides is the following inscription.

+ LVCEM . TVAM . OVINO
AMEN.

The letter € wherever it occurs is of the Old Saxon form, and gives evidence of the antiquity of the inscription. For a full account of the stone see Bentham's Hist and Antiq of the Convent Ch at Ely, p 51 (ed 1812). The Dean of Ely (Dr Merivale) suggests that the words 15 are meant for a pentameter line, the m in lucem being elided even before a consonant. I am also indebted to Dean Merivale for pointing out a similar instance of elision in a sepulchral inscription given in Platner's Beschreibung der Stadt Rom Band II p 88.

The facsimile page contains, as will be seen, the account of the miraculous gift of song bestowed on Caedmon, and as the scribe in this MS concluded his work with the original Anglo-Saxon of Caed-
